UNCLE JOHN'S BEAR STORY -- A JOWish missionary was once making inquiries in Russia about the method of catching bears in that country. His information told him that to entrap these formidable and ravenous creatures a pit was dug several feet deep, and after covering it with turf, leaves, etc., some food was placed on the top. The bears, if tempted by the balt, easily fall into the snare; "but," he added, "if four or five they happen to get out again."

"How is that !" asked the missionary. "They form a sort of ladder by stepping on each other's shoulders and thus make their escape."

"But how does the bottom one get out ?" asked the missionary.

"Ah, these bears, though not possessing a mind and soul such as God has endowed us with, yet can feel gratitude, and they won't forget the one who has been the chief means of procuring their liberty. Scampering off they fetch a branch of a tree, which they let down to their brother, enabling him to speedily join them in the freedom in which they rejoice."

Sensible bears, we should say are a great deal better than some men we hear about who never help anybody but themselves.

THE SISTER .- No household is complete without a sister. She gives the finish to the family. A sister's love, a sister's influence! what can be more hallowed? A sister's watchful care! can anything be more tende: ? A sister's kindness! does the world show us anything more pure? Who would live without a sister? A sister in fidelity. in purity, in love, is a sort of guardian angel in a home circle. Her presence condemns vice. She is the quickener of good resolutions, the sunshine in the pathway of home. To every brother she is a light and life. Her heart is his treasure house of confidence. In her he finds a fast friend, a charitable, forgiving, tender, though often severe frien.'. In her he finds a ready companion. Her sympathy is open as day and sweet as the fragrance of flowers. We pity the brother who has no sister, no sister's love. We feel sorry for the home which is not enlivened by a sister's presence. A sister's office is a trouage I have already received, and will noble and gentle one. It is hers to persuade endeavor to please all who may call, whethto virtue, to wisdom's ways; gentle to lend | er they buy or not. where duty calls; to guard the citadel of home with sleepless vigilance of virtue; to gather graces and strew flowers around the home altar. To be a sister is to hold a sweet place in the heart of home. It is to minister in a holy office. Let every sister meditate on what she is, and what she ought to be; on her office, her duty, her pleasure, her life. It is hers to be a model, and set an example of innocence, virtue, cheerfulness, patience, and forbearance, to be the smile and light of home and its circle of loved ones.

PAPER HANGINGS .- An exchange says : When an amateur attempts this kind of domestic decoration, it is desirable that he should attend to the following instructions ; otherwise the work, when finished, will be blemished and stained. First, pumice-stone the wall to remove all irregularities of surface; then wash over with size, about one pint of glue to a gallon of water, and when dry, the wall is ready to receive the paper. The paste should be well boiled and then passed through a hair sieve to extract the lumps, a fruitful source of stains. If the walls are inclined to show dampness add a little corrosive sublimate to the paste to prevent mildew forming on the surface of the paper. The most important matter is to allow the paper to remain pasted for about ten minutes before hanging, in order that it may be well stretched before being placed on the wall. Stout paper hangings, such as the "flocks," etc., requir e a longer time. If these directions are attended to, the thinnest papers will hang without a crease, or the objectionable water stains which characterize bad workmanship.

MARRIED MEN .- There is an expression in the face of a good man who has a good wife, that a bachelor's cannot have. It is indescribable. He is a little nearer the angels than the prettiest young fellow living. You can see that his broad breast is a pillow for somebody's head, and that little fingers pull his whiskers. No one mistakes the good married man It is the erratic one, who leaves you in doubt. The good one can protect all the unprotected females, and make himself generally agreeable to the ladies, and yet never leave a doubt on any mind that there is a precious little woman at home worth all the world to him.

TO KEEP TIRES ON WHEELS .- Hear a practical man on this subject : "I ironed a wagon some years ago for my own use; before putting on the tires I filled the felloes with linseed oil; and the tires have worn out, and were never loose. My method is as follows: I use a long cast iron heater, made for the purpose; the oil is brought to a boiling heat, the wheel is placed on a stick so as to hang in the oil, each felloe an houre. The timber should be dry, as green timber will not take the oil. Care should be taken that the oil is not hotter than a boiling heat. or the timber will be burned. Timber filled with oil is not susceptible to injury by water, and is rendered much more durable by this

"SAY, Mr. Julius, is der any place in the Bible whar a culled pusson is mentioned?" said old Cæsar to his friend. "Well, dere is, an' if you'd been to mee'n Sunday you'd heard the preacher read how Nigger Demus wanted to be born again." "Wh'-wh'-what he want, to be born again for ?" "I dunno; I spec he thought he might be born a white man next time, an' da's a good many niggers alive now jest like old Demus, but dey'll allers be niggers, anyhow."-Pittsburg Gazette.

FOR WOUNDS UPON A HORSE. - A gentleman in this city who is said to "know more about a horse than any other man," informs the Maine Farmer, that for a cut in the hoof with the cork of a shoe, nothing is better alcohol and beef's gall, putting one gall into pose. Tincture of arnica, universally used weakening to the system (being very penetrating in its nature) and is wholly discarded.
