Com'th vs. Joseph Tully. The defendant in this case was charged with stealing from the residence of Dr. H. W. Marbourg, in Johnstown, on the 20th of October last, a clock and a pair of rubber boots. The prisoner, being unable to employ counsel, J. P. Linton, Esq., was assigned to defend him. A plea to the jurisdiction of the court was urged in behalf of the prisoner and his acquittal asked for on the ground that he was properly indicted in the District Court of Cambria county. The application was overruled but under the instruction of the Court the jury returned a special verdict of guilty and that the offence was committed within the jurisdiction of the District Court. Under the finding the case will likely he taken to the Supreme Court and the question involved in a number of other cases from Johnstown, as to whether they are triable in the Cambria county sessions, will be definitely

The defendant in this case was accused of breaking and entering the store of John M. Stewart, in Johnstown, and abstracting therefrom about twenty five dollars in money. After a full and fair trial, lasting nearly an entire day, the jury went out and soon returned with a verdict of not guilty. One civil case-John W. Roberts and David Howels vs. William Tiley-in Assumpsit, was tried, the jury returning a verdict of $489 for

OUR EIGHTH TOWN COUNCIL .- On Friday, March 16th, 1832, the eighth town council was elected. As per returns filed, it appears that John Williams for Burgess, and William Davis, D. H. Roberts, Johnston Moore, Robert Young, and John Erans for Councilmen, were Rowland Humphreys was chosen High Constable. The minor officers chosen were: Town Clerk, Moses Canan; Treasurer, John Ivory ; Superintendent of Hay Scales, Richard Lewis; Street Commissioner, David Harris; Street Regulators, Isaac Teeter, Jas. Rhey, and Mathew Buchanan; Firemen, Jas. Murray, Charles Litzinger, and Richard Barr. March 26th, on motion, it was resolved "that the Treasurer be directed to borrow, on the faith of the borough, the sum of $40, the same to be applied to the payment of debts now due by the borough " On the 26th of June, the Burgess "issued his warrant and duplicate to the High Constable to collect tixes to the amount of $123.3034." August 10th, a committee was appointed to "examine if any nuisances exist in the borough," but no report appears to have been made October 27th, a culvert, 50 feet long, 2 feet wide, 18 inches high, stone, was ordered to be built at the intersection of Lloyd and Caroline streets. March 22d, 1833, a statement of "the situation of the funds of the borough" was ordered to be printed in the "Sky," and about ten o'clock that night, the eighth council put on their overcoats, walked out into the cold, and went around town thereafter just as anybody does who holds no official position .- Alleghanian

NEW RAILROAD PROJECT .- The citizens of Carrolltown, Cambria county, and parts thereunto sejecent, are alive to their interests They have now before the Legislature a charter authorizing the construction of a railroad from Ebensburg to Carrolltown, a distance of ten miles. There being no objection to a road between those points, the charter will, of course, be granted. The road will connect and family. This amount was promptly paid, at Ebeasburg with the Ebeasburg and Cresson up a highway to the great body of timber and coal land lying in the northeastern portion of Cambria, and many fortunes will be realized thereby. Should this road be made, it will not stop at Carrolltown The timber and coal land still farther on will demand the same ta cilities for outlet to market, and unless headed off by other roads, will cross the State to a connection with the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad .- Altoona Tribune.

