

Cambridge Freeman.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 15, 1870.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

As serious if not fatal accident to Mr. Wm. Bradley, of Loreto, came very near resulting from the accidental discharge of a pistol in the hands of Mr. Harry Jacob, on Monday last.

The latter gentleman was endeavoring to sell the weapon at the time, and while handling it the pistol went off, the ball fortunately striking a knife in Mr. Bradley's pantaloons pocket, from which it glanced off without producing any serious injury than a slight flesh wound.

Had the ball struck half an inch lower down it would have severed one of the main arteries. A fire was discovered between the ceiling and upper floor of the Little chapel building, located near the old Catholic church in this place, now used for school purposes, on Saturday morning last, by a little girl who had entered the building for the purpose of getting her books, and who immediately set the place on fire.

As a sad affair took place in Distraever township, Westmoreland county, a few days ago, which the Greenburg Herald thus details: A young man by the name of Morehead, who is not right, mentally, attacked his father, Mr. J. G. Morehead, while at breakfast, with a hatchet, and cut him so badly in the head that he cannot live. Dr. J. L. Vanvorhies, who attended the wounded man, says that quite a large piece of the fractured skull impaled over the brain, laying bare that organ.

The Ladies Fair.—This commendable and attractive enterprise, the success of which is in the full tide of successful operation, is each day not only adds to the number of beautiful articles on exhibition, but brings with it a corresponding increase in the number of visitors and patrons. Business men and others here and elsewhere are doing us very valuable and beautiful articles, and have also encouraged by their presence and their patronage the good work now in progress, thereby winning not only the gratitude of the ladies in charge, but also the admiration of the public.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.—From the close of our report last week up to the time of going to press this week the following cases have been disposed of: Patrick Lynch vs. Christian Noel. Appeal. Verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $11.00. Mrs. Melton Hill, vs. Use of J. O. Ellis, vs. George Trent. Feigned issue. Jury awarded plaintiff $196.03.

Heber's Heirs vs. Elizabeth Heber. Ejectment. Verdict for plaintiff. Adam Rusk, convicted of larceny, was sentenced to fifteen months in Western Penitentiary, and Justiff Reib, found guilty of assault and battery on four counts, was sentenced to six months in each case, and to jail for six months.

Local Correspondence.

JOHNSTOWN, Dec. 12, 1870.

DEAR FREEMAN.—I shall make it my task on this occasion to describe some of the late improvements in and around Johnstown. The first and greatest of these is the STEEL RAIL MILL.

This building has three distinct apartments.—The first is the engine house and building containing the machinery for the mill. This is large of itself and the receiver for air fills the entire upper part, and is an immense iron building, something like a huge boiler, only ten times as large. The second building is the cupolas for melting the metal, the retorts, and the hollow, upright metal pillars, or tubes, through which the hydrostatic pressure is applied to the casters. The third building, just being erected, is intended for the rolls, hammers, shears and punches for completing the rail.

The second building contains the cupolas for melting the metal, the retorts, and the hollow, upright metal pillars, or tubes, through which the hydrostatic pressure is applied to the casters. The third building, just being erected, is intended for the rolls, hammers, shears and punches for completing the rail.

THE MILLVILLE LOCK.—This is a very neat two story brick building on Cinder street. The first story is used for cells and an office for the Burgess. The second story is used for a council room. This room is about thirty feet square. The entire structure is put up in good taste.

THE WOOLLEN FACTORY.—We should have noticed the large Woollen Factory at Woodvale, as among the great enterprises of the place, but as it is unfinished, a notice of it will be postponed for another chapter.

OUR LOCAL NEWS.—Our local news is absolutely so scarce that we could not write even a short letter of accidents. Why it is so we do not know, unless the rumor that the world was to come to a sudden end last Tuesday, and as the world is not yet ended, it is probable that something may happen yet worth recording.

ST. AUGUSTINE DEC. 12, 1870. DEAR FREEMAN.—As I promised to give you the particulars of the recent Fair for the benefit of the church at this place, I shall undertake a resume of the prizes drawn, so far as I have learned them, but cannot give them in as much detail as at other days and times. Michael Waltz, the piano tuner; Mathias Shank, of Allegheny township, the gold watch; Mrs. Susan Wagner the dress pattern.

LETTER FROM OILBORO.

LAWRENCEBURG, (Parker's Landing,) December 9, 1870.

FRIEND MAC.—As I am not a very good hand at composition, you are at liberty to reject any thing that don't suit you, either in the present or any future letters I may send you. I am, however, very anxious to send you the full particulars of the disastrous fire which occurred in this place on Sunday last; still I cannot resist from writing you a few lines in connection therewith. The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property. Six oil rigs were also destroyed, and the loss to the community was up a small shanty and was doing a thriving business, and one long business to have completed during the week, and on the other foot, whereat any of his numerous Altoona friends (of which place he is a native) would be proud of those of any other locality will find, the very best accommodations and the most moderate charges for the winter season.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

LETTER FROM OILBORO.

