- For several months, we might say years, the efty of Altoona has been scourged with the devcity of Attoona has been sconged war the dev-ilish and infernal depredations of incendiaries. By a certain process, well known to the proper authorities of that city, some fourteen alleged participants in this netarious business were ar-rested in Altoona on Tuesday of this week, and are now confined in the Hollidaysburg jail. Among the number is one woman, who is held either as an accomplice or witness. The names of several of the parties are published, but we

The somewhat impaired health of his wife has induced our good friend, E. B. McCrum, Esq., of the Altoona Tribane, to withdraw his mane as an aspirant for the Republican nomimation for State Senator in the Blair district. This leaves the entire field so far to Col. John A. Lemon, who is about as clever, competent and popular a gentleman as can be scared up anywhere. We don't hanker after State Senators of that stripe of politics, but if it must be so, we would rather take Lemon in ourn than swallow the dose in all its naked deformity.

—The Alleghonian editor, who is a wonderful fellow to see wonders, has in his possession a petrified something which was taken out of a huge rock split open at the new jail in this one day last week. The only part of the petrefaction, or whatever it is, that could be removed from the stone is about five inches long, one inch in diameter, and is hollow throughout. It somewhat resembles the thick part of a snake's body, which may account for the editor seeing it, as snakes—in stones and otherwise—inay be rated as one of his best

To those terribly annoying pests, the flies, is directly traccable the occurence of a very painful if not serious accident to our good friend, Mr. J. M. Pircher, of Hollidaysburg. Mr. P. was in his stable on Friday evening last, attending to his cow, and while in the act of stooping down to pick up a rope the flies caused the cow to suddenly throw up its head, and in doing so one of her horns struck M., P. in the right eye, inflicting a very ugiy wound and perhaps destroying the eye itself for all time to come. Mr. P. was suffering much pain when we saw him on Saturday, but the swollen condition of his eye rendered it impossible to determine the extent of his injuries.

SUDDEN DEATH OF A PROMINENT MAN.-The prevailing gaieties at Cresson, this county, were sadly broken in upon, on Saturday morning last, by the announcement that Mr. Geo. The whole line, which will cost nearly $9,000,000, is to be completed and ready for the cars within two years, and our word for it there will be no failure, either in time or manner, on part of a company composed of such men as the Messrs; Collins.

Among the Ladies' Magazine, this is fast taking the lead, not only for the high character of its reading, but for the beauty of its illustrations, and the fulness and variety of its fashion and needle-work departments. Miss Townsend's new story, "Jacqueline" increases in interest with every number; while the admirable series of articles on "Woman's Work and Woman's Wages," show a breadth and common sense in their treatment of a difficult subject well worthy of all praise. JOHNSTOWN, July 25, 1870. Dear Freeman-Some excitement and great merriment was created here last week by the sudden appearance, on our streets, of a large sudden appearance, on our streets, of a large bear in the charge of two Frenchmen, or Italians. It performed many tricks and could dance a polka with its keeper in good style. It is needless to say that the streets were crowded to witness the exhibition. Unfortunately the police arrested both the bear and its keepers and took them to the lock-up. The Autocrat of the Russias, having been introduced to the Burgess, began to shower his benedictions all over the floor, while his keeper uttered his maledictions, calling His Honor "Un set a leight el age," "Pin tosta mendicante che ignoranti," etc., all which the Burgess didn't understand. A Franco-German Italian was called in as interpreteratieense to exhibit was paid for—and his Honor did not impose any fine. Ursa Major and his keepers departed sans pure et sans reproache, and did not impose any fine. Ursa Major and his keepers departed sans pure et sans reproache, and continued to exhibit on the principal of "chu non s'arrischia non guadagua." They left town early next morning for a better place than Johnstown. Poor fellows!

Carrolltown, July 25, 1870. Dear Freeman—The past week has been very unprolific of news in this bailiwick, although i brought among us a real downright elever gen-tleman in the person of Mr. Geo. L. Anderson, ambrotype and photograph artist, connected with the extensive establishment of J. L. Ry-nard, New York. It was the first time I had the nard. New York. It was the first time? had the pleasure of meeting Mr. A., but it needed only this brief acquaintance to convince me that he is not only an excellent artist but a perfect gen-tleman. While here, owing to the fact that our agricultural friends are busy, and the other fact that a permanent Gallery is located in our bor-ough, he did not meet with as much success as he deserved or would have attained under other he deserved or would have attained under other circumstances; yet he took several fine views of buildings, street scenes, etc., while here, all of which elicited much admiration. Mr. Anderson designs to tarry at Loretto during the continuance of the Ladies' Fair which opens at that place to-day, and I bespeak for him a liberal award of patronage from all persons who abide in or visit Loretto during his brief stay.

