

A MOVING SERMON.

We have the subjoined discourse, delivered by a Southern divine, who had removed to a new field of labor. To his new flock, on the first day of his ministrations, he gave some reminiscences of his former charge, as follows:

"My beloved brethren, before I take my text I must tell you about my parting with my old congregation. On the morning of the last Sabbath I went into the meeting-house to preach my farewell discourse. Just in front of me sat the old fathers and mothers in Israel; the tears coursed down their furrowed cheeks; their tottering forms and quivering lips breathed out a sad fare ye well Brother Watkins—ah! Behind them sat the middle aged men and matrons; health and vigor beamed from every countenance; and as they looked up I could see in their dreamy eyes—fare ye well, Brother Watkins—ah! Behind them sat the boys and girls that I had baptized and gathered into the Sabbath school. Many times had they been rude and boisterous, but now their merry laugh was hushed, and in silence I could hear—fare ye well, Brother Watkins—ah! Around, on the back seats, and in the aisles, stood and sat the colored brethren, with their black faces and honest hearts, and as I looked upon them I could see—fare ye well, Brother Watkins—ah! When I had finished my discourse and shaken hands with the brethering—ah! I passed out to take a last look at the old church—ah! The broken steps, the flapping blinds, and moss covered roof, suggested only—fare ye well, Brother Watkins—ah! I mounted my old gray mare, with my earthly possessions in my saddle bags, and as I passed down the street the servant-girls stood in the doors, and with their brooms waved me a fare ye well, Brother Watkins—ah! As I passed out of the village the low wind blew softly through the waving branches of the trees, and moaned—fare ye well, Brother Watkins—ah! I came down to the creek, and as the old mare stopped to drink I could hear the water rippling over the pebbles—fare ye well, Brother Watkins—ah! And even the little fishes, as their bright fins glistened in the sunlight, I thought, gattered around to say, as best they could—fare ye well, Brother Watkins—ah! I was slowly passing up the hill, meditating upon the sad vicissitudes and mutations of life, when suddenly out bounded a big dog from a fence corner, with a blood howl, and I came to the ground with my saddle-bags by my side. As I lay in the dust of the road my old gray mare ran up the hill, and as she turned the top she waved her tail back at me, seemingly to say—FARE YE WELL, BROTHER WATKINS—ah! I tell you, my brethering, it is affecting times to part with a congregation you have been with for thirty years—ah!"

The Democratic Rooster.

The Cincinnati Enquirer gives the following account of the "cock that crowed in the morn'g," but which lately has wakened the Democracy all forlorn:

The rooster was not known in the days of Jefferson or Jackson. It was not until so late a period as 1840, the year of the "log cabin," "hard cider," and "coonskin" campaign, which resulted in the election of General Harrison, that he made his appearance. Indiana then had her State elections in August. The editor of our respected Democratic contemporary, the Indianapolis Sentinel, John W. Chapman. In those days, of course, there were no telegraphs, and few rail-roads, in the West. Locomotion was slow, and it required days, and even weeks, to get any returns from the back countries. It so happened that in some particular county in Indiana, whose name we do not recollect, the Democrats made a gain over previous elections. An enthusiastic Democrat wrote to a friend in Indianapolis the news, and not knowing Mr. Chapman, the editor of the Sentinel, personally, requested his friend to communicate the facts to Chapman, adding these significant words, "Tell Chapman to crow." He little thought, by that expression in a private letter, he was furnishing a powerful party with an emblem which will last perhaps for centuries. The writer of the famous letter is now, doubtless, in his grave, and poor Chapman has long been dead. But, catching the inspiration of his second-hand correspondent, Chapman did "crow" in the Sentinel, and as the business of "crowing" is usually done by chattering, he brought out one of those fine large birds at the head of his columns. That was the first rooster ever placed in a Democratic paper to rejoice over a Democratic victory. As the general results of that election were against us, it was a matter of derision for the Whig papers, when any Whig victory was obtained, to add these words, "Tell Chapman to crow." This assisted to fix the matter in the popular mind, and nationalize the emblem. No better one could have been adopted. The rooster is probably the most gallant and bravest of birds. He is never conquered as long as he has life. Beaten to-day, he is ever ready to renew the fight with his conqueror to-morrow. He is also a fine and handsome specimen of the feathered tribe, and no one more keenly enjoys a victory or loudly proclaims it. Chapman little thought that by introducing that rooster into his columns, he was giving his name a celebrity which would never have been attained, even by his sharp and forcible editorials.

DENTISTRY?

DR. JOHN FRY,

Having permanently located in Johnstown, is prepared to answer all professional calls, and insert ARTIFICIAL TEETH on genuine Rubber (Vulcanic) Base, or, if preferred, he will insert them on Gold (20 carats fine), or Silver (chemically pure)—both of the own making on Plate, Aluminum, Palladium, Coraline and Adamantine. Also, the Porcelain teeth. Extracting, Filling and Cleaning of Teeth carefully performed, avoiding all unnecessary pain. He would also call attention to his new mode of filling teeth with CRYSTAL GOLD, which is the best preparation ever introduced for filling teeth. He can restore a tooth to its natural shape with this gold, and make the filling as solid as a piece of gold coin. Go and have your teeth examined every six months at least, and if there is any decay about them have them filled with Crystal Gold and you will never need artificial teeth. Artificial teeth are good substitutes, but they do not compare with the natural teeth when in a healthy state. All work done in such manner as not to be excelled in Style, Beauty, Comfort, Lightness, Durability, and warranted to give satisfaction and be harmless to the mouth. Samples of his work may be examined by who desire to see them: The following speaks for itself:

L. L. LANGSTROTH'S PATENT MOVABLE COMB HIVE! PRONOUNCED THE BEST EVER YET Introduced in this County or State. Any person having a family right can have their bees transferred from an old hive to a new one. In any instance in which this has been done the result has been entirely satisfactory, and the first take of honey has invariably paid all expenses, and frequently exceeded them. Proof of the superior merits of this invention will be found in the testimony of every man who has given it a trial, and among the number are the gentlemen named below, and their experience should induce every one interested in bees to BUY A FAMILY HIVE!

Henry C. Kirkpatrick, of Carroll township, took 100 pounds of surplus honey from two hives, which he sold at 35 cents per pound. Adam Deitrich, of Carroll township, took from two hives 100 pounds of surplus honey. James Kirkpatrick, of Ober township, took 60 pounds of surplus honey from one hive. Jacob Kirkpatrick, of Chest township, obtained 72 pounds of surplus honey from one hive, worth not less than $21, and the right cost him only $5.

Peter Campbell from one hive obtained 36 pounds of surplus honey at one time. Quite a number of similar statements, authenticated by some of the best citizens of Cambria county, could be obtained in proof of the superior merits of Langstroth's Patent Movable Comb Bee Hive.

Persons wishing to purchase family hives should call on or address PETER CAMPBELL, Carrolltown, Pa. Nov. 5, 1866.-tf.
