EBENSBURG, PA. SATURDAY MORNING, : MARCH 4, 1871.

The San Domingo Job.

We have read several letters, written by various newspaper correspondents from New York, who sailed in the Tennessee with the three San Domingo Commissioners. They all concur in the admiration of the great fertili ty of Dominica, which is equally true of all the West India islands, but all equally agree as to the lazy and worthless character of the inhabitants, who acknowledge Bacz as their President. May the kind fates save this country, now and forever, from having incorporated into the body politic these ignorant and degraded aborigines of the tropics. It is now said that the Commissioners will not leave San Domingo until some time in April. Their report cannot, therefore, be made to the President much before the first of May. It is safe to say, in view of the extended sejourn of the Commissioners in Grant's modern Paradise, that the insane project of annexing the disputed dominion of Bacz to this, "the greatest, the freest and most glorious country on the face of God's footstool," to use the emphatic language of Senator Wilson, of Massachunetts, has, for the present, and we earnestly hope for all future time, gone, to use the peculiarly class ical phrase of Jim Fick, on a memorable occasion, "where the woodbine twineth." Yet the Commissioners and their Secretaries, printe extract : in true imitation of the style and habits of a genuine Elijah Pogram, proceeded, on their discerns the living resemblance of our nascent arrival, to make speaches to the Dominicans, not one of whom understood a single word, of what the speakers said. Gen. Sigel experimented in pure German to his half-naked audience, and, as he confessed, might just as well have talked to them in the musical and sweet-sounding language of the Choctaw or Cherokee Indians. Dr. Howe, of Boston, husband and servant of the illustrious Julia Ward Howe, of glorious female suffrage memory, also made a spread eagle speech .-In his excited view Dominica is a perfect Arcadia, where everything is lovely and of good report. How is the following extract for high from the reported speech of Dr. Howe to the sans culottes of San Domingo

"I find myself in danger of having my reason carried away by my senses. All my senses are, as it were, subjugated by my surroundings. I find the most beautiful island that I have ever seen. The balmy atmosphere, the mild all my senses enlisted and carried away in your favor, and although I may not say what I shall advise my countrymen to do on the subject of ly inclined to annex myself and family to this beautiful island."

DEATH's Doings,---We regret exceedingly to chronicle the sudden and tragic death of Hon, John N. Conyngham, a well known Judge of this State, whose residence for more than forty years had been at Wilkesbarre, Luzerne county. He was the President Judge of that Judicial District for thirty years, but resigned his office about a year ago, and on that occasion was the recipient of a handsome testimonial from the members of the bar of his district. In 1850 and 1851 he represented Luzerne county in the Assembly of this State, in which body he covet, what does a ruthless party, so clothed occupied a high position for great ability and acknowledged integrity. HON. THOMAS H. BURROWES, President of the Agricultural College of Penusylvania, died at the College in Centre county on last Saturday. He had been at one time a prominent Whig politician in this State, and was Secretary of the Commonwealth, from December, 1835, to January 1839. He was appointed Superintendent of Common Schools in 1860 by the late Governor Wm. F. Packer, and was a devoted friend of the system. He was first Superintendent of the Orphans' Schools in this State, having been | corporation in the United States, controlling appointed to that position by Gov. Curtin. THE joint resolution of Congress, removing the political disabilities of Dr. Miller, a Democratic United States Senator from Georgia, having been signed by the President, Dr. Miller has taken his seat in the Senate. His term of office will expire to-day, which ends the present session of Congress, but the Legislature of his State being largely democratic, his re-election may be confidently anticipated. When Dr. Miller took his seat in the Senate, it was the first time since the commencement of the rebellion, in the spring of 1861, that all the States in the Union, amounting to thirty seven, have been represented in that body. It is to be hoped that it is an auspicicus omen for the future peace and tranquility of the country.

The War on the Ballot-Box.

The election enforcement bill, better known as the "Bayonet Election Law," has passed both branches of Congress and of course will be signed by Grant, as he has shown heretofore that he is a mere pliant instrument to register the decrees of a fanatical and corrupt Congress. It is, in all its unparalleled and monstrous provisions, a huge and alarming stride towards the centralization of all power over the ballot-box in the hands of the general government. It is an unexampled instance of Congressional usurpation of what, since the very organization of the government, has been by comexpressed and solemnly reserved rights of the several States. It was so pronounced and distinctly recognized in one of the reso-gradually but surely stealing and filching away the sacred and constitutional rights of States, as well as of the people. As Mr. Vickers, a Senator from Maryland, said in his speech in opposition to this high-handed

