JOHNSTOWN, March 21, 1872. Dran FREEMAN-Our mutual friend Louis Luckhardt, jeweler, Main street, has received a magnificent safe, worth $550, from Mosler & Bahmann, Cincinnati. It is very large and strong and very suitable for Mr L.'s purposes, he having an immense stock of the very best

Mr. Keim has torn down the old tanners in Kernville, near Stoney Creek, which creates quite a void in that part of town. His reasons for doing so are not apparent, only that it was an old, deserted building, and it is said chosts were heard and seen there. We do not credit the ghost story, but are inclined to think that certain emboweled spirits with FELINE propensities were wont to meet there at night and ndulge in caterwauls or something else that made the queer noises. They worked on the night tuen.

There are burglars about. Mr. Nixdorff. who keeps an oyster saloon here, had eight boxes of cigars stolen from him one night last week. The next night some one tried to break into Schneble's store on Main street. A few nights previous some persons tried to cut a hole through the glass pane in the door of Stevenson's jewelry store. They left a circular cut, made with a diamond, the space being large enough to admit a man's arm. Look out for the rascala!

Cambria county is coming out in the literary line The legend in your paper and the legend in the Tribune are productions that the authors may well be proud of, and which make us feel ashamed of ourself. You know what envy will do From present indications, that was a wise ground hog that looked out in February. We pine that if he were caught and trained he could play poker successfully with that learned nig that grunts so hugely on the outside of your last isque.

Look out for another legend. We found a place the other day with curious hieroglyphics on it, giving a graphic account of a tribe of Indians who inhabited the place known as the Shawanese Cabins," over five hundred years ago. I would send you a copy, but your type could not print the letters found on the plate The chief or sichem's name was Saskagowatch akaloosahatchie.

The Tribune says something more about Moore My opinion is the more you try to condemn a Moore the more you can't do it. For instance, there was Joseph Moore, whose crime was still more apparent than that of the present Moore