Democratic State and County Ticket. For Governor HON. ASA PACKER, OF CARBON COUNTY. For Judge of the Supreme Court : HON. CYRUS L PERSHING, OF CAMBRIA COUNTY.

Assembly: How. JOHN PORTER, Washington Twp. Register and Recorder: GEO. W. OATMAN, Ebensburg Borough. Treasurer: WILLIAM LINTON, Johnstown Borough. Commissioner: JAMES E. NEASON, Clearfied Township. Poor House Director: JOHN BLOCH, Johnstown Borough. ANTHONY ANNA, Chest Township.

MAKE READY.

Our young friend Geo. J. Akers, of Johnstown, has kindly consented to undertake a collecting and canvassing tour of the county on behalf of the Freeman, and as soon as we can find time to make cut the lists the work will commence-Johnstown to be the starting point. We received comparatively little money last week and very much less the present one, and as we have tried coaxing, threatening, and other means without success, we have concluded to see what virtue there is in presenting each man's bill to him personally. That failing, we shall do as other men do in such cases-collect by law where the parties are worth it. All bills for subscription will be made out to the close of the present volume, four months from now, and we sincerely hope that all persons indebted will pay promptly when called on by Mr. Akers. Moneys collected by him will be acknowledged through the paper or othcrwise, as desired. If we receive what is due us the Freeman will receive what is due ita new outfit at the close of the present volnme. Will our friends aid us in this way? and will they assist Mr. Akers in securing During the time that a certain railroad compamore subscribers for the Freeman ?

We also publish below a complete list of the registry officers for the different election districts in the county. Whether the Chairman of the Democratic County Committee has thus far made any effort towards securing a full and perfect registry of the democratic voters of our county we are unable to say. If he has done anything towards bringing about that result we have not yet heard of it, and as the duty should be attended to AT ONCE, we advise every democrat to heed the counsel of Mr. Hopkins and attend to this important duty without delay. Let every democrat see for himself that his name | from the men of the valley to save that veneris on the registry list of his election precinct. Don't wait on your neighbor or any one else, no matter whether you presume it to be his duty to see to the matter or not, but examine the lists in your respective districts, and if you find that you have not been registered delay not an hour until that all-important business has been attended to. The Fuss of Kalbfus.

A radical stump orator delivered a speech in the Court House, on last Monday night, to a very small but select audience of Republicans and Democrets. Mauch Chunk is his residence and Daniel Kallifus is his name, with the prefix of Honorable thereunto added. He seems to be a veritable political Daniel come to judgment. We did not hear the Honorable Daniel Kalbfus spread himself, but we learn from undoubted authority, that he was then and there responsible for the following singular statement: That once upon a time a citizen of Mauch Chunk, whose name Kalbfus did not state, loaned Asa Packer the sum of eleven thousand dollars-that Packer never repaid the money-that the man who loaned it to him was attucked in consequence of Packer's conduct, with the heart disease-that he lingered for a long time, and lingering, finally did die of a broken and crushed heart. This was the substance of the astounding revelation made by the Hon. Daniel Kalbfus at the aforesaid radical meeting. Now, as Asa Packer has been regarded as a wealthy man by the people of Manch Chunk for the last twenty five years, the question naturally suggests itself, why did not the executors or administrators of the man who loaned Asa Packer so snug a sum of money as eleven thousand dollars, and who died of a broken heart, bring a suit against him. obtain a judgment, and compel him to disgorge the amount. That could have very easily been done, and it is just what is uniformly done in all such cases. Whether Kalbfus (which, when translated into plain | self that your name is properly Registered.

English, weans Calf's foot-a very appropriate name for the aforesaid Mauch Chunk orator) is more of a knave than a fool, or whether he unites in bimself the shining qualities of both, we will not here discuss. And this is one of the mendacious slanders invented at this late day against the spotless character of Asa Packer for honesty and integrity. Let the immortal Kalhfus have an open field during the canvass. He will not seriously endanger the election of Judge Packer, but will materially aid in bringing about that certain result.

The whole story is a bald and unmitigated lie, and is eminenty worthy of the capacious brain of Daniel Kalbfus.

A Slander Refuted.

