attendance to send him the names of one Democrat from each of their respective districts to act as members of the County Committee. It is only truth to say that the proceedings of the Convention were marked throughout by more than the usual amount of harmony and good feeling, and it is admitted to be one of the most orderly assemblages of the kind that has ever convened in this place. At about 7 o'clock, P M , the Convention adjourned with three tremendous cheers for the ticket and for the good old Democratic cause.

[BY REQUEST.] IN PIAM MEMORIUM.

Died, on Friday, July 15th, at 7 o'clock, P. M. at his residence in Loretto, Cambria Co., Pa. Mr. PETER CHRISTY, in the 68th year of his age Mr. PETER CHRISTY, in the 65th year of his age.
Mr. Christy, one of the carliest settlers of Loretto, was during his life a model of every virtice, and truly his death was that of the just. — He wasan affectionate husband, a devoted father, a kind and generous neighbor, and above all an excellent Christian. In an eminent degree stood out his piety. Daily was he an attendant at the Holy Sacribce of the Mass. Whether the heat of summer or the inclemency of winter prevalled, it was all the same—this true servard of the Gospel would be seen wending his way to the chapel of the presbytery, where had so often officiated his carly friend, the fainted Prince Galifizin, and there, book in hand, most generally the server of the celebrant, was he an ex250. ample of fervor that charmed every beholder. Truly, in Mr. Christy were combined all these Truly, in Mr. Christy were combined all these beautiful virtues that so endear a man to all his 100, acquaintances and so readily secure for him the esteem of the most indifferent. But, above all, on the death bed, the test of the character most on the death bed, the test of the character most generally, did the virtue of this good man most singularly manifest itself. Suffering from a most acute disease, never was a single groan heard to issue from his lips—never a word ex-pressive of impatience. From the very com-mencement of the attack that preluded his death, he seemed perfectly to understand the nature of his case, and that recovery was im-possible; yet he never murmured, but with consummate patience took the bitter draught that was offered and submitted cheerfully to the requirements of medical skill—showing, as 500.

the requirements of medical skill-showing, as it were, that obedience in all the occurrences of life is incumbent upon the Christian. We cannot forbear referring here to a very touchi incident relative to his death bed, and it will lustrate more clearly the singular plety of this virtuous soul. Oppressed with a racking fever, scarcely able to lift his hand from the bed of psin, and apparently unconscious of every pass-ing event, he hears the tolling of the "Angelus." Opening his eyes, he looks around, and calls Opening his eyes, he looks around, and calls upon those standing near to recite with him the usual salutation, though excruciating pain fol-lowed the utterance of every syllable he pro-nounced. We thought within ourselves how true the saying. "As a man lives so shall he die." Around the bed of this dying saint stood his afflicted wife and eight sorrowing children—one a religieuse of the Order of Mercy, another the respected pastor of Ebenshurg. Cambria county 100. 1.000.

To each he spoke in beautiful terms, but address-800. each he spoke in beautiful terms, but address-ing his children schartely, he exhorted them to live as they should—that, though bis turn was to-day, yet theirs was quickly to follow—that their only reliance should be on God, and that whenever He called they should be ready; and, above all, that charity should be the bond ever uniting them. Thus lived and thus taught this good old men, and having fulfilled the work that 335. 1.300. 1,000. good old man, and having fulfilled the work that was given him to do, he passed happily to our Lord without a single struggle. Oh! on deaths like this one loves to dwell. For him the sound of the "Profiscere" had not the slightest terror. At the judgment scat he found little to grieve We should not mourn his departure, but it leaves a void in our midst that raught can fill.

