THE Huntingdon Globe, one of the organs of the Radical party in that county, thus speaks of the result of the late election in that heretofore Republican stronghold. No allegation of fraud is made, but Mr. Morrell's defeat in that county is accounted for on other and satisfactory grounds :

The result in this county is just what we expected it would be-and just what we said Mr. Morrell 999 majority-now there is a majority of 586 against him-and why? the men who united with the Democrats last fall to cru-h as good Republicans as Morrell, Scott & Co., dare claim to be. Our Senators have both been defeated. Mr. Woods was cut by at least two hundred Republicans who were false last year, but his vote was kept up by Democrats, who cut Petriken or Crawford, Both Democratic members are also elected. The party majority on the balance of the ticket is in the neighborhood of only 400, a heavy falling off from what the majority would have been for the whole ticket had a new man been nominated for Congress.

WE publish below from the Huntingdon Monitor, a statement showing the majorities in the different election districts in Huntingdon county in 1868, when Mr. Morrell and Col. John P. Linton were the opposing candidates for Congress, as well as the majorities in the same districts tor Mr. Morrell and Mr. Speer at the late election. The figures are decidedly interesting and instructive. DANIEL W. VOORHEES, one of the most distinguished and eloquent advocates in the last Congress of the principles of the Democratic party, has been re elected his majority was only about 160. We take that to be a high but well deserved compliment to a noble Democrat and an honest, faithful Congressman.

the Democrats hereabouts are rejoicing, and the Republicans trying to cypher out the causes which led to the unexpected overthrow in the Congressional and Senatorial contests. A very prevalent cause of such reverses, or miscalculations is a lack of votes. Just why there was a lack of votes is not so readily solved. In reference to the Con-Merriman, we understand, is descendant of gressional contest, the result is almost as astonishing to the Democrats as the Republicans. It is well known there was considerable open opposition to Mr. Morrell in his own party, and also much lukewarm support on the part of many Republicans; but was also known that he would receive Democratic votes, and his election was considered certain. Resting upon a certainty, his friends were not as active as they should have been, and they are now awakened to the fact of his defeat by only 11 votes, a resuit they might have changed by five minutes work .- Altoona Tribune.
