THE SQUIRT, "DAUNTLESS No. 1."-About two months, two months and a half, or three months ago, the Town Council of Ebensburg became oppressed with an idea. The idea was that Ebensburg ought to have a new fire engine. To return to the idea. A new engine was bought. It cost $1,200. Last Monday evening quite an enthusiastle meeting of the citizens was he'd in the Town Hall, and a programme for the exercses of the day made out. The leading feature will be a basket picule, to be held in a beautiful grove near town, and provided with swings, base ball and croquet grounds for the entertainment of all classes of persons. The day's festivities will conclued with a grand supper and ball at the new Oak Hall Gymnasium Room. Martial and brass bands are expected to be in attendance, and a general good time is anticipated by all concerned.

Last Monday evening quite an excitement was created by the discovery that the machine shop of H. B. Grumbling was on fire. A prompt application of water, however, served to check the progress of the flames before any serious damage was done. The fire is aupposed to have originated in the boiler house, caused probably by the heating of the boiler flue, which is of brick, and built solid against the wood work of the machine shop.

CARROLLTOWN, June 12, 1871. DEAR FREEMAN-A sad accident happened one of our Carroll township citizens on Saturday last, which may result in his death. Domenic McBride, while looking after his horses, was kicked by one of them in the abdomen, and is now lingering between hopes of recovery and fears of death. We hope he may recover.

An edifying and pleasing spectacle was presented in St. Benedict church on Pentecost Sunday by the reception of grown young girls and children into the respective orders of "Children of Mary" and "Angels." The ceremonies were impressive and touching, and all present, whether Catholics or non-Catholics, felt that the occasions was one to be long remembered. On Corpus Christi, we had a large procession, attended by our excellent brass band, with, I may say, without exaggeration, some fifteen hundred persons present who visited the cemetery and various altars thereon erected. Our rail road charter having been granted, several meetings of the commissioners authorized to form a company have been held and arrangements been made to commence the grading of the same immediately.

WE are unavoidably obliged to "crowd out" this week the puffs of Cham Roberts, E. J. Mills, V. S. Barker, George Huntley, A. J. Christy, and others. These are among our most enterprising business men, and deserve all the measure of success which they receive. Go to Roberts for jewelry, to Mills for flour, to Barker for dry goods, to Huntley for Hardware and to Christy for drugs. If you follow this advice you cannot go far wrong.

SMICKSBURG, INDIANA Co., PA., June 3, 1871. MR. EDITOR-You will percive that I am no longer a resident of Wilmore, Cambria county, and the delay of my friend in setding me a copy of your paper, and the fact that I have private messenger to carry my communication immediately to you, must be my apology for it appearing at such a late date. With regard to this discussion, I shall hereafter ignore the existence of the youthful Misian, (as I believe he has betaken himself to plowing, which, by the way, is a very honora-ble occupation, and one at which I have no doubt he is more expert than at wielding the pen.) and address myself to the Rev. gentleman who is the real author of the communications signed "Soltero," first asking the Rev. gentle-man's pardon for not giving him the honor at an earlier day.

Rev. sir, permint me to say that your communication lacks the only redeeming features of your former ones, viz: the opening of new questions. You have made a grand retrograde movement, and got back again to the starting point, singing the old sonnet, the chief note of which is, "Miss Black is not the author of her own communications," and closing with a ti-rade of abuse against that apostic of Christ, Martin Luther, and something more about per-secution, which shall have my attention at the proper time. Persecution is an exhaustless theme, and as the Rev. gentleman appears to wish to discuss that question further, by refering to it again, I shall devote my next communication to the com ection to that subject.

The whole of your last article betrays an inward consciousness of defeat; yet you very kindly suggest that I retire from the contest, ask pardon, etc., in order to make it appear that I am the vanquished party, when in reality it is yourself, and the community will not fail to comprehend the situation. For me to quit now might be very pleasing to you, but our fond hopes cannot be realized, as we have too many unsettled questions before us. But as you are already writing under the weight of argument brought to bear on the questions introduced by yourself, and which you have not attempted to refute, I shall be governed by the generous spirit.

"Tis cruelty to load a fallen man." Rev. sir, you charge me with losing sight of the subject, and that, instead of defending the question first introduced. I am abusing the Catholic Church. I admit that we wandered far from the original question, but you led the way, and I did not nor shall not cease to follow. And as you have so bitterly assailed the Lutheran Church, which I consider the true Church of brist, I claim the same liberty to criticise the libility of the Catholic Church. You know that "what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander." Your reverence will recognize the quotation. In my defence I shall always confine myself to the truth, although sometimes even the truth is unpleasant; and if you call it abuse, it is no fault of mine, and I would ost respectfully, Rev. sir, ask you to remem-

"Truth crushed to earth will rise again." The reader will not fail to notice that every ending question in this controversy was latro-luced by yourself, and that I have remained entirely on the defensive; and I shall continue to do so as long as life, liberty, and the grace of God enables me to do so. In so doing I shall only be obeying the command of the Apostle Jude, given to all Christians, to "Contend carnestly for the faith which was once delivered to

In your first letter you made a number of charges against me, all of which I answer clam-ly and without abusing any one or any church. hen this controversy began I did not know who "Soltero" was; consequently I was ignorant of his religious faith, until he very pompourly announced that he was a Catholic and a Milesian, claiming a very long ancestral line, running away back anterior to the days of St. Patrick, and at the same time attacked Lutheranism, and introduced the question of persecution, which your letter of March 25th will show, and from which I make the following extract, "I am free to say that Atheism, bad as it is, is no no worse in many particulars than Luther-anism" "Lutheranism is a "Lutheranism is a ickly, decrepted human institution, in which it is folly to live and madness to die."

