EBENSBURG, Sept. 29, 1871. To the Editor of the Cambria Freeman: cause of her forlorn and destitute condition. My DEAR SIR-I believe I have never heretofore asked for any space in your columns, exnot to so trespass soon again. My purpose in this communication is to show how we may be hoodwinked and taken in by fair appearances. comings we have to "go abroad" to get the news of them. The last sensation in this line It is not many years since our people, or many of them at least, were made the victims of the Thursday last, which says: Last fall a young sanctimonious, church-going proclivities of a certain Charles Day, who in his day was in this place "the man from Canada with ropes of silver and gold." But, coming down to just what I mean now, I desire to call attention to the I mean now. I desire to call attention to the fact that not long since The Alleghanian, a Republican newspaper, ceased to exist and out of its ashes arose the Cambria Heald. This latter paper is published by Ed. James, and, I might say, he and I grew up as boys together. At the time Mr. James embarked in the Herald enterterprise, I, as a personal friend, felt like giving him all the encovariance of I. tempt was being made to enter her room, she all the encouragement I could, which did, and here is the result: When he started his paper I thought he intended to make it a permanent affair, and that, as a respectable or-gan of the Republican party, it would be conducted as an independent, fearless exponent of Radical Republican principles, still treating nocrats, such as myself, as men at least, and that he would not allow his columns to be Believing that he meant "business" and not dirt, I did feel like encouraging him as a young man trying to make an honest living, but look at the sequel; In his issue of this date he perpairry dollars, he allows personal and untruthful articles to go into his columns. For instance, he publishes a letter dated "Plattsville, Sept. 23, 1871," and signed "T." which is a lie and false from beginning to end, and Ed. should have known, if he did not know, that it was neither a true nor fair report of that meeting. In the same is no large true from the same is no large. In the same issue he gives a letter from "Hem-lock, Sept. 25, 1871," signed "An Observer," in which, after mentioning the death of a very estimable young gentleman, the writer proceeds to pitch into "professional men," without stop-ping to think for a moment that himself must be a "professional scoundrel," and a perventer of the truth. Then we have a letter without the ment, immediately west of Carr's tunnel, by the truth. Then we have a letter, without date, some workmen on the construction train, on Friday evening last. The remains were brought to this place and an inquest held by Justice the time to be false and not a correct report of that meeting. We would like to see the Herald man, or any of the dirty, sneaking pimps for whom he prints such stuff, weighed in the balprevious, as a cap supposed to belong to him ance with any man who was at the meeting at Glosser's, and we would bet two big apples that the, pimps and all, would make a very precipitate bailoon (beg pardon, sir, baboon) ascension. In the same issue of the Herald we find "Rep," under a small black line heading of "On the Wing," trying to say something about Sunday evening, but as he has about played himself out and does not succeed in getting a word of agony of mind and body before the vital spark out and does not succeed in getting a word of truth through him and as he is to much of a had fled will forever remain a mystery. No coward, or too dishonest and sneaking to put his real name to his dirty communications, I must pass him by. Next, and last, and least of all, I find "Aiva" purporting to write from "St. Augustine, Sept. 22, 1871." who, if you believe his own words, was at a meeting at St. Augus-tine on the evening of Sept. 22d, and on the currency, a gold or oroide watch, a railroad same evening at a meeting at Gallitzin. HYMENIAL.

OUINN-GEIS,-Married, on Sunday last, 24th t...nt St. Joseph's church, Johnstown, by Rev. Father Otto, O. S. B., Capt. James Quinn and Miss Bose Gets, daughter of John Gels, Esq., all of Johnstown.

We don't know that the good advice we have often youchsafed to the captain, or the well wishes we have frequently expressed on behalf of our fair friend Rose, had anything to do with the result noted above, but we do know that if we had "made the match" ourself we could not have a complished anything that could have af-forded us more pleasure or done us greater credit. We know that the happy pair are eminently worthy of each other, and that there is no blessing, no comfort, no enjoyment, no happiness, or no nothing else good, pertaining to wedded life which they do not deserve to ex-perience an hundred fold. James has done well to secure such an amiable and estimable help-nute and loving companion, especially on the eve of his political discomfiture, and our fair young friend Rose, we are just as sure, can nes-tle her fair cheek lovingly and confidingly against her husband's big whiskers and lay the sweet unction to her soul that she has found an arm to enfold her, a hand to caress her, and a true and manly heart to adore her, of which any woman in the land might well feel proud. And thus blessed in their united destinies, we hope their days in the land will be as long as we are certain they will be peaceful and happy,
