Resolved, That the candidate nominated by this convention is hereby instructed, if elected, to oppose the passage of any law to increase the taxes upon the people of the county of Cambria.

To impress more forcibly upon the minds of the listeners the many rounded periods of these resolutions, the lone delegate from the sixth ward of Johnstown requested that they be read once more. Lone delegate from Franklin was of the opinion that they were read enough and and should be well understood, when Barnes cut short the discussion by moving that a candidate for Assembly be now placed in nomination. H. D. Woodruff, of Johnstown, R. H. Brown, of Cresson, and D. McLaughlin, of Johnstown, were severally suggested, as was also the township of White. The enthusiastic delegate from Summerhill who made this last suggestion was for the office of Assembly on the reprincipal part of his story, but somebody came to his rescue by hinting the name of Geo. Walters, of White, and Mr. W. was thereupon declared to be the man the delegate was seeking for. Mr. Brown declined permitting his name to be used, alleging that he was not in sympathy with the cause and did not wish to become identified with it in any shape. Mr. McLaughlin also withdrew his name, not because of a lack of sympathy on his part, but probably because he feared the people would not manifest enough sympathy for him to secure his election. Mr. Walters having no friend present to withdraw his name, and Mr. Woodruff not wishing anything of that kind to be done in his behalf, the convention proceeded to a ballot, which resulted in 43 delegates voting for Woodruff and the casting of the vote of one delegate from Cambria borough, two from Chest Springs, one from Jackson, and the lone one from Clearfield in favor of Mr. Walters. The nomination of Woodruff was thereupon made unanimous. The Chairman having announced as next in order the nomination of a Courty Commissioner, Messrs. Walters and Gates, of White tp., Skelly of Summerhill, and E. D. Evans, Wilmore, were respectively suggested .-Vote stood : Walters 27, Gates 13, Skelly 7, Evans 3. So Mr. George Walters was declared the nominee.

Hiram Frits, of Susquehanna tp., was unanimously nominated for Poor House Director and William Flattery, of Johnstown, for Coroner. Mr. Elder now arose to say that "there was still an office which it was the policy of the law to fulfil," but Mr. Elder doubtless forgot that it is not "the policy of the law" to permit two consecutive terms by re electing the same incumbe nt for the second time. He moved. however, that James Cooper, the present incumbent, be the nominee for Jury Commissioner, and the Convention unanimously seconded his motion.

For Auditor the names of Henry Walters and Peter Elmire, both of Summerhill, were proposed. Mr. Walters received 29 votes and Mr. Elmire 19. Immediately after his nomination Mr. Walters came forward and respectfully declined the questicnable honor, but the Convention did not seem to take any notice of his wishes.

It was now proposed that Gen. Potts address the Convention, but a gentleman from the 2d ward of Johnstown, wanted to know why a candidate for Sheriff was not nominated. Considerable confusion was created-some persons shouting that the train had arrived-Barnes and others shouting themselves hourse for Potts-and the Chairman and Secretary trying by persuasive elequence to pacify the indignant seeker after information. A crisis had at length been precipitated upon the Convention for which the "ring" were totally unprepared, ! but Mr. Elder commenced a labored explanation, during which he stated that he had con-suited with several leading Democrats in last. Some of the good ladies connected with Johnstown and they advised him that it would be impolitic to nominate a candidate, as they would thus imperil their cause among a certain nationality there. McLaughlip proposed that the 'census' of the Convention be taken, and the leaders of the "ring" were gratified to ob erve that their lash was potent, as a majority of the delegates voted against a nomination for

Gen. Potts appeared in response to relterated calls, but his speech did not occupy more than one minute of time. He said that for reasons which has been explained in his card of witharawal he was forced to retire from the cam paign, and the state of his health did not permit him to exert himself unnecessarily-or er words to that effect. Elder then moved that a vote of thank of tendered to the proprietors of the Mountain House for use of building, and the same gentleman moved an adjournment. As there was still some show of dissatisfaction in con equence of the action of the Convention in reor of the removal of the seat of justice to gard to the vacancy in their ticket, the ancouncement was made that if it was considered necessary, the executive committee could meet and place a candidate in nomination.

Doubts existed in the minds of many as to whether Mr. Woodruff would accept the nomination which was offered him. All such doubts were, however, expelled on Saturday never again be caught in such a predicament evening. About 8 o'clock a hired band was for all the "d-d old maids in the convent," brought to his office, and after playing for a few minutes, Mr. W. made his appearance. He thanked the gentlemen present for tendering him the nomination and thought that they might have secured some worthier man, but gy, despite the reiterated objections of since it was forced upon him he would accept, mmerhill delegate, who threatened to etc. A. Kopelin followed him in a few congratulatory remarks upon the available candidate they had secured. McLaughlin next mounted the box, but a rain storm could not more effectually have dispersed the crowd.

