BOMANCE OF A BROASH WHEEL -A few years since a well known farmer, living near Cathe, started to Kansas City with a load of wheat. After fixing his two link mother less children as comfortable as posible until his return, with a good-bye kiss and many promises of good things to be brought back from Bunsas City, he whippedup his team, and moved slowly along the ridge road east

Now, farmer Joyce is a pactical minded man; disbelieves in love, Cupid, spirits, good or bad, and is down upon what he terms "book larning" Wille jogging along, ruminating upon the protuble rise and fall in grain, his wagon suddenly came to a full stop by one wheel breking off from the axle. Joyce, being a gractical man, put his ideas into practice, aid was soon moving along with a rail dragging nuder the broken axle, with the wheel laid upon the top of

"All for the bet," thought he; "there may be a rise in gain before I get to town." So he hauled up at the next house on Indian creek and called for assistance. But the assistence he desired was not to be bad, the form having benowned and managed by a buxom widow and her little boy. But Joyce could leave its wagon there, so he could, and a little God would not burt him, said the accommodating widow-all of which he agreed to, and straightway unhitched his

Now, whether fate had arranged the programmeof the broken wagon wheel, we cannot say, but Cupid certainly had a hand in the sequel, for when the Johnson county farmer returned to his lonely children, betwees Olathe and Gardner, he took back the blooming widow as his wife. The contract was made and consummated within twentyfour hours. The affair caused no little gossip around the neighborhood, but the happy couple care little for what is said ; like Bar kis, both were willing and both are happy; perhaps more so than some we know of who courted seven years before marriage. - Kansas City Bulletin.

THE QUESTI N ANSWERED -Somebody -a man, of course-inquires why, when Eve was manufactured from the spare-rib, a servant wasn't made at the same time to wait on her? Somebody else-a woman. we imagine-replies in the following strain :

"But Adam never came whining to Eve, and with a ragged stocking on to be darued. collar string to be sewed on, or a glove to mend, 'right away, quick now!' Because he never read the newspaper until the sun stretching himself, yawled out, 'Ain't supmade the fire, and hung the tea keetle over radishes, pealed the potatoes, and did everything else he ought to do. He milked the cows, fed the chickens, and looked after the pigs himself. He never brought home half loafed around corner groceries when Eve was rocking little Cain's cradle at home. In and wasn't under the impression that it disgraced a man to lighten a wife's cares. That's the reason why Eve didn't want a hired girl; and with it was the reason why her descendants did."

CURIOSITIES IN AMERICAN HISTORY .anniversary, the 4th of July, viz: John Ad. as above. ams, Thomas Jefferson, and James Moor e. George Washington, when he retired from the Presidency, was in the sixty-sixth year of his age. His successor, John Adams, when he left, was sixty-six years old. After him came Thomas Jefferson, James Madison and James Monroe. Mr Jefferson was sixty-six, Mr. Malison had just passed his sixtysixth year, and Mr. Monroe was in his sixtyseventh, when they respectively left the Presidential office.

From 1810 to 1825, the Presidential offic was filled by Virginians. During the same interval, with the exception of four years, the Vice-Presidential office was steadily held by citizens of New York. John Adams negociated the treaty of peace that concluded the war of the Revolution with England. His son, John Quincy Adams, was a leading envoy, and negotiated the treaty which ended the second war with England, in 1814. His son, Charles Francis Adams, at the third great crisis of our country, was our Minister to England during the recent war, from 1861 to 1865, the period which covers the Alabama claims question.

THE LOCAL PAPER - What tells us so readily the standard of a town or a city as the appearance of its newspaper? And its youth or its age can as well be determined by the observing as by a personal notice. The enterprise of its citizens is depicted by its advertisements-their liberality by the looks of the paper. Some papers show a good, solid, healthy foundation, plethoric purses, and a well to do appearance generally; others show a striving to centend with the grasping thousands around them, trying hard to wrench an existence from their close fisted communities. An occasional meteoric display in its columns of telegraphic or local, or of editorial, shows what it could do if it had the means; but it cannot continue in the expensive work until support comes, which ought to be readily granted. A newspaper is like a church-it wants fostering at the commencement and for a few years; then, as a general thing, it can walk alone and reflect credit on its location. Take your home paper. It gives you more news of immediate interest than any other paper can possibly do. It talks for you when other localities belie you. It stands up for your rights, and you always have a champion in your home paper, and one that certainly deserves to be well sustained. Your interests are kindred and equal, and you must rise or fall together. Therefore it is to your interest to support your home paper-not grudgingly, but in a liberal spirit; as a pleasure and not us a disagreeable duty. It is an investment that will amply repay the expendi-

THE meanest man in Ohio is a gravegrower, and lives on Catawba island. His crop was so large this year that he was obliged to employ a number of town girls to assist in gathering his grapes, and who, he discovered, were so fond of grapes that they would occasionally eat a few. To prevent this the grape grower came to town and purchased a lot of wax which he present-"chaw that while picking."