When the bill was before the House Judge Woodward, of this State, made a powerful, but of course unsuccessful, argument against it, from which we take the following appro-

empire to that which King William and Ris. marck are building up to bless the Germans, and very soon, if the people continue power in the hands that wield it now, the resemblance of the two empires will become so palpable that common and uninspired men will not only see but will feel what the President hails in the future, the ble-sings of a military despotism. All our legislation points this way. The bill now before us is one of the steps in this downward road. It would be more manly and fair it bore its real purpose upon its frontlets -Why not call it a bill to destroy the State right of regulating suffrage ? Or, a bill to prevent white men from voting? Or, a bill to continne the Republican party in power? Why christen it with the grim sareasm of a "bill to to save him no time was to be lost. For a enforce the right 'of voting?" It is not my surpose to analyze the details of the bill. That has been sufficiently done by those who have gone before me. The effect of it will be to take the control of the elections out of the hands of State officers, acting under State law, and deliver it over to irresponsible Federal supervisors, who are armed with the power of the posse comitates; of the army and navy; reach him. Brayely she tugged at one end of arrests without warrant; of challenging of it, while he clutched the other end with voters, inspecting ballots and supervising returns; and they will be very awkward agents and even temperature, everything addresses of the ruling power if, with all these appliances, itself to my senses de bien etre. My eyes are they cannot produce any result that may be dazzled by the beauty of the enchanting scene- required. True it is that all this machinery is ry. My sense of taste is gratified by the lus | limited to elections, for Federal officers; but around us; and now comes your music, and so | time and place at which Congressmen are | they arrived without being noticed by any charms away my senses of hearing, that I find elected, the practical working of the machine one. Few were the words spoken on the ry will give to Federal officers the same control over elections for State officers that they will have in the choice of presidential electors ed, and before the ice shall disappear from annexing the Dominican Republic, I feel strong and Congressmen. And if the States, to escone this intolerable tyranny, should fix State elections on other days, and after the fashion of former times, should choose their officers unawed by Federal bayonets, what would it avail in the presence of the high and unconstitutional powers, which Congress has already arrogated to itself? What State right has not already been denied and shamelessly trampled upon? What cares the mad spirit of fanaticism for State rights, State protests, or State legislation ? With the Supreme Court packed and gagged, with four bundred millions of tribute money annually wrong from the people, with an army to collect revenues and control elections, with a navy to absorb twenty millions of money annually for doing nothing but to make itself a laughing stock of the Thrilling Adventure on Lake Cham-plain—Breaking Thro' the Ice 'fwo Miles from Shore—Remarkable Hero-ism of a Young Lady.

An incident so romantic and unusual, and with a denouement so pleasing, occurred near Plattsburg, N. Y., one day recently, that the particulars are worth relating .-Lake Champlain, on which Plattsburg is situated, is one of the most beautiful sheets of water probably in America, and Cumberland Bay, where one of the most brilliant naval engagements of the war of 1814 was fought and won by Commodore McDonough of the American fleet, against the British fleet under Commodore Downie, fornishes one of the grandest skating parks or pends one would wish to see. It is the favorite mon consent regarded as one of the plainly resort of young ladies and gentlemen of this vicinity on moonlight evenings. One evening a short time since a young lady and gentleman of this village, who had frequently been skating on the bay before, went out lutions adopted by the Chicago Convention on the bay, but believing in the old axiom in 1868, when Grant was nominated for the that "Two is company," went to an unfrequented part, where they could enjoy the The men now ruling the country, are skating and each other's society namolested. After skating for some little time near the

Here they found the ice in beautiful condition, and the gentleman was proceeding to do the grapavine, forward legislation, the bill ought to be entitled "An and backward roll, together with many act to prevent the free and intelligent voters of other fancy figures, only known to the acthe United States from exercising the right of complished skaters, when suddenly the ice gave way beneath him, and in a moment he found himself struggling in the water, and unable to extricate himself, the ice breaking as fast as he attempted to raise himself on its edge. She first took off her jacket and dress, and tying them together undertook to reach him with one end; but it was too short, as the yielding ice warned her when she moved toward him and endeavored to throw him one end. What more could she do? She hesitated a moment; then, slipping off her gaiters, both stockings were soon tied to the end of the dress and jacket, and yet it was too short. Meantime, the young man was rapidly becoming exhausted, and if she was moment her hands disappeared in the drapery about her waist, and then something il on the ice about her feet-it was her boop-skirt. This was quickly severed into half-asdozen pieces, and added to the jacket, dress and stockings, and, to her great delight, this made the line long enough to the grip of a man who knew that was all which stood between him and eternity. In a few minutes she landed him safely on the journey home; but they must have been to the purpose, as the wedding suits are orderour beautiful lake this spring they will be

A STRANGE STORY ABOUT GEN. GRANT. -A few days after the capture of Fort Sumter, in April, 1861, when the voice of the whole country was for war, we had a conversation with a gentleman who was an officer in the Mexican war, and who besides, in Ohio, had obtained eminence as a civilian, that we have often thought of since. Said he to us: "I saw to-day an old comrade of mine in Mexico, a West Pointer, but who ago. I asked him why he was not in uniform, and expressed my surprise that he unteers. His reply was, "I think you and I have had fighting enough. What I want in this war is a place by which I can make some money." He sought to get that place here. He made an effort to be selected by the Government as a buyer of horses, but failed. He next endeavored to borrow a few hundred dollars from a military friend | tant rates of toll and freight having passed of ours, then and now in the regular army. for the purp se of entering into a business where he would get army patronage. A CURIOUS PHENOMENON -- A rumbling noise, which no one can exactly illustrate or describe, was heard by a number of persons in different parts of town on Sunday evening about six o'clock. We noticed it distinctly in our room, looking around to see what had produced the sound, but failed to discover it, and were afterwards much surprised to learn that others at a distance had received precisely the same impression of it we had. No cars were running on the railroad within fifty miles at the time, and it could not therefore have been the reverberation of a running train sometimes heard at a great distance. Quien cabe?-Lewis-