The accident occurred near Gallitzin, and was the result of thought lessness on part of the boys themselves, and could not have been foreseen or prevented by any one connected with the train. JOHNSTOWN, Auk, 22, 1870, Dear Freeman—Three children belonging to the 6th ward went out last Wednesday to gather berries in the country, and got so bewildered that they could not find their way home. About dusk the parents became alarmed and went in quest of them. After considerable search they found them, and returned with them about ten found them, and returned with them about ten o'clock at night. The "babes in the woods" had neither dinner nor supper, but partook plentifully of berries, which served to appease their We attended the Removal Convention at Cres-

We leave the finishing strokes of this sublime drama to Mac, or Todd, or Sku Bal, or Shoo Fiy, or Conemaugh, or Tom, or Loosh, and proceed to other matters.

We have something to say about our wild-cat water. We have often mentioned the fact that we have the best water works in the State but we have the best water-works in the State, but we never before thought of referring to the healthful qualities of the water itself. Our own experience is that soft water is more healthful than hard water, though the latter may be more palatable. Our health and that of our family has been much better since using the wild-cat water exclusively. While it may cost a lithe prevention of sickness.

Last week was a gala week here. There were nearly a dozen of pic-nics, and then MacEvoy's Hibernicon, or Irish Illustrations, at Union Hall added much to the amusements; and although money is exceedingly scarce, sufficient was raised to contribute a total outlay of not less than one thousand dollars in the short space of one week for amusements alone.

The Good Will Hose, Hook and Ladder Company have asked the Borough Councils for an outfit, costing about twenty-five hundred dollars. They have certainly as good a right to an outfit as the Assistance Fire Company, yet we seriously doubt whether the borough needs either fire companies or fire plugs. A common hose with nozzle attached to an ordinary hydrant will throw the water over any house in town, the fall being seventy feet, and we doubt town, the fall being seventy feet, and we doubt whether our borough can stand the expense of paying $500 for each fire plug, and pay for equipping fire companies into the bargain.

The Cambria Iron Company have been estopped from making a track along the Conemaugh river at the Conemaugh borough line. Why this is so we do not know, but certain it is that if we had property there we would thank that Company for making an embankment of cinder between the river and our land. Ice-floods in the Conemaugh damage the property along that river more or less every year, while this cinder track would form a complete barrier against both ice and water floods. Besides, we understand that if the said Company get the right of stand that if the said Company get the right of way along the river they will abandon Portage street and remove their track. We may not understand the issue fully, but think that no better thing could be done for Conemaugh bor-ough than to have the property adjacent to the river protected from the direful effects of ice and water floods.

There was a Removal ratification meeting held on the Public Square on Saturday night.—

One of the fire boys lost his equilibrium and indulged in a few strong expletives that were more amusing than entertaining. It appears that our hero had on his Sunday tights, and in his hurried flight he bursted off a couple of very important adjuncts from his unmentionables, causing them to come bad a plight as Adam is supposed to have been in before that little transaction in the fruit line of which we have heard so much. His attack on the Catholic laity in general and the Catholic clergy in particular were as mendacious as they were false and ungentlemanly, and they could not fail to produce the ulmost contempt for the dirty slanderer as well as pity for those who are ignorant and bigoted enough to cherish such a viper in their midst. The Catholics have made a history for themselves in this country which all the foul-mouthed slanderers in creation, including this penitentiary-deserving burlesque on humanity, cannot obliterate or even for a moment obscure with his infamous falsehoods. Like the fangless spewings of a writhing serpent, his dirty venom fell harmless to the earth. In the language of a friend, if this creature (Welch) was a member of the feathered tribe he would be a shitepoke; if a quadruped he would be a shit if an inhabitant of still waters, a wiggletan; if of running waters, a tadpole; but as a member of the human family, he is simply a self-made vagabond of low degree—a pimp with the moral character of a Digger "injin"—a festering, leperous scab on the body politic—a wicked parody on the most degraded of the human race.

the future. CARROLLTOWN, Aug. 22, 1870. Dear Freeman-On Wednesday of last week, about the hour of noon, our town was alarmed by the cry of fire. In a few moments the start-ling truth became manifest that the hotel of Mr. D. Eger, known as the Mountain House, had caught fire from a spark from the flue, which had alighted on the roof and communicated fire to the shingles. A few moments of energetic work, however, put a stop to the flames and the community once more breathed freer. This being the second time that the rear building of this hotel has caught fire, Mr. Eger, with commendable earnestness, determined that it should be the last, and immediately razed the

With your permission, dear Freeman, I will now betake myself to the charming little village of St. Nicholas, six miles west of Carrolltown, and invite your readers to join me in a peep, at that not fully appreciated little community. Prefatory to any remarks about the place, however, I will inform you that on Tuesday of next week, Aug. 30th, there is to be a plenic at St. Nicholas under the auspices of the energetic pastor (Father Urban), or the church at that place, which promises to be the very grandest and most enjoyable of the season. Our Carrolltown Brass Band will be in attendance, I understand, and I can promise on the strength of my own observation that crery arrangement has been made in and about the beautiful grove to secure the comfort and enjoyment of all who favor the festivities with their presence. As to the refreshments and amusements that will be afforded on the occasion, the well known hospitality and experience in such matters of the good people of the neighborhood will serve as a sufficient guarantee. But to return to my subject. The village of St. Nicholas is situated on a level plane commanding a view of several miles in every direction, and, as I have already said, is within six miles of tarrolltown. The land in the vicinity is of the finest quality for agricultural purposes. The village itself has a fine church, well finished and tastefully built and decorated, and what is equally creditable, and decorated, and what is equally creditable, is almost out of debt—the payment of the little amount remaining being the object of the coming pienie, which, it is to be hoped, will fully accomplish the laudable purpose. In addition to the church edifice, there are a number of neat and comfortable private dwellings, black-smith shops, shoemaker shops, stores, etc., with plenty of room left for more of the same sort. Last, but not least, there is an excellent hotel at St. Nicholas, conducted and owned by Mr. Nicholas Lambour, and without fear of successful contradiction. I hazard the assertion that there is no better kept or regulated hotel anywhere in the country. Besides these, I learn from reliable sources that the lumber is already cut for some four or five new dwelling houses which are to be constal and the rest former days. which are to be erected next Spring, and the probabilities are that within a few years the present village of St. Nicholas will be a town of tle more than well water, we firmly believe that more than the extra expense will be saved in small dimensions and enterprise. The only thing that struck me as unaccountable during my visit is the fact that there is no post-office at St. Nicholas, although distant some six miles from the nearest office, and located on the direct route to Strongstown, Indiana county-a place which enjoys postal facilities, notwith-standing the fact that it does not enjoy one-fifth of the business prosperity that is yet in store for St. Nicholas. The citizens of the latter village should endeavor to secure a post-office at

"DESERTED VILLAGE," Aug. 52, 1870. Dear Freeman-Nothing transpiring near home worthy of the attention of a correspondent of your excellent paper, I must write of things transpiring at a distance. A somewhat ludicrous occurrence took place, not a hundred miles from here, a few days since. It was reported that a dead body was found in the woods, and near it a large pocket-book, rifled of its contents was discovered, then and hear it a large pocket-book, rifled of its contents, was discovered; therefore, in all probability, a foul murder had been committed. The proper official was notified of the facts, who promptly repaired to the place for the purpose of holding an ipquest, agreeably to the Act of Assembly in such cases made and provided. As the case appeared to be a serious one, and the country where the horrid deed had been perpeturated was but sparsely settled the reco perpetrated was but sparsely settled, the worthy official took with him from the villages on the road, some of the most intelligent effizens the road, some of the most intelligent citizens, to serve as jurors in the case. Arrived at the locality where it was alleged the tragle scene had been enacted, dilligent search was made for the body; but, judge of the surprise and astonishment of that august inquest of "good and lowful men," when, instead of the body, they found only the spoit—and some old clothing.—
The spirit, though apparently free from the The spirit, though apparently free from its earthly tenement, was confined within the nar-row compass of an old glass bottle. The "grand inquest, wisely concluding that such objects were not fit subjects for their wise deliberations, did not dilligently inculre into the matter, but repaired to a neighboring village, where a large body of (wood) ruffians had assembled, with an ample supply of spirits, for the purpose of devising ways and means for removing the ancient landmarks and sites of the county.— The cause of the removalists appearing to be dead, the inquest sat upon the carcass till they found their verdict. That verdict will be made known to your renders on the second Tuesday of October next, but at present it remains mystery to your correspondent at Every school boy that has read Robinson Crusoe,—and what school boy has not read the adventures of that "ancient mariner"?—will always remember the lived control of the ways remember the lively curiosity with which that unfortunate gentleman regarded the soli-tary footprint which he discovered on the shore of his lonely island. It is with some such curiosity that the observer regards the footprint which forms the subject of this sketch. It is to be seen on the upper surface of a block of stone that is built into a culvert on the Ebensburg and Cresson railroad, in Cambria county, Penn-