ADMITTED .- Another member, in the person of our talented young friend, Geo. A Berry Esq., has this week been admitted to the Cam bria county bar, and we feel sure that his professional career will be as brilliant and we hone as successful as his examination was creditable and in all respects highly satisfac tory. Mr. Berry possesses in an eminent de gree those qualifications of mind and heart which befit him for the calling he has chosen. and if he does not make his mark high up on the future scroll of fame we are much mistaken in our prediction. The admission of Mr. B. was commemorated on the following evening grammar and book-keeping are taught. ALTOONA CITY, March 8, 1871. Friend Mac-It is with feelings of unfeigned sorrow that I am called on this week to chron-icle the death of Mr. Charles Moreland, who departed this life at his residence in this city on Monday last, 6th inst. After a brief but pain-ful illness, of only seven days duration, "His spirit tried the mercies of his God, In whom he lived and strongly trusted." He was one who by his many excellent qualities endeared himself to a large circle of friends and although many men more prominent and of more mental ability have passed away, none there were I venture to say who left a better proof behind them. record behind them, or won more fully the esrecord beamd them, or won more buy the esteem of all men with whom they held social or business intercourse, than the humble subject of this notice. Mr. Moreland had been in the employ of the Pa. R. R. Co. as switch-tender ever since the opening of the road, and during all that time he was ever faithful, prompt and all that time he was ever faithful, prompt and reliable in the discharge of his highly important duties; and in his death it is but just to say that the Company has lost one of its most efficient and trusted employees. In all the relations of life, Churkey as he was faithful engles was and trusted employees. In all the relations of life, Charley, as he was familiarly called, was uniformly amiable, kind and courteous—qualities which, in connection with his well-known integrity and honesty of purpose, won for him the confidence and respect of all who enjoyed his acquaintance. His strong Christian faith and strictly moral principles were known of all men, and it is fair to presume that these remen, and it is fair to presume that these re-deeming virtues deprived the "dark valley and shadow of death" of all its conceivable tecrors, and enabled him to meet with resignation and deceased, but presume it to have been about 40 years. He has left a good and devoted wife and many relatives, besides carnest friends without number, to mourn his early death. His mortal remains were interred in the Catholic cemetery here to-day. Requiescat in pater.

Radical candidates for President Judge and District Attorney are becoming as plentiful as Grant's relatives. John Dean, Esq., our present (no further allusion to Grant) efficient District

Attorney, however, seems to have the inside track, so far as the Judgship question is concerned. Mr. Dean is a comparatively young man, but he possesses in an eminent degree the essential qualification for a good Judge. He is a gentleman of the highest order of intellect, of strong but impartial mind, and one against whose infegrity no heath of slander has every whose integrity no breath of slander has ever or can ever with truth be uttered. I have had he pleasure of knowing Mr. Dean from child. good up, and I can bear testimony to his high noral character and unblemished fame; and my conviction is, should be be elevated to the igh and responsible position with which his name has been associated, that he will adorn and keep untarnished the judicial ermine. But while I say this, I have no idea that he will eve each the goal of his ambition, for even should he succeed in securing his party nomination, he will find such formidable Banks to the political stream that neither his fact or talent will avail aught in overcoming, and thus will be be ented from crossing over to the promised land. A little episode in domestic life has just had ts termination in our lively city. From what I can learn about it, it appears that several months ago a Prussian gentleman and his wife and three children domiciled themselves in this "neck of timber," the husband and father seeking and obtaining comployment in one of the Company's shops. Thus fixed, things moved on in the even tenor of their way me, but finally our Prussian friend, growing tired of his humdrum life in this vicinity, pulled up stakes and wended his way to other scenes. His wife, whom he left behind with his family, after waiting six long months to hear from her truant lord, concluded to follow suit, and soon thereafter departed for the city of Gotham. There she instituted a diligent search for her husband, but failing to find him, ccepfed consolation in the shape of a stalwart erman friend whom she had known in the fatherland. To him she related her troubles, and he, being of a sympathizing turn of mind, roposed to become father to her children and shand to herself. Nothing loth, she accepted his proposal, and ere long the two returned to this city as man and wife. Here, however, the noneymoon had scarcely been entered upon when the second husband put in an appearance and laid claim to his wife and family. A scene of course ensued but after considerable recrimination, crying and confusion, matters were compromised by husband No. I agreeing to accept $25 in good and lawful money and one night's lodging as full compensation for all his house and the city apparently well contented with his bargain. According to your correspondent "Soltero." Altoona is not the only place afflicted with nar-row-minded and bigoted school directors. May the land soon be delivered of them. T. I. M.

