TOUCHING INCIDENT OF THE BATTLE-FIELD. - Among the relics of the dreadful fight at Gettysburg, there was picked up by a soldier and presented to a lady, a small paper, which contained two separate locks of hair attached thereto, directed to Mr. Wellerford, from Louisiana, by his wife, in a beautiful handwriting. Below one lock was Fanny Wellerford, and below both was "Our Darlings !" These tender mementoes of his wife and children had been sent on to him by his attached wife, to cheer his heart in the far distant land to which the fortunes of war had brought him; and probably he wore the tender testimonials near his heart when the fatal missile separated bim from those he loved in his far off Southern home. Strangers now possess the tender relic, and he rests beneath the clods of a Northern valley, his grave probably unmarked and undistinguished from hundreds around him, who met their death on the bloody field of Gettysburg; and his wife and children look in vain for the return of the loved husband and father.

A REMARKABLE INCIDENT -A few evenings since, as a freight train, behind time, was passing Oak Hill Station, in Scarborough, at a speed of thirty miles an hour, it struck against a horse attached to a sled which was crossing the track at the time without a driver. The sled was smashed into kindling wood, and it was supposed that the horse was instantly killed, but the train sped on for some distance, when the engineer looking out, saw the horse staring at him from the cowto say, "What is all this fuss about ?" The train was promptly stopped, and, it was found that the horse had been picked op by the cow-catcher and deposited on the platform in front of the engine, where, too much stunned or frightened to move, be laid until lifted off, and was found to be comparitively uninjured. He was led back to his astonished owner, who stook gazing at the wreck of his bob-sled and
