

Cambria Freeman. EBERSBURG, PA. Saturday Morning, Feb. 24, 1872.

Democratic State Convention.

Pursuant to a resolution of the Democratic Executive Committee this day adopted, the Democratic State Convention in numbers...

By a joint resolution, adopted on Wednesday, both houses of the Legislature have adjourned until Wednesday of next week.

In a speech before the Reading Democratic Club, Hon. J. L. Getz, Congressman from Berks, declared that while the recent caucus of Democratic Congressmen did not formally declare in favor of any one as the Democratic nominee for the Presidency...

At the recent meeting of the State Editorial Association the city of Erie was proposed as the right place to visit when the fraternity participate in their second annual excursion...

It looks now as if Col. McClure would have justice done him in his contest with Mr. Gray, whose election as Senator from the Fourth (Phila.) district, there is abundant reason to believe, was accomplished by fraud.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company was held in Philadelphia on Tuesday last. The report of the directors for last year shows the revenues of the lines operated by the company and the amounts paid for their working expenses, etc., as follows:

From the Pennsylvania Railroad and branches, $18,719,830.85; Philadelphia and Erie Railroad, $3,642,263.72; total, $22,362,094.57. Expenses of both railroads, $15,305,697.07. Profit, $6,956,397.50. Deducting dividends, interest, &c., amounting to $5,426,112.83, there is left a balance to the credit of profit and loss on account of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company of $1,470,281.67.

Mr. Speer, your congressman, at whose election I remember you were so much rejoiced, is rapidly making a reputation as an examiner of witnesses. He is already acknowledged as the champion investigator of the committee, and he goes into the innocent of both factions with a zest that betrays his determination to make a vast deal of Democratic capital out of our unfortunate Republican split.

Senator Sumner's resolution in relation to the sale of arms and ammunition to the government of the United States...

At first the administration Senators and presses pretended to treat the whole matter as an exhibition of petty malice on the part of Senator Sumner. But, as the facts are developed, the tone on the administration fiddle changes, and now the notes are more mournful than defiant. It appears that in September and October, 1870, heavy sales of arms and materials of war were made by the Ordnance Department to the agents of the French government...

LEGISLATIVE PAY.—The State of Pennsylvania pays the members of her Legislature $1000 each per session, and this seems to be the highest salary paid to any Legislature in the Union.

It looks now as if Col. McClure would have justice done him in his contest with Mr. Gray, whose election as Senator from the Fourth (Phila.) district, there is abundant reason to believe, was accomplished by fraud.

Letter from Ireland.—No. 14. (Correspondence of Cambria Freeman.)

DEAR MAC—Here I have been for some weeks in the beautiful metropolis of Ireland, and have not as yet said anything about it.

But since my arrival in it I have been busy taking notes of the almost countless places of interest and beauty which I find myself in that I find myself in a regular labyrinth of bewilderment as to which place to open my sketch with. But, as I seem to have a peculiar penchant for "old antiquity," I will go back to the good old time when this city was called BALLYTOLLIATH, or the "Town of the Ford of Hurdles."

ST. PATRICK'S CATHEDRAL.

built, I believe, soon after the death of the great Apostle, is well worth a visit. The height of the steeple or tower is one hundred and twenty feet, and that of the spire which it is surmounted about one hundred feet.

which stands about midway between Whitworth and Richmond Bridges, on the north side of the Liffey. The Four Counts is a noble edifice, presenting a beautiful picture of the style of architecture which flourished in the hands of the great architect, Sir Christopher Wren.

CHILD BURNED TO DEATH.—On last Thursday a son of Jacob Musser, of Walker township, aged, about 12 years, was burned to death under the following circumstances: The boy, leaving the hay at home, during his absence the child went to the stove and played with the fire. In the play his clothes took fire. The mother came home to find her boy wrapt in flames, and so seriously burned that he died from the effects. He was buried on Sunday last.—Junata Sentinel.

considered one of the handsomest of the kind in the world. Here lie the remains of the monarchs who once figured and added life and mirth to gay and fascinating Dublin. In this cemetery rest the honored and revered remains of O'Connell, whose every pulsation during life was for his country. His grave is strewn daily with sweet-scented flowers.

Incipient Consumption.

The symptoms which precede Consumption are mostly of an insidious character, but quite marked enough to indicate to the intelligent physician what course of treatment should be followed in order to prevent its development.