LAWRENCEBURG, (Parker's Landing,) December 9, 1870.

FRIEND MAC.—As I am not a very good hand at composition, you are at liberty to reject any thing that don't suit you, either in the present or any future letters I may send you. I am, however, very anxious to send you the full particulars of the disastrous fire which occurred in this place on Sunday last; still I cannot resist from writing you a few lines in connection therewith.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

LETTER FROM OILBORO.

LAWRENCEBURG, (Parker's Landing,) December 9, 1870.

FRIEND MAC.—As I am not a very good hand at composition, you are at liberty to reject any thing that don't suit you, either in the present or any future letters I may send you. I am, however, very anxious to send you the full particulars of the disastrous fire which occurred in this place on Sunday last; still I cannot resist from writing you a few lines in connection therewith.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

LETTER FROM OILBORO.

LAWRENCEBURG, (Parker's Landing,) December 9, 1870.

FRIEND MAC.—As I am not a very good hand at composition, you are at liberty to reject any thing that don't suit you, either in the present or any future letters I may send you. I am, however, very anxious to send you the full particulars of the disastrous fire which occurred in this place on Sunday last; still I cannot resist from writing you a few lines in connection therewith.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

New Advertisements.

AGENTS WANTED FOR PALACE AND HOTEL, OR PHASES OF LONDON LIFE.

By C. W. Kirwan, the Well known Journalist. THE BEST LARGEST COMMISSION PAID. This Book is a beautiful Octavo of 666 pages, embellished with 200 engravings and a finely executed map of London, and contains a full and complete and accurate description of the city of London, and of the great Metropolis of the World. Its pictures are from life, and yet so well and romantic that they almost challenge one's credulity. It displays in bold relief the appalling misery of the poor and the reckless luxury of the rich. Circular and sample pages sent free. Address: BELKNAP & BLISS, Dec. 8, 1870-4t. Hartford, Conn.

Best Inducements! This Quarter's 15 Numbers SENT FREE to all subscribers before Dec. 31st, 1870. Next year's 15 Numbers of MOORE'S RURAL NEW YORKER! THE GREAT ILLUSTRATED RURAL AND FAMILY WEEKLY, FOR TOWN AND COUNTRY. THE RURAL NEW YORKER, is not only the largest, best and cheapest, but by far the most complete and reliable of any paper or Class in the World! National in Character, Ably Edited, superbly Illustrated and Printed, in the BEST AMERICAN WEEKLY! It is the Standard Authority on all branches of AGRICULTURE, HORTICULTURE, &c. As a Literary and Family Paper it is unrivaled in many of the best families all over the Union, and is the most complete and reliable of any paper or Class in the World! National in Character, Ably Edited, superbly Illustrated and Printed, in the BEST AMERICAN WEEKLY! It is the Standard Authority on all branches of AGRICULTURE, HORTICULTURE, &c. As a Literary and Family Paper it is unrivaled in many of the best families all over the Union, and is the most complete and reliable of any paper or Class in the World!

THE NEW YORK METHODIST. An Eight Page Weekly. Now in its Eleventh Year, it contains a Serial Story for Families, a new Children's Story every week, Chats with the Little Folks, a variety of interesting and timely articles, full Departments of Religious and Social Intelligence, Price Reduced to 10 cents per copy, or cash commissions to canvassers. Subscriptions close on the 1st of January, 1871. Address: ADAMS & CO., 21 Nassau St., N. Y.

HOLIDAY JOURNAL FOR 1871. Contains a Christmas Story, Splendid Plays, Magic Sports, &c.; 48 pages; illustrated. Sent Free on receipt of one stamp for postage. Address: ADAMS & CO., 21 Nassau St., N. Y.

TRAVELERS' LIFE AND ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY. CAPITAL, $1,000,000. Guarantees LIFE and ENDOWMENT Policies of all approved companies. Pays on death or total disability. Policy in force from the first day of the month. Has paid $700,000 per day for six years in indemnity to policy-holders.

UPHAM'S DEPICATORY POWDER. Removes superfluous hair in five minutes, without injury to the skin. Sent by mail for 25c. UPHAM'S ASTHMA CURE. Relieves most violent paroxysms in five minutes and effects a speedy cure. Price 25c by mail.

ROYAL HAVANA LOTTERY. Prizes cashed and information furnished by GEORGE UPHAM, Providence, R. I. Send for circular to A. THOMAS, 320 Washington St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to the Florence Hotel—the result being the depriving of some forty families of their homes and some cases much of their movable property.

THE FIRE.—The fire broke out about 2 o'clock in the morning, being first discovered in the rear of the Linden billiard saloon, that portion of said building having first been saturated with kerosene. The fire spread rapidly, and in five or six o'clock there was not a building left on one side of the street from the Butter House to