On the Monday following his dcath a grand Requirm Mass was celebrated by Rev. R. C. Inristy, son of the deceased, assisted by Rev. F. Benno, G. S. B., as Deccon, Rev. F. Mapritus, O. S. B., Sub-Deacon, and Rev. E. Burns, Pastor of St. Augustine, Master of Ceremonies. The cho-ral services were performed by some ten or twelve elergymen present, among whom were Rev. E. A. Bush, Loretto, Eev. Giles Christoph, St. Vincent's, Westmore'and Co., Rev. J. Farren, Tyrone, Ps., Rev. J. C. Bigham, (nephew of deceased,) of Now Brighton, Fs., and a number of Benedictine Fathers whose names I failed to learn. These with their rich bassos and tenors in the solemn Gregorian chant added immens to the sublimity of the scene. At the conclusion of the Mass the burial service was read by the celebrant, assisted by the deacon and sub-deacon. The sermon, a touch-ing one, was delivered by Rev. R. Phelan, pastor of St. Peter's, Allegheny county, who took for his text. "Blessed are the dead who repose in the Lord, for their works follow them." The Rev. orator spoke of the virtues of the decased. Rev. orator spoke of the virtues of the decnaed, told how all flesh is grass and the glory thereof as the flower of the field that fudeth away, and how we are compelled to acknowledge that eve-rything here below is vanity of vanities, except to love and serve God. Heaven and earth shall pass away, saith the Lord, but my word shall never pass away. God is our only resource and our only hope in the midst of the dangers and trials of life as moll as in the midst of the tar. trials of life, as well as in the midst of the ter-rors of death. Having thus spoken at considerable length, the Rev. preacher concluded with those beautiful words, "Well done, good and faithful servant : because thou hast been faithin all cares. ful over a few things. The Kidneys are two in number, situated at the upper part of the loin, surrounded by fat, and consisting of three parts, viz : the Anterior, the Interior, and the Exterior.

The anterior absorbs. Interior con-1sts of tissues, or veins, which serve as a deposit for the urine ann convey it to the exterior. The exterior is a conductor also, terminating in a single tube, and called a Ureter. The ureters are connected with the bladdtr.

The bladder is composed of various coverings or tissues, divided into parts, viz.: the Upper, the Lower, the Nervous, and the Mucous. The upper expels, the lower retains. Many have a desire to wrinate without the ability; others urinate without the ability to rotalu: This frequently occurs in children.

To cure these affections, we must bring into action the muscles, which are engaged in their various functions. If they are neglocied, Gravel and Dropsy may ensue.

The reader must also be made aware, that however slight may be the attack, it is sure to affect the bodily health and mental powers, as our flesh and blood are supported from these SOUTCPS.

GOUT, OR RHEUMATISM .- Pain occuring in the loins is indicative of the above diseases. They occur in persons disposed to acid stomach and chalky secretions.

THE GRAVEL .- The gravel ensues from DBglect or improper treatment of the kidneys .--These organs being weak, the water is not expelled from the bladder, but allowed to remain; it becomes feverish, and sediment forms. It is from this deposit that the stone is formed, and gravel ensues:

DEOPSY is a collection of water in some parts of the body, and bears different names, according to the parts affected, viz: when generally diffused over the body, it is called Anasarca; when of the abdomen, Ascites; when of the chest, Hydrothorax.

TREATMENT .- Helmbold's highly concentrated compound Extract Buchu is decidedly one of the best remedies for diseases of the bladder, kidneys, gravel, dropsical swellings, rheumatism, and gouty affections. Under this head we have arranged Dysuria, or difficulty and pain in * passing water, Scanty Secretion, or small and frequent discharges of water; Strangury, or stopping of water; Hematuria, or bloody urine; Gout and Rheumatism of the kidneys, without any change in quantity, but increase in color, or dark water. It was always highly recommended by the late Dr. Physick, in these affect tions.

This medicine increases the power of digestion and excites the absortents into healthy action by which the watery or calcerous depositions, and all unnatural enlargements, as well as pain and inflammation, are reduced, and it is taken by men, women, and children. Direc-

