REMARKABLE MEMORIES .- Magliabecchi, founder of the great library at Florence, had so wonderful a memory, that Gibbon styled him "Memory personified." At one time of his life, Seneca could repeat two thousand words precisely as they had been pronounced. Gascendi had acquired, by heart, six thousand Latin verses, and in order to give his memory exercise, he was in the habit daily one week, during which time he of reciting six hundred verses from different | may be found at the Mountain House. languages. There was a French novelist, who, being a printer, composed a volume in type, and thus the book was printed without having been written. Bishop Wurburton had a predigious memory, which he taxed to an extraordinary degree. His "Divine Legation" would lead one to suppose that he had indefatigably collected and noted down the innumerable facts and quotations there introduced; but the fact is, that his only note book was an old almanac, in which he occasionally jotted down a thought. Scaliger obtained so perfect a knowledge of one Latin book, that he offered to repeat any passage with a dagger at his heart, to be used against him in case of a failure of memory.

He appears to have the conviction that he shall complete the period in spite of the Roman proverb that "no Pope shall see R. L. JOHNSTON, the years of St. Peter."

Pope Pius the Ninth was born on the 13th of May, in the year 1792. He has, consecquently, passed the seventy-eighth year of his age. He was elected and proclaimed Pope on the 16th of June, 1846, and crowned on the 21st day of the same month.

THE SECRET OF FINANCIAL PROSPERITY. -Ameng business men there is nothing that tends so much to the acquirement of wealth as the judicious use of printers' ink. Advertising is the life and soul of business. In a country like ours, with a people so wide awake and impetuous, it is doubtful whether inevitable failure would not attend any enterprise of magnitude that should be so short-sighted as to set out with, and persistently adopt, a determination not to advertise. Some of the greatest achievements of modern times are due to the magic influence of printers' ink.

To make advertising pay, it must be stuck to with all the pertinacity that is indispensable to success in the prosecution of every | Hotel. other art. There are some men in the country who spend-one hundred and fifty thougand dollars per annum for sovertising .-And every one of them is getting rich out of advertising.

OLD NEWSPAPERS .- Many people take newspapers, but few preserve them; the most interesting reading imaginable is a file of old newspapers. It brings up the very age with all its genious, and its spirit, more than the most labored description of the historian. Who can take a paper dated half a century ago, without the thought that almost every name ever printed is now | dence. cut upon a tombstone at the head of an epitaph? DETER CAMPBELL'S of the United States, dated December 14, 1869. for an improvement in the construction of Bee Hives, and claims for his invention advantages possessed by no other heretofore patented. The principal feature of this Rec Hive is the arrangement by means of which it is thoroughly ventilated, thus precluding the possibility of the bees smothering, the comb moulding or the honey souring. This desirable end is accomplished by a vertical perforated tube, running centrally through the hive and open at the top and bottom. All persons interested in apiculture will at once see the great advantages secured in this improvement. The ventilator is for the increase of bees.

The peculiar construction of the box, partic ularly in the arrangement of the inner compartments, whereby it can be cleaned at any time without disturbing the bees, is another valuable improvement which will be obvious to any person who examines this Hive. An examination of the workings of the bees or the condition of the interior can be made at any time, as the sides are cased with glass. Bees can be trasferred from a different hive to the improved one without any difficulty whatever. It would require too much space to enumerate here all the advantages claimed in this invention, but full information will be promptly furnished by applying in person or by letter to the patentee. I am now prepared to dispose of territory for the sale of the Improved Bee Hive in any portion of the United States. PETER CAMPBELL, Carrolltown, Cambria Co., Pa.

A QUESTION.

As Annie was carrying the baby one day, Tossing aloft the lump of inanity, Dear to its father and mother no doubt-

To the rest of the world a mere lump of humanity-Sam came along, and was thinking then, maybe, Full as much of sweet Annie as she of the baby.

"Just look at the baby," cried Ann, in a flutter, Giving its locks round her finger a twirl; 'If I was a man I know that I couldn't Be keeping my hands off a dear little girl." And Sam gave a wink, as if to say "Maybe, Of the girls I'd rather hug you than the baby.'

"Now, kiss it," she cried, still hugging it closer, "It's mouth's like the roses the honey-bee

Sam stooped to obey-as heads came together There chanced to arise a confusion of lips! And as it occurred, it might have been, maybe, That each got a kiss-Sam, Ann, and the baby! It's hard to tell what just then was the matter, For the baby was the only one innocent there;

And Annie flushed up like a full-blown peony, And Samuel turned red to the roots of his So the question is this you can answer it, maybe-Did Annie kiss Sam, or did both kiss the baby?

DASHED TO DEATH.

A correspondent of the Helena (Montana) Herald thus describes a thrilling scene on the Yellowstone river :

After nearly three hours' sharp riding, we came upon the band, and in such manner as to cause us some surprise -about midway in the stream, where could be seen a hastily-constructed raft, composed of drift wood joined together by thongs made of buckskin and buffalo robes Upon this strange craft were seen in the centre thirteen braves, while five squaws were essay ing to paddle the unwildy craft to the opposite shore with pieces of bark as substitutes for paddles. Our pack horses were in the river, as were also the Indian ponies. Four of the latter reached the opposite shore.

This strange sight bursting upon our view rendered us, for the time being, incapable of action. At a glance we could see that they were gradually going down stream, despite the efforts of the squaws, and although our senses for the moment forsook us, the sharp crack of a rifle and the yell of a "Sheep-eater" told that the equanimity of our Crow guide was well preserved. At this juncture Pierre Bernard shouted out, "For God's sake, boys, don't murder them; they are bound to go over the falls" We looked, and a sight met our gaze which was fearfully impressive.

The raft caught in an eddy and not a vestige of it was to be seen, it having sunk several Inches below the surface, and the Indians seemed to be like so many weird spirits floating on the rushing waters. One of the Indians rose, and, bending his bow, shot our Crow through the arm. The shot was returned, and again a yell of pain was heard proceeding from a "Sheep eater." Bernard then told the Crow In his own dialect to stop firing, but be paid no attention whatever to the command. Again he raised his rifle, but a lariat skilfully thrown to Pierre held him fast. The scene now presented was one which those who witnessed will not forget to their dying day.

Indians seated in the circle shook hands, and then commenced wailing their always mournful death song. Nearer, nearer they approached the fearful abyss; still not a movement was perceptible on the part of the braves, They sat as immovable as statues, and did not the stream, our party instinctively raised our hats while looking at them, and I doubt if there was one, except the Crow, who did not show signs of visible emotion.

How singular, was it not? Before us were our enemies, who but a short time ago we would have gladly killed in a fight, but now whose near approach to death touched our very hearts with mingled feelings of tenderness, sorrow and pity. A few moments, and wonderful to state, the raft without losing a single piece, goes intact, with its freight of life, over the awful brink and into the mouth of
