SCHOOLS AND SCHOLARS. Johnstown has a regiment and Millville half a regiment of pupils attending school. A good place for obstreperous youth.

We have been informed that the Leg isla ture contemplates making an entire new school law. We are opposed to this. The present law is deficient in many things, but the present Legislature is not the body to make any salutary improvements. The di- people. rectors are now acquainted with the present formulas and the manner of transacting business, and if a new system be inaugurated of the new regulations.

IMPROVEMENTS. We would, however, suggest the following amendments: Abolish all offices that takes the money from the district and do away of useless blanks and senseless county superintendent's reports. The Logislature has egan and Daniel J. Little. stopped the printing of the "Legislative Record." Let them extend the reform. The 1869, 433 acres and 153 perches in Clearfield law never contemplated the printing of the reports of county superintendents.

GOING TO LEAVE. - We are sorry to learn that L. Cohen & Brother intend leaving Johnstown on the lat of April. They have about $15,000 worth of made up clothing which they will sell below cost. We (Rob Roy) got a suit of clothing there the other day for $15 that we consider well worth $25. They are both clever young men, and we can assure our readers that No. 214, Opera House, Main street, Johnstown, is the place just now to get good bargains-nay, extraordinary good bargains-in clothing and furnishing goods.

M'CONAUGHY'S HEAD. - If any man wants to see the head of this notorious murderer, let him call at Jas. J. Murphy's Clothing Store in Johnstown and he-won't see it : but he will see a different head-s head full of moral and intellectual bumps, and a heart full of bezevolent feeling and a desire to sell the best kind of made-up clothing at the cheapest kind of prices. Jas J. Murphy owns such a head and heart, and also owns Star Clothing Hall, No. 109 Clinton street, Johnstown.

LEOPOLD & BRO., Clothiers, 241 Main street, Johnstown, say that their immense assortment must be closed out, and that they will of the latest styles and best material, but it is chiefly winter clothing, and they want to sell everything in order to m.ke room for their spring stock. Give them a call!

MURPHIEST. -Of all the Murphys John J. Murphy is the Murphiest Murphy. He could sell goods in the centre of the great Arabian desert. He keeps at the Mansion House corner, formerly D. Dibert's, Johnstown. He sells so fast that he never has any old stock ; so nobody need ask him for old goods. Mr Murphy is as brisk as a bee, as lively as a cricket, as sharp as a steel trap and as sure as shooting at giving a bargain. Call !