The footprint is plainly that of a gigantic human being. It is the impression of the left foot, and measures just fifteen inches in length, six inches in breadth across the ball of the foot, and four inches in breadth just under the incharge will be opened at as early a day as possi-ble, and no one needs to be assured of the high character of an educational institution under the guardianship of such able instruction who was sufficient for hims p. The foot that made this in YFOsslor Cesprotected by some thin covering. At the toe, the thickness of the sole of this article may be distinctly seen. It seems to have been about the one-fourth of an inch thick. That this sole was soft and pliable is evident from the fact that it has allowed the earth underneath to conform to the shape of the foot. Under the instep is a slight swell, like that which is made by stepping into the soft moist ground in a pliable, thin-soled slipper. The entire impression is most perfectly formed and leaves no question that it was made by a human foot, protected by a thin covering. At the right side of the heel and a little back of it, there is an indentation like that made sometimes when one walks through the soft yielding ground—as though the foot had been shuffled into its place. At the toe is a slight shelving under, as when one slips for-ward a little after "putting his foot down." The ground over which the individual walked when he left his footprint to be wondered at in our day, was not mud, but a fine, wet, white sand. If it had been mud, a creature of such great weight would have sunk several inches tions as heavy drops of rain sometimes leave upon a soft sandy surface; there are no marks of rain drops in the footprint itself.

The rock into which that soft wet sand has hardened is a solid, close grained grit, stained in places by the red oxide of Iron, and with seams running through it of the same color, as though a part of it had been deposited in fer-ruginous water. The footprint and the rock may furnish a text for some American Hugh Miller to enlarge upon.

The Mitrailleur. This is a French cannon The Mitrailleur. This is a French cannon that throws 137 one ounce balls at once, or 800 in a minute. The inventor is no relation to J. J. Murphy, who sells made-up clothing at No. 109 Clinton street, Johnstown, cheaper than ever, and has a large supply of all kinds. Take your greenbacks to James and he will clothe you so nice that you won't know yourself. He keeps all kinds of gent's furnishing goods and underclothing. underclothing.

Metre.—The French measure distance by metres, kilometres, etc. A metre is thirty-nine inches, a kilometre is nearly two-thirds of a mile, or 3,300 feet, or 1,100 yards—about as many yards as N. F. Carrell sells of dry goods in a day or so, at No. 215 Main street, Johnstown, opposite the Opera House, where the reader can al-ways get cheap dry goods and groceries and find nice clerks and a nice boss to wait on them.

Clothing.—There's a spirit above and a spirit below, and a spirit to dress, and so here we go, to Mr. Mayer's Store, where one can find, we go, to Mr. Shayer s store, where one can find, any kind of goods to please the mind. Made-up clothing for man or boy, and of such styles as gives much joy, at 214 Opera House, Main street, Johnstown. Cloths, easimeres, summer clothing, dress coats, line vests, shirts, underclothing and gent's furnishing goods, all going for a mere song. Call and get a bargain.

Beautiful.-She often said that I was fair as Beautiful.—She often said that I was fair as the lilly or the rose; she called me oft in summer time the fairest bud that blows; and then she went to John J. Murphy at the Mansion House corner, Johnstown, and she bought a lot of dry goods and dress goods, and her neighbors followed and bought—and bought—till the stock was exhausted; then Murphy, he went east and bought—and bought—till the stock was recruited, So it goes at Murphy's every day.

Bangin' on the Rhine.—While the Prussians are Bangin' on the Rhine, Leopold & Bro., No. 241 Main street, Johnstown, are quietly supplying the people of Cambria and Somerset counties with clothing. They have a large amount of made-up clothing which they offer as cheap as could be bought at Bingen on the Rhine, at New York on the Hudson, or Philadelphia on the Delaware. We desire our readers phia on the Delaware. We desire our readers to call and buy clothing from this firm at No. 241 Main street, Johnstown.

The Very Best .- Munson's Copper Tubular Lightning Rod, with Spiral Flanges, has been erected on thousands of buildings in all parts of the United States; and in a test of thirteen years, no instance of their inefficiency has oc-curred. It has received the first premiums at many State Fairs and Institutes, and was never beaten in any scientific contest. It has been endorsed by over five hundred Professors of Colleges and scientific men, as the best rod ever invented, possessing all the elements re-quired to protect buildings from lightning. Its power surpasses twenty iron rods, or a solid copper rod an inch and a half thick. It does not get out of order, but will endure as long as the building stands on which it is erected. No holes are made in slate or tin roofs, and in every respect the utmost sutisfaction is guaranteed.— The attention of Architects and Builders is respectfully called to the merits of this Manufactured by LOCKHART & Co., 234 street, Pittsburgh, and put up in Cambria county only by RICHARD JONES, Johnstown, Pa., who will promptly execute work entrusted to him in the most perfect and satisfactory manner.