JOHNSTOWN, March 7, 1871. Dear Freeman-The "ghost" is a living reality. We will have a court here in spite of the Fates, and I will tell you just here how it will be done. I told you the same story years ago. The boroughs will be consolidated, a city incorporated and a city municipal court established. This arrangement will in no way interfere with the ounty court or the county buildings. It will be a fair compromise and a floal settlement of the vexed question. The "ghost" will disappear, the city court will flourish like a green buy tree and "we'll all be gay and happy still. Weston has come - Nasby has come. CHERRYTREE, INDIANA CO., \

March 6, 1871. Dear Freeman-Thinking that a few words from Cherrytree would not be amiss in your eolumns, and that they might prove interesting to your readers, I take the liberty of addressing you. Cherrytree at the present time is in the climax of her glory. The reason for this is found in the fact that the river is in excellent condition for rafting purposes, and when that happens Cherrytree is always in an uproar. he river banks are lined with square timber, oom logs and spars, and the hardy rattmen are busy preparing for a trip down the Susquehan-na. May success attend their efforts. Mr. Jonathan Langem had one of his legs badly fractured a few days ago while engaged in moving some heavy timber from where it was piled. The timber began to move, and before he could get out of the way one of his legs were caught between two sticks, inflicting the njury above stated. He is a resident of Gettysburg, this county.
Mr. Jeremiah Brickley, residing near this place, was also badly injured a day or two ago in a somewhat similar manner. He was at work hoisting a spar with the aid of a "gin," when the chain, becoming detached from the lever, flew off and struck Mr. Brickley, knocking him some eight or ten feet into the air, but fortu-nately and miraculously he escaped with comparatively slight injury, and is now getting along as well as could be expected. Aside from the rafting excitement, the times in this locality are mighty dull, and the chances for "beholding in those optics" a governmental promise to pay of almost any denomination are, like angel's visits, few and far between. Even the poor shoemakers, instead of getting paid promptly for repairing worn and weary soles are compelled to console themselves with the same request that is made of everybody else, which is simply to wait until after rafting.

—A D. F. living not a thousand miles from Indiana paid $78.50 for a C. O. D. box of saw-dust, all the way from New York, under the impression that it contained $500 in counterfeit greenbacks. Another in Altoona paid $45 for a box of kindling wood, but, on finding that he was swindled, attached the money in the Express agent's hands, in accordance with instructions from the Express Company, and will get his money back in due time. N. F. CARROLL is still on the close out—that is, he is closing out his stock of dry goods, fancy goods, and all other goods, at No. 215 Main street, Johnstown, where rare bargains can be had any day or the day after, if it don't come on Sunday. Those who have the money to in-vest cannot do a better thing than go to Carroll's right instanter, as he is positively shoving off his entire stock at cost prices. There is nothing like going to the store and seeing what is to be seen. Try and you'll be sure to buy.

JOHN J. MURPHY appounces that he is still the same individual he used to was, and that he can be found as usual under the Tribune office, at the old Dibert Mansion House, corner Main street. Johnstown, where he measures off more dry goods every day than one man could shake a yard-stick at. Cheap and durable dry goods, fancy goods and notions, carpets and cloths .-John J. does a rushing business and deserves it all, for he always gives his customers the best of the bargain in all the sales he makes.

C. H. P .- The war in France didn't have any effect on Coben's Hat Parior, except to induce a greater rush than ever, and of course more sales and a further reduction in prices. Where the best articles at the lowest rates are obtainable, that is where customers most do congregate, and that is what's the matter at No. 227 Main street, Johnstown, What is gold? An empty bubble. What is money? A paper trouble. But a shining hat is something, and the man who wears it is somebody.

MUST BE SOLD.—S. J. Hess & Brother, dealers in Ready-made Clothing, No. 241 Main street, Johnstown, announce that they will sell clothing cheaper than ever, until the first of April, in order to reduce their present stock of made np garments and prepare for the spring trade. Their sales are now very large, but their stock of wearing apparel is immense. Now is the acceptable time for getting great bargains from the Messrs. Hess. Never was made-up clothing sold so cheap. Call and examine prices.

JAS. J. MURPHY will have his say, and the say don e penere but go any see his immense variety of readymade clothing, and you'll be sure to see a sight worth seeing, wearing apparel worth buying. and prices worth taking advantage of. Merphy is bound to close out his winter stock, and is now selling heavy goods at unsurpassable bargains to all buyers. Johnstown Ulmton street, No. 109, is the place where the thing is did.

BENTON & WAYNE, No. 210 Main street, Johnstown, Hardware merchants, keep for sale all kinds and sizes of wagen hubs, spokes and fel-loes, cheap for cash. They have besides a great variety of hardware, horse shoes, nalls, etc.— Call with them and make a purchase.