**Let it be borne in mind that the first persecuton in Ireland began in the days of Henry III," &c. "King George who tried to make us slaves, was a Lutheran.'

Is it possible now, in the face of this testimony, that you, Rev. sir, can summon sufficient moral courage to charge me with deviating

I shall now proceed to answer your three questions: First, I acknowledged in my first letter that I read the Bible and prayed in school, but I deny that the pupils were annoyed in consequence, though I presume you were. On one occasion the Lutheran minister called liust when I was about to commence the exercis for the day, and I did ask him to pray; and if t had been you, Rev. sir, I should have e ed to you the same courtesy. Second, I have also told you that in this free land there is no law to prevent the rending of the Bible in school, or any where else, (for which we thank God.) and where there is no law there is no law there is no law there is no transgressiod. But I positively deny that I ever attempted to explain the Scriptures or to teach any religious tenets in school. Third, where or in what manner did you prove that I am not the author of the cominunications that appear over my signature i I have heard your Reverence breach, and about the only proof you ever bring to bear (with rare exceptions) upon a question is, "Is it so?" or "Is it not so;" but assertion is not evidence, and I am compelled to say that you came just about as near proving that I am not the author of my own communications, as you did that the Catholic Church is the Church of Christ, and that the Lutheran Church Isnot. Busneus he jesuit, gives this advice to his desciples "Avoid controversy, if you can, with an heretic"

-an advice which perhaps, it might have been well if your Loverence had heeded. Although the question that the Catholic Church is the true Church of Christ, and that the Lutheran Church is not, is not the polar star of your disussion, yet it seems to be a favorite subject or you to dwell upon, at the altar and elsewhere. I agree with you that there is but on true God and one true Church on earth, but I do not believe that the Catholic Church is that church, and I shall now proceed to give my reasons for not so believing. The word of God and history are the foundation for my convictions. The Bible says "Without holiness no man shall see God." Now is the Catholic Church holy? The Popes of Rome are the spiritual and temporal heads of the Church.— They also claim to be the Vicars of Christ or earth. Have they lived holy and pious lives: We will consult history, and as you have quo-ted Schiller to defend Luther and the Lutheran Church, you will certainly give credit to historians and authors who are renowned in your ownChurch and whose statements I shall quote. Castaller, the great Catholic leader in Spain, Castaller, the great Catholic leader in Spain, declares in an essay issued at Madrid, that according to the Church's own confession, Pope Callixtus was a Labellian. For him there was no God the Son but only the Spirit which dwelt in the Son. Pope Liberia was an Arian. The second person of the Trinity was not in his creed. Pope Zozimo was a Pelagian. He destroyed grace, and so destroyed Christianity, Pope Leo II ahathematized Pope Hoccuris.—The body of Pope Formosa was exhumed by The body of Pope Formosa was exhumed by one of his successors, dressed in potifical robes, tried in public, defended as a criminal, and sentenced to have three flagers cut off, (the three with which he used to bless the faithful,) and then to be thrown into the yellow waters of the Tiber-all of which was done. Is not this alone sufficient to satisfy you that there was no genuine holiness at the head of your But I will further draw your atte tion to such Catholic historians as Thuanus, Baranius, and Dupin. These historians inform us that Theodora, a courtezan of noble family, obtained supreme control of Rome-that sh expelled the lawful Popes, and put violent and nefarious men into the Papal chair—and that Pope John was the lliegitimate son of Pope Sergius III, and that he afterwards was made Pope himself—says that they were expostate Popes and apostolical. He called the times epiorable, and scandal overwhelming, and the church forgotten by God; and that during the lives of Popes Formous, Stephen VI, John IX, Benedict IV, &c., which for blood, debauch, murder, rapine, and manifold villainy, exceeded the worst days of heathen Rome : of Sergius

he says, "This man is esteemed a mouster, not only for his ambition and the violent proceedonly for his ambition and the violent proceedings he was guilty of, but on account of his loose morals. He had an illegitimate son that was made Pope as John the XI, and that this John was a monster. stephen VI was strangled. Pope Alexander VI died August 17th, 1505, by poison which he had prepared for another, and that Pope Alexander VI was, A. D. 1432, electrostephen and the property of the proceedings of the proceedings of the proceedings of the process of the pro that Pope Alexander VI was, A. "Horrendum ac detesatbile VISU," horrible, and detestible to behold." "Yet he was the true Pope," and that after death he appeared to a certain Valcus in a hideous shape, and informcertain Valcus in a hideous shape, and informed him that he was doomed to everlasting woe."

