THE NEW-MOWN HAY. This morning stood the verdant spears. All wet with diamond dews-the teurs By night serenely shed; This evening, like an army slain,

They cumber the pacific plain; With their fast-fading dead. And where they fell, and all around Sach perfumes in the air abound As if long hidden hives Of sudden richness were unseal'd, When on the freshly-trodden field

They yielded up their lives. In idle mood I love to pass, These ruins of the crowded grass, Or listlessly to lie, Inhaling the delicious scents Crushed from these downcast, verdurous tents, Beneath the sunset sky.

It is a pure delight, which they Who dwell in cities far away From rural scenes so fair Can never know in lighted room, Pervaded by exotle blooms, This taste of natural air.

This air, so softened by the breath Exhaled and wafted from the death Of herbs that simply bloom, And scarcely noted, like the best Dear friends with whom this world is blest, Await the coming doom,

And leave behind such sweet regret As in our hearts are living yet, Though heroes pass away; Talk not to me of Southern bowers, Of odors from the tropic flowers, But of the new-mown hay.

A Novel Railway Invention.

The Hudson River Railroad Company have just adopted the English method of giving locomotives water, a method at once novel and very efficient. The comstation a trough in the centre of the track, 1,200 feet in length, 15 inches in depth, and 18 inches wide, and caused it 40 be lined with sheet iron, heavily painted .-This trough is perfectly straight throughout the entire 1,200 feet. A short distance to the north and east of it is a spring which supplies it with water, the trough holding 16,000 gallons, which can be let into it at will.

Locomotive No. 43, Ned Sandford, engineer, was next taken from the road and put in the shop, where, in a quiet manner, skillful mechanics soon fitted her out with an ingeniously formed pipe, curling from the man-hole in the tender down through the latter to a position inside of the hind trucks, where the pipe forms a half circle, at the end of which is the nozzle, which always points the way the engine goes. Fastened to this nozzle is an iron bar, which connects with a bar from a point near the fireman's box, by which, when the locomotive comes to the trough the nozzle or pipe can be dropped instantaneously into the water, while the train is running at the rate of thirty miles June 10, 1869. an hour. The nozzle sinks to only the depth of two inches in the trough, yet even at that depth, when the one thousand feet is passed over, one thousand six hundred and thirty-four gallons of water will

There are many improvements connected with it, all the handiwork of Master Mechanic William Buchanan. He has been at work experimenting since the 20th of May last, and bas always been encouraged by Superintendent J. M. Toucey, who has been a firm believer in the plan from beginning to end. The first in taking, or as some of the engineers say, "jerking the water," occurred yesterday morning. The locomotive dashed over the rails, even to which is the trough, at the rate of thirty-five miles an hour. As the nozzle struck the water, the fluid rushed into the tender with a roar like a young Niagara, and when the though was left behind the fireman found his tender full.

Every movement was crowned with success, and the locomotive later in the afternoon was attached to the New York special which left Pougkeepsie at 4:15 P. M., which train proceeded direct to New York without stopping anywhere, a feat at once novel and giving promise of greater deeds in the future. It is next proposed to locate a trough between Katskill and Hudson, and points in the Central road, so that in time trains aided by this process of stopping nowhere for water, may run through to Chicago in twenty-four or twenty-six hours. The Hudson River Railroad Company was the first in this country to adopt this important invention, and in fact all others of any consequence. It is indeed one of the greatest inventions of the age, and must come into general use on railroads .- Poughkeepsie, (N Y.)

WHAT I KNOW ABOUT FARMING-AFTER GREELEY .- Turnips should never be pulled; it injures them. It is better to send a boy up and let him shake the backward season for grain. Therefore it will be well for the farmer to begin setting out his cornstalks and planting his buckwheat cakes in July instead of August.

The pumpkin is a favorite with the natives of New England, who prefer it to the gooseberry for the making of fruit cake, and who likewise give it the preference over the raspberry for feeding cows, as being more filling and as fully satisfying. The pumpkin is the most esculent of the orange family that will thrive in the north, except the gourd and one or two varieties of the squash, But the custom of planting it in the front yard with the shrubbery is fast going out of vogue, for it is now generally conceded that the prices. Desirous of patronage from all former pumpkin, as a shade tree, is a failure.

