SPLENDID 18/2. Inducements! 18/2 GREATEN ENARGED AND IMPROVED.

The old favorite Democratic Weekly, THE PATHIOT, will appear on the FIRST DAY OF JANUARY, 1872, GREATLY ENLARGED and changed from present quarto to a MAMMOTH FOLIO. It will contain more reading matter than any other Weekly published in Pennsylvania.

It will furnish all the Political and General News of the current week in condensed form. It will give an accurate report of the MAR-KETS of New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore,

Pittsburg and Harrisburg. Its Literary Department will contain Tales. sanys, Poetry, &c., by the best American and propean writers. It will contain such full and faithful reports of Congressional and Legislative proceedings as will afford its readers a fair understanding of the doings of their public servants. During the session of the Legislature it will be of spe-cial interest and value to every Pennsylvanian. THE NEXT PRESIDENT.

The great impending struggle for the Presi-dency will soon commence. Within one year from this time the American people will have determined whether or not the centralization of the powers of the governmenting the hand s of a the powers of the governmenting the hinds of a corrupt oligarchy, the plundering of the tax-paver2by thieving officials, the doulat of equal political rights to the proscribed citizens of the Southern States and the substitution of the whit of a party for the fundamental law of the land, shall cease or continue. It shall be the cornest and unflagging endeavor of the PATHIOT to educate its readers in the belief that the time bas comes when an earnest and determined has come when an carnest and determined effort must be made to arrest political power

The Poet's Department. THE LAST NIGHT OF THE YEAR,

Tis desolate out on field and mere, and all about the moorlands drear : the wind's weird voices come and go With a murmured sobbing, faint and low, Like the monrners in a burial-crowd; Each wild-wood creature is in its lair. For the cold is sharp in the freezing air. And the earth is wrapped in a snowy shroud.

Faintly shimmers the frozen stream. And the hear-frost shines with a ghostly gleam, For the depth of the vast unclouded skies Are filled with numberless starry eyes: Through the beech-trees' leafless branchery Downward sparkies the solemn light: In the shadow and ioneliness of night; They are watching to see the old year die.

Into the dim realms of the Past The gray old year is journeying fast: Without—the mochlesin's pallid glow Quivers above his ley brow; Within—the fire burns low and red,

And the hanging holly-boughs and bays Throw shadows strange in the lickering birze On the panelled walls and overhead. And now from the crypt-like gloom And stillness of the quiet room, Across the red, uncertain light, Across the red, uncertain right. Dim shapes are wavering to my sight In long procession: they speak no word: There is no sound of echoing feet; But cold and low my pulses beak. By the airy sense of their presence stirred.

They are the ghosts of loys long dead. Of bright hours vanished, and fair scenes field: Of hopes that spring with the springing year, Only to fall when the tent fell sere; And sorrowful memories, pale and wan, With the dinging dust of departed years; And my cycs are filled with repretful tears. And my heart cries out for the days that are gone! —Catholic Record.
