WOOD AND WILLOW WARE,

CURIOUS CUSTOMS OF IOWA INDIANS .-There is still remaining near Toledo, Iowa, a small remuant of two Indian tribes, the Sacs and F. zes, known as the Musquawkees, who number about three hundred-men, women and children. They are very lazy, dirty and degraded, and probably will all disappear in a few years.

Silver's one was a surplused at the surpluse of the second state

A warrior among them having died was placed on a large piece of bark, raised several feet high in an old elm tree, secured by strong thongs of leather, and left there for more than two years. A squaw was buried in a sitting posture, the lower part of the body covered with earth, the head and trunk crect, and, except a sinking as the ground settled, the skeleton sat upright for hearly five years. One of the men, buried in the same manner, had his rifle placed at his shouller, firmly clasped with both hands, till nature dissolved the tendons of the arm and the weapon fell. S metimes they inter them at the unusual depth of ten and even eleven feet. At others the corpse is laid on the surface of the ground and covered with warth. The graves are stuck with sticks and of various colors cover the branches of the overhanging trees.

ticular, are strictly honest; and though they have but the slightest knowledge of nums hers, they remember their accounts, with surprising accuracy. When they buy anys thing for which they cannot pay down, they must have the amount written on a piece of ) aper for them. They cannot read it, of course, but they never fail to bring it with them when they come to settle, add to know just how much money it represents. Their idea of business is just this : If Mawsnock-*-maw owes me $10. I write out his note for the amount, sign his name to it, and he makes "his mark" by touching the top of my nenhelder while I execute the mark ( >>) myrelf. Then he keeps the note to remind him that he owes me. Without pocket, jocket-book, drawer, or shelf in all the world, it is an utter mystery how he does keep it ; but as certainly as the day of pavment comes so certainly does he fish out f om some recess or fold of blanket, breechclout, or leggin, the identical promise to pay, and hands over both it and the specified amount. He has no idea of interest. Now that he has paid it I must keep the note to remind me that he does not owe me. Should I afterward present it to him for payment, the fact of its being in my possession would he to him conclusive evidence that he had pald it.

WHAT IS & MILLION DOLLARS ?- People say: "The steamer took away a million dollars," just as complacently as though a million dollars could be picked up like dirt. An anonymous writer in an exchange remarks that but very few people have any Hea what millions, billions, trillions are than they have of the brogans wern by cob-Hers who inhabit the moon. intrinsic virtues, and sustained by its remarkable cures. So mild as to be safe and beneficial to children, and yet so searching as to effectually purge out the great corruptions of the blood, such as the scrofulous and syphilitic contamination. Impurities, or diseases that have lurked in the system for years, soon yield to this powerful antidote, and disappear. Hence its wonderful cures, many of which are publicly known, of Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases. Ulcers, Eruptions, and eruptive disorders of the skin, Tumors, Blotches,

Boils, Pimples, Pustules, Sores, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipe-las, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, and internal UIcerations of the Uterus, Stomach, and Liver. It also cures other complaints, to which it would not seem especially adapted, such as Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Fits, Neuralgia, Heart Disease, Female Weakness, Debility, and Leucorrhœa, when they are manifestations of the scrofulous poisons. It is an excellent restorer of health and strength in the Spring. By renewing the appetite and vigor of the digestive organs, it dissipates the depression and listless languor of the season. Even where no disorder appears, people feel better, and live longer.

VOOD, MORRELL & CO.,

A DARING FEAT. Remarkable for its spire-the loftiest one of St. Petersburg-is the church of St. Peter and St. Paul. An anecdote connected with this church, and not known out of Russia, is worth telling. The spire, which is

Lofty, and light, and small, and is probably represented in an engraving as fading away almost into a point in the sky, is in reality terminated by a globe of considerable dimensions, on which an angel stands supporting a large cross. This angel was out of repair, and some suspicions were entertained that he designed visiting, uninvoked the surface of the earth. The affair caused some uncasiness, and the government at length became greatly perplexed. To raise a scaffolding to such a height would cost a large sum of money, and in meditating fruitlessly on the circumstance, without knowing how to act, some time was suffered

Among the crowd of gazers below who turned their eyes and thoughts toward the angel, was a mujic called Telouchkine. This man was a roofer of houses (a slater, as ha would be called in countries where slates are used), and his speculations by degrees assumed a more practical character than the with sheets of gilded copper, and presented to the eye a surface as smooth as if it had been one mass of burnished gold. But Telouchkine knew that the sheets of copper were not even uniformly closed upon each other, and, above all, that there were large nails used to fasten them, which projected from the side of the spire. Having thought of these circumstances till his mind was made and offered to repair the angel, without scaffolding and without assistance, on condition of being reasonably paid for the ting expended in the labor. The offer way se-

The day fixed for the adventure arrived. Tolouchkine, provided with nothing more than a coil of ropes, ascended the spire in the interior to the last window. Here he looks down at the intercourse of people below, and up at the glittering "needle," as it is called, tapering far above his head But bravely out on the window, he sets about his task. He cuts a portion of the cord in terstices of the sheets of copper, he raises one of the stirrups with the other hand, so as to make it catch a nail higher up. The same operation is performed on behalf of the other REAT REDUCTION IN PRICES | operation is performed on behalf of the other TO CASH CUST ON EDST climbs, step by step, and stirrup by stirrup, till his starting-point is undistinguished from the golden surface, and the spire dwindles in his embrace till he can clasp it all around.