PETER CAMPBELL'S WOOD, MORRELL & CO,. IMPRVOED

The undersigned has secured letters patent of the United States, dated December 14, 1869 for an improvement in the construction of Ben Hives, and claims for his invention advantages possessed by no other heretofore patented.

The principal feature of this Rec Hive is the arrangement by means of which it is thoroughly ventilated, thus precluding the possibility of the bees smothering, the comb moulding or the honey souring. This desirable end is accomplished by a vertical perforated tube, running centrally through the hive and open at the top and bottom. All persons interested in apiculture will at once see the great advantages secared it this improvement. The ventilator is for the increase of bees.

The peculiar construction of the box, particularly in the arrangement of the inner compartments, whereby it can be cleaned at any time without disturbing the bees, is another valuable improvement which will be obvious to any person who examines this Hive. An examination of the workings of the bees or the condition of the interior can be made at any time, as the sides are cased with glass. Bees can be trasferred from a different hive to the improved one without any difficulty whatever. It would require too much space to enumerate here all the advantages claimed in this invention, but full information will be promptly fur. nished by applying in person or by letter to the patentee. I am now prepared to dispose of territory for the sale of the Improved Bee Hive in any portion of the United States. PETER CAMPBELL, and patented an AUTOMATIC RAILWAY GATE, to which he invites the attention of railroad men. Full information will be fur nished on application, and Company Rights pany recently constructed at Montrose will be disposed of by the inventor. Address as above. [jan.11.70.-tf.]

A Plea for Servant Girls.

"Nancy" puts forth the following ideas in the Toledo Blade. It is not the most improbable thing in the world that Nancy states in a plain matter of fact way a good deal of truth :

There are said to be two sides to all subects, and so much has been said against the above named humble individuals that it is time something was said in their faver. It is a well-known fact that the principal subject of conversation between well bred ladies of the higher class of society, is the insolence, laziness, and other equally bad traits of character exhibited by their servants; or. Hay Fork and Knife Manufactured. if they live in a rural village, their "girls." Do these ladies ever think that they are very often to blame for the faults they so much complain of? Do they ever consider that, although hired for a small weekly sum, these girls have minds and feelings? That they sometimes think, and very often feel, and deeply, too, the insults that are showered upon them? Do they ever remember that a girl, servant though she be, often longs for a kind word, a smile of approval, and is not ladies, remember Dives and Lazarus! How can a girl yield respectful obedience to a mistress who is often her inferior in all respects save wealth, when said mistress is never satisfied no difference how well her task is performed? "She was too slow," or "might have done mere in that length of time," is the highest praise that poor Bridg-

a machine that is never tired? Oh, ladies, et ever gets. The mechanic or clerk that works for a master does his work in the hours allotted to labor, and then is free to go where he will. The Sabbath at least is his own, but women are more tyrannical than men as a general rule. Leading a life of idleness themselves they have no idea how much time ought to be consumed in deing a certain amount of work, work, work. Small pay, no thanks, much scolding, no Sabbath, for she must cook dinner while her mistress goes to church; is it a wonder if her patience gives out, and she ars vers sul en'y, or shirks work

It seems to me that a great many women find fault and scold for the pleasure it seems to afford them. Women-like, their tongues Penknives, Pipes, &c. must wag, and it would never do to praise or be familiar with a servant; so to talk and yet keep up appearance, they come into the kitchen and commence fault-finding and scolding. On the same principle, they complain of their servants to others, merely to have something to talk about. But they must remember it is none the more pleasant to hear for all that. Take them all together, women are not angels by any means, and the next time, lady reader, that you commence your tirade BOOTS AND SHOES against servant girls stop and think : How would I do if in her place, with her pay, usage and general inducements.

Some YEARS AGO, in the New Hampshire Legislature, a new member, somewhat noted for 'pumping thunder,' made a speech-it was upon a bill for taxing bank dividends-in which he attempted to be very pathetic in favor of widows who owned bank stock. "Yes, Mr. Speaker," he exclaimed with indignant energy, "the gentleman from Dover, who introduced this bill, deaf to the cries of her orphan children, would strip the widow .-But before he could conclude the sentence he was interrupted by a laugh. Astontinuance and increase of the same.
JOHN D. THOMAS. a profound feeling: "Gentlemen, it is not the subject of derision. I appeal to you in all candor to say if it is not worse than stripping. Put on this tax and you will drive the widow to her last shift !"-Shouts of laughter here petrified him in his place, and he spoke no more during