Also, what do they say of Pope Stephen VII. "Thus perished this villanous man, who entered the sheepfold as a thief and a robber, and who, in the retribution of God, ended his days by the infamous death of the halter." We have still, more evidence in reserve, if this is not sufficient to satisfy you that there was no holiness in those days at the head of your Church. And if this is not enough to satisfy you of the necessity of a reformation, I will again draw your attention to the teachings of Pope Boniface, who was convicted for saying that Christianity was only a profitable fable. that Christianity was only a profitable fable. And if we can rely on the following statistics, (and we believe them correct.) we certainly agree with him that what they called Christianity tion to the millions of dollars that the Church receives yearly to accomplish the stupendous work of setting aside the sentence of a just and eternal God by redeeming, or pretending to redeem, souls from purgatory, and usher them into heaven against his divine will. Admitting for the sake of argument, that there is a purgatory, is this not swindling the honest soul out of its rights to fill the pockets of men on earth? Is not this doctrine terrible enough in all its teachings and practices to make humanity shudder, and age, justice and mercy to weep? Allow me Rev. sir, to draw your atten-tion also to the ease of Simon Magus, when he offered Peter, whom you claim as the first Pope, money to give him power that in whomsoever he would lay his bord religious that in oney to give him poor to grace the grace e would lay his hands might receive the grace of God. "Thy money perish with thee! Dost of God. "Thy money perish with thee! Dost thou think that the gift of God can be pur-chased with money?" was his stern rebuke. Now then if the saving grace of God cannot be obtained on earth for money, is it reasona-ble to suppose that it can be obtained for the soul in eternity? The doctrine simply teaches that man on earth can place a soul in heaven when the atonement and intercession of Christ lions of dollars that was extorted from the peo-ple by the notoriously bad Tetyel in his sale of indulgences. I shall here present the reader indulgences. I shall here present the reader with the form of these indulgences, which were drawn with the sanction of the Pope, (Leo X.) and which will speak for themselves: "May our Lord Jesus Christ have mercy upon and absolve thee by the merits of His most holy passion. And I, by His authority and that of His blessed Apostles Peter and Paul, which the most holy Pope granted and committed to me in three parts, do absolve thee, first from all ecclesiostical censure, in whatever manner they have been incurred, then from all thy sins they have been incurred, then from all thy sins transgressions, excesses, how enormous soever they may be—even such as are reserved for the cognizance of the Holy See-and as far as the keys of ther Holy Church extend, I remit to you all punishment which you deserve in purgatory and there account, and I restors you to the holy sacrament of the church, to the unity of the faithful, and to the innocence and purit which you possessed at baptism, so that when you die the gates of the paradise of delights shall be opened; and if you shall not die at present, this grace shall remain in full fofce when you are at the point of death. In the name of Father the Son, and the Holy Ghost." After perusing the foregoing the reader can come to no other conclusion than that heaven was set up for sale, and in consequence of s much wickedness, Luther began the work of reformation-not a reformation of the gospe of Chrst, but of the abuses that had crept into the Church. As I have heretofore said, Lutherans believe that the sacred Scriptures contain a full revelation of the will of God in reference to the will of man, and are alone sufficient for everything relative to the faith and practice of a Christian without plenary indulgences traditions, praying to saints, or any series of sacerdotal gymnastics whatever. And permit me, Rev. sir, to say that the Catholic Church will never see the end of Latherianism, but in stead, the Lutherans have lived to see the Catholic Church show its temporal power. Lu one foot upon the land and the other upon the

DINGEE-FLEMMING.-Married, at the res idence of the bride's parents, by the Rev. Emphield, on Tuesday, June 6th, 1871, Dr. C. A. W. DINGZE, of California, and Miss HANNAH FIZM-MING, of White township, Cambria county. VAUGHN-GALLAGHER-Married, on Tuesday, 13th inst., by Rev. T. R. Jones, Mr. W. S. VAUGHN, of Ebensburg, and Miss MARGARET GALLAGHER, of Gallitzin township. Like the nature of the gentleman, as he always was, Will S. Vaughndid not forget ever the poor printer. A national currency note the value whereof this roman (V) figure indicates, accompanied by part of the wedding cake, came quietly into the hands of "E.," and as in the spirit of the groom, we are bound to swell with gratitude to Heaven for so worthy a partner, so do we in the knowledge that the bride is one worthy of the groom, while the groom is worthy of so much of the regard and good wishes of them knowing him as is to him accorded. We are sure no worther, better mated couple ever contracted together for life with fairer prospects of mutual happiness and prosperity, and that it may so be, is our sincere and heartfelt wish. GORMAN-PALMER-Married, on Sunday, May 21st, at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. James Gorman, formerly of Loretto, and Miss Clara Palmen, of Atlegheny city. We know Mr. Gorman well, and know him to be a gentleman. His wife, to be a wife of his, must be a lady. The happy couple have our hearty congratulations, coupled with the hope that their lives may be long in the land. A DMINISTRATOR'S SALE.—By