So far so well. But now he has reached the ball-a globe of between nine and ten feet in circumstance. The angel, the object of his visit, is above this ball, and concealed consist, in part, of Cooking, Parlor and Heat- from his view by its smooth, round and gliting Stores, of the most popular kinds ; Tin- | tering expanse. But Telouchkine is not dismayed. He is dow Glass, Putty, Table Knives and Forks, prepared for the difficulty, and the means he used to surmount it exhibits the same re-Apple Parers, Pen and Pocket Knives in markable simplicity as the rest of the feat. hundred and thirty-six miles, while their transportation would require fourteen wagone hauling two tons each. If millions become thus overpowering in their magnitude. what shall we do with larger sums? The recends in six thousand years seem almost incalculable, and yet they amount to one fifth less than a trillion. A quadrillion of leaves of paper, each the two hundredth part of an inch in thickness, would form a pile, the height of which would be three hundred and thirty times the moon's distance from the earth. A cannon ball flies swiftly; but if one were fired at the moment our National President takes his seat in the White House, and were to continue, with unabated velocity, twelve feet a second during his whole term of office, it would not travel three trillions of miles. We never heard of the Wandering Jew but we mentally inquire what was the sentence of his punishment. Perhaps he was told to walk the earth till he counted a trillion. Suppose a man to count one in every second of time, day and right, without stopping to rest, eat or sleep, it would take him thirty two years to count a billion, or thirty thousand years to count a trillion, even as the French understand the [10 21. cm.] term. As we said before, what a limited

+ ----EXTRAORDINARY SAGACITY OF A MARE. -One of the most remarkable instance, of equine sagacity is reported from Whithy. A young gentleman named Keener has been for some time a resident near Malton, and from Mr. Rutter of Hessle Farm Le bought a hunting mare, which on leaving Malton he recently took with him to Whitby. On Wednesday the mare was missing from the field, and a search was instituted to no purpose. On Thurs day the search was renewed, Mr. Keene and his groom going about ten miles on the Guisborough Moors, then to Leights, where they heard the mare had crossed the railroad the previous morning. At this point the trail was easy. The mare had taken the high road homewards, and at Saltersgate six men tried to stop her. at Saltersgate six men tried to stop her, without avail. At Pickering she jumped NewsDaper a load of sticks and the railroad gates, and thus found herself in her old hunting country, making across Ryedale, for "home." In so doing she would have to cross two rivers and a railway. Mr. Keene found her at home on Thursday night with one shoe thrown and rather lame. but otherwise none the worse from her cross-country gallop of nearly sixty miles, done in one day; for her previous owner found her on Wednesday night standing at the gate of the field where she had grazed for two previous years.

A Toron STORT -An exchange declares the following to have occurred at Williamsport, this State. It may be true, although it sounds to us somewhat apochryphal :---. Samuel Newman, a German, now aged forty years, received a severe fall when he was but eighteen years old, striking on his head. He was going to college in Germany st the time, preparing for the ministry .--From the effec s of the fall he was deprived of both hearing and speech. He remained years which have since elapsed. On Sunday even og last he was in a room with another man at the time the alarm of fire was sounded, when the latter became alarmed, ercised that something snapped in his neck. CANCER CURE .- Among all the things rec. ommended as a cure for cancer, says the Greensburg Argus, wild tes is something that probably has not been thought of, but the virtues of which, nevertheless, have been testel. as will be seen by the following letter we have received

I wish to tell how I cured my cancer last sommer without pain or money. Eight years ago a cancer came on my pose ; for the first few years it grew slow, the last two years its grew so fast it became frightful and began to eat out my left eye. I had paid hundreds of dollars and had tried Doctors from far and near without finding any relief ; last summer I drank wild tea, putting the tea grounds on my cancer each night as a poultice; in six weeks my nose was cured. I am now 62 years old. I have told this remedy to several having ennoers. I know of two that have cured their cancers since. I believe wild tea grows over the country generally on high lands.

A TRUE BILL -"Brick" Pomeroy says it requires more pluck for a young man to eftablish a printing office in a country town, where he is compelled to be editor, canvassing egent, type setter, proof reader, pressman, mailing clerk, wood sawyer and itemizereverything in fact, in order that his paper may ive-than is required in any other business. He must work hard and live poor. Business men fail and leave him to whistle for money which he cannot well do without. Subscribera all about him, who profess to be good, take his paper, then die, remove to a distant town, of away without paying their debts. He is erpected to work for any man of his party who may come up for office; to print handbills; to advertuse notices and furnish election lickets. oftentimes for nothing. He must be first and foremost to encourage every enterprise of the place, and the last man to be paid for work done, labor performed, or influence gives.
