grain of corn, stalk of catbage, an apple tree, etc. In this way the market may be supplied. We live in a fast age. The population now will increase at least one million a year, and this will of itself keep up market prices. We have not heard who will take the census here, but when they are taken the aggregate population of the United States will reach forty millions ; and, in one decade more, fifty millions. Where will all the produce come from to feed them ? The soil must be cultivated or prices will increase in a geometrical ratio.

It is supposed that as soon as Congress gets through amending the constitution, it will commence on the moral law. "Thou e miles below Huntingdon Hoffman's shalt not steal !" must be expunged. "Thou alas sere discovered on Saturday and shalt not covet thy neighbor's house, or his wife, or his men servants, or his maid servant," should be changed to read, instead of servants, "fifteenth amendments." This would make the moral law concide with the constitution. Traveling on Sunday is a necessity now-a-days. Moses didn't know anything about railroads. He was even ignorant of the Surg canal route, though he crossed it several times. Mr. Covode thinks the commandments might be fixed up a little to suit Congressmen. Let this law be amended before the next election ! Brigham Young won't object !! Nor the Utah delegate !!!

ROB ROY. CARROLLTOWN, April 25, 1870.

Dear Freeman-The mantle of the late 'Buz Fuz" not having fallen, apparently, on any of your Carrolltown friends, I have preuntil you can secure a better substitute than I may prove to be.

On Wednesday evening last one of those little episodes which tend to develope the better feelings of our nature and to make us reflect that we possess the virtues of love and charity, if we would not smother them 'mid the grosser passions of our nature, occurred here-and I must notice it. Mr. Julius Stich, a well known citizen of our place, left here on Monday for Pittsburgh, for the purpose of meeting his aged father, who had just arrived in this country from Germany. Many long years had elapsed since the eyes of the father or son had rested on each other's faces. Julius, who was a boy when he left the fatherland, had grown to be a large, hearty man, and had become he is in the sale of articles comprising his present stock. He is now and will hereafter sell only for cash, and hence his prices will be cheaper than the cheapest.

> RIGHT .- Heretofore, in all criminal cases which were settled by the parties, the costs have been paid out of the county treasury. By this rule a great deal of money was annually spent. Hereafter, however, a new and proper rule will be applied, the last Legislatue having passed the following bill : SECTION 1. That the laws relating to the payment of costs in criminal cases shall not be so constructed as to compel the payment of costs by the county where the case has been settled or arranged by the parties, and > the parties to the case, the prosecutor and defendant, or defendants, shall be liable for the payment of the costs in all such cases.

HASTE sway, haste away, now is the time to either walk, run, jump, leap or climb into the store of Shoemaker & Co., where bargain seekers do constantly go, and where goods in profusion, cheapest and best, enough to supply our people and the rest of mankind have just been opened in richest array, and are now being almost given away to the hundreds of persons who flock in to see and wonder how such things can really be, but are forced to admit, as homeward they go, that such splendid goods they have ne'er bonght so low.

Something New .- George Huntley, the wide awake and energetic hardware man over the way, has just added a new feature to his business. In addition to the hundreds of other useful articles with which his establishment is filled to overflowing, he now offers for sale nearly everything requisite for carriage and buggy building-such as hubs, spokes, shafts, seat backs and carriage fixtures and adornments generally. Persons interested in such matters should call and see.

CALICO BALL .- The last Johnstown Tribune devotes nearly a column to the calico ball recently held in that place. It seems to have been a gay affair, and as our young folks may desire to get up one of the same kind, we suggest that the necessary calico. of all styles, can now be bought cheaper at V. S. Barker's cash store than such goods have been sold at for a number of years .--But now is the time to buy everything very low from Vallie.

HAVE COME AND ARE GOING .- Mr. Fry does not seem to be the only person who was looking out for his splendid spring sumed to attempt to feebly supply the want stock, as he had scarcely time to open and shelve his goods when customers in profusion rushed in on him and carried away nearly half his stock. Mr. Fry keeps such a beau-tiful assortment and sells so cheap that none could resist the temptation of pitching in.

LIGHT .- "Get all the light you can, and then vote as your conscience tells you is right." Get all the money you can honestly and go to Davis' cheap store in the East Ward and buy all the goods that your wants or wishes may suggest or your pile of "spondulics" is large enough to purchase. These are both light and agreeable employments, especially the latter.