Although the fact has never been heretofore questioned that, in 1865, Asa Packer made a contribution of five hundred thousand dollars for the erection of Lehigh College, the radical papers, being unable to say anything against him, have resorted to the contemptible expedient of trying to rob him of

The Philadelphia Post, a leading radical sheet, published the following unfounded statement in reference to the matter, which drew from the Vice President of the Lehigh Valley Rail Road a reply which effectually exposes the injustice attempted to be done to the fair name and reputation of Judge Packer. We print the bane and the antidote together:

PACKER AND THE LEHIGH COLLEGE-WEO PAID THE $500,000? Among the praises sung of Mr. Packer is an alleged contribution or endowment of Lehigh College of $500,000, which was made a number of years ago. The Democratic press, generally, is content with quoting the Presbyterian Banner's endorsement of that 'liberal bequest," which, of course, speaks from appearances .-The truth is, there is a strong reason for believing that Mr. Packer NEVER CONTRIBUTED A SINGLE DOLLAR OUT OF HIS OWN POCKET for the endowment of that institution, the whole proceeding having been one through which a railroad company's bonds were negotiated in Europe by what might be called a sharp speculation. We give outlines of the proceeding, as whispered by the knowing ones, and those who know Mr. Packer and his speculations well, say that it is precisely in character with him ny, in which Mr. Packer was and is still inter ested, was in that position when a few millions would either make or break it, and when it could not command a loan in this country, except at a ruinous sacrifice, the brilliant idea occurred to some one that by mixing up a little theology with its stock the thing could be efed to England as ambassador, carrying with him letters and papers holding him up as the der the control of that Church.

The loan effected, Mr. Packer returned, and now comes the best part of this magnificent idea, namely : whether Mr. Packer, who had princely endowment to a college, or the railroad company, which had derived the benefit of this ruse, should pay the half million? Our eyesignt, through a small hole in the wall, shows us that the railroad paid it. Let the Presbyterian Bauner examine into this matter, not among those immediately interested in upholding Mr. Packer, and we strongly suspect that it will stumble over some facts in this "benificent" transaction which will show where the truth lies

What gives this inner view of the case a when Dr. Cattell, the energetic President of Lafavette College at Easton, sought assistance able institution from ruin, he appealed to Asa Packer, but got from him no assistance. He next applied to Mr. Ario Pardee, of Hazelton, whose generosity immediately responded by a handsome endowment.

JUDGE PACKER AND THE LEHIGH ROAD. To the Editor of the Post .- Sir : In your paper of the 3d instant there is an item headed Packer and the Lehigh College. Who paid the $500,060?"-in which it is intimated that paid by a railroad company, and not by Judge Packer individually. Although not particulary mentioned, the reference is plainly to the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, and I think more than two thousand residing in this city and immediate vicinity, to state that the company has never DIRECTLY OF INDIRECTLY contributed one dollar towards the Lehigh University, nor has Judge Packer or any one else ever negotiated a loan in Europe on our account .-His visit there was, as far as we know, entirely one of pleasure and relaxation from business.

CHARLES HART-HORNE, Vice-President Lehigh Valley Railway. Philadelphia, September 6, 1869.

THE AVENDALE HORBOR .- Although the destruction of human life in the terrible mine disaster at Avondale, in Luzerne county, was not as great as at first apprehended, yet the calamity was the most heart-rending and appalling that has ever occurred in this country. One hundred and eight men and boys were suffecated to death over two hundred feet below the surface of the earth. The particulars are heart-rending in the extreme. A fire broke out in the mines early on Monday morning of last week, and beneath the fire were the miners, who had no other chance for escape but through the opening from which the flames were escaping, and they remained in the recess of the hours after the fire broke out, when they were discovered dead and piled one upon another. Extraordinary endeavors were made to extinguish the flames by those around the opening of the mine, and after the ocratic nomination-Chas. R. Buckalew, of fire was put out, the passage had to be clear-Columbia county, and Thomas Chalfant, of ed of the rubbish which had fallen in, and even then it was some time before a descent could be made on account of the fire-damp. The bodies of the men were taken out and decently interred. A man named Steele, one of the victims, was descending the shaft with a quantity of hay, and the presumption is that the hay caught from his miner's lamp and set fire to the coal breaker.