FHILADELPHIA, PA., Feb. 25, 1807. H. T. HELMBOLD, Druggist : DEAR SIR-I have been a sufferer, for upward of twenty years, with gravel, bladder, and kidney affections, during which time I have used various medicinal preparations, and been under the treatment of the most eminent Physicians, experiencing butflittle relief. Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted with my family physiclan in regard to using your Extract Buchu. I did this because I had used all kind of advertisod remedies, and had found them worthless, and some quite injurious; in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no remedies thereafter unless I knew of the ingredients. It was this that prompted me to use your remedy. As you advertised that it was composed of buchu, cubebs and juniper berries, it occurred to me and my physician as an excellent combination, and, with his advice, after an examination of the article, and consulting again with the druggist, Feoncluded to try it. I commenced its use about eight months ago, at which to keep you warm and dry. WOLFF makes time I was confined to my room. Giving up his work, he repaired to the house, changed his clothing and went to the Fair at Loretto, from which he returned some time during the night and revired to his bed, where he was found next morning perfectly conscious, but utterly unable to move either hand or foot. Medical aid was called in, but nothing could be done to relieve his sufferings, and on the following (Sunday) morning he expired. This case is certainly a singular one, but the probabilities are that death was caused

A Big Fight .- The great contest at the primary elections for Democratic delegates, on last Saturday, where every voter was out, did not prevent Mr. Mayer from selling a harge quantity of ready-made clothing at No. 241. opera House, Johnstown, and he is willing to ell ten times as many garments yet, all well nade and of good material. Can't you call and see the big store and buy a lot of goods.

Stove Pines are getting immensely out of ashion as a substitute for hats, but a fashiona-le hat can always be bought at Cohen's Hat "arlor, No. 227 Main street, Johnstown. If any man wants to run his head through a joint of stove pipe he can do so, but men of taste will crowd around the Hat Parlor, where fashion reigns supreme. Gents' furnishing goods on hands at all times. Mind that.

Victorious. - The French and Prussians have both been victorious, and so has Leopold Mayer, Dry Goods merchant, 212, Opera House, Main street, Johnstown. Mr. Mayer uses needles instead of needle-guns, and as a consequence his victories are bloodless. He has taken high prices by surprise, and now sells dry goods, ress goods, hats, bonnets, and notions cheaper than ever.

Crimes and Misdemeanors are disting things. A orime is neglecting to buy dry goods at John J. Murphy's Store, Johnstown. A mis-demeanor is merely buying them somewhere else. Both crimes and misdemeanors will be promptly pardoned by Mr. Murphy, whose good will had better he secured at once by buying a great installing of the Marchan Lines. reat quantity of goods at the Mansion House Corner.

Poetic .- The rain came down in the streets of our town and made a perfect pud-muddle, and people outdoors did "get up and get" on a double quick right out of the wet-many gath-ering at Cham Roberts' store in a huddle. Rob-erts store, be it known, is the place to get any-thing from a steel pen to a sewing machine-cheap-cheaper-cheapest. Why don't you go and buy?

Prussia is that James J. Murphy, No. 100 Clinton street, Johnstown, has a large amount of made-up clothing which he will sell as cheap as the present war will warrant. He is perfectly wil-ling to take greenbacks for clothing and sell at reduced prices. These wanting good and cheap clothing will do well to call at No. 109. and the prosecution withdrawn. On Saturday morning last over one hundred wagons came to market loaded down with ber-ries, green corn, potatoes, cucumbers, and other Giants.-The Cardiff giant can be seen at Leopold & Brother's Clothing Store, No. 241 Main street, Johnstown, where he is getting a splendid new suit of made-up clothing, and where any other man can be fitted with any kind of clothing, as cheap as the cheapest. Call His knowledge of the German language anded him considerably, and being a fair scholar, ho has done the work up well. I congrutulate him now that he has escaped with his hife, for those-who take the census have to pass through many ordeais. I think no man could have done has duty better than Mr. E. did. The excitement at the Delegate Election was immense. The entire Democratic vote was polled. A Presidential election could not have brought a greater number of voters to the polls. The windows were blocked up, and there were soon or the giant will be gone, and then you will miss a grand sight.

Yery Fine .- The fair at Loretto is said to have been one of the best ever gotten up on the mountain, and the stock of goods of every shade and variety kept by A. J. Christy is without doubt the very finest and most complete ever opened in that place. Mr. Christy has a fair all the time-fair goods, fair prices and fair dealing.