In my last letter I promised you a statement of the extent of the crops of wheat, rye, hay, etc., llarvested in this section, which statement was to have been based on actual figures. Some was to have been based on actual figures. Some of these I have obtained, but not enough whereon to base a very accurate estimate of the num-ber of bushels and tons produced. As it is a mooted question as to whether or not this section of the county is self-sustaining. I am auxious to gather data enough from reliable sources to solve the mystery, if possible, and hence I postpone further comment for one more week at least.

I believe that I have hitherto neglected to notice the fact that Mr. Aug. Walters has recently renovated and improved his store room and dwelling house. It now presents a changed and improved appearance. "Gust" is one of our goahead men, and as a citizen and business man he has no superior among us.

I have been requested to once more call the attention of your readers to the fact that preparations on a grand scale are still in progress to make the picnic at Glen Connell, (St. Lawrence,) on the 16th of next month, the most enjoyable and stupendous affair of the kind ever held in Northern Cambria, or anywhere else, for that matter. that matter.

METZ, the chief town of the department tion is about 65,060. The town, until 1728, was nothing but an assemblage of narrow streets, dirty and badly built. It was under the active administration of the Marshal of Belle Isle that it began to be rejuvenated and ornamented. This impulse once given was not arrested; perhaps, indeed, it went too far. More than one souvenir of the ancient ages has been destroyed, which might have given us some precious relics for which people search now in vain. But we cannot regret the transformation which has given Metz beautiful streets and courts, good wharves, well built and delightful promenades. The houses are constructed solidly of stone, are generally of a very simple architecture, and have rarely four floors. A great number have gardens attached. Some streets on the right bank of the Moselle are very steep and are impassable for carriages. Confined now in narrower limits than it was formerly, the city of Metz beholds a part of its monuments, its abbeys and its churches replaced by immense fortifications. It has become one of the most strongly fortified places in France. Its escutcheous mentioned as its strongest claim to renown that it has never been taken since it has been surrounded by a wall.

REMARKABLE HARVESTNG -A letter from Bucks county, Pa., to the Philadelphia Post, says: "Notwithstanding the extreme searcity of hands in this region, the harvest work has progressed rapidly. In this neighberhood, Miss Watson, a delicate young lady of sixteen summers, with a span of horses, has cut twenty-five acres of wheat and forty acres of grass, and will cut as many acres of oats in a very few days, the present week. It is a great triumph for human skill in the perfection of labor saving implements. At this date Miss Watson can cut more lodged and tangled wheat with her span of horses and reaper, in one day, than your correspondent could have done in ten days forty years ago with the sickle, and he was then in the vigor of youth, and among the swiftest to wield that old time implement. He says it reelse he rubbed coal oil on it. He says it re-lieved the pain almost imstantly, so he continued to rub on the oil until the boil was entirely well, when, to his surprise, he found a thin coating of hair coming out over the bald place. He continued the use of the oil for a month or two, and now has a very heavy coat of hair on his head.

THE GREAT AMERICAN HEALTH RESTORER purifies the blood and cures Scrofula, Syphilis, Skin-Diseases, Rhenmatism, Diseases of Women, and all Chronic Affections of the Blood, Liver and Ridneys. Recommend-ed by the Medical Faculty and many thousands of our best citizens.

Read the testimony of physicians and patients who have used Rosadalis; send for our Rosadalis Guide to Health Book, or Almanae for this year, which ae pubish for gratuitous distribution; it will ive you much valuable information. Dr. R. W. Carr, of Baltimore, says:

I take pleasure in recommending your ROSADALIS AS a very powerful alterative. have seen it used in two cases with appy results-one in a case of secondary syphilis, in which the patient pronoanced ruself cured after having taken five botles of your medicine. The other is a case of Scrolula of long starding, which is rapidly improving under its use, and the indications are that the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the termula by which your Resadalis is made and find it an excellent compound of alterative ingredients. Dr Sparks, of Nicholasville, Kv., saya he has used Rosada is in cases of Scrofu la and Secondary Synhilis with satisfactory results-as a cleaner of the blood I know no better remedy. Samuel G. M. Fadden, Murfreesboro' Tenn , says: I have used seven botales of Rosadalis and am entirely cared of Rheamatism; send me four bottles, as I wish it for my brother, who has scrofulous Benj. Bechtol, of Lima, O., writes : 1 have suffered for 20 years with an inveterate eruption over my whole body. A short time since I bought a bottle of Rosadalis and it effected a perfect care.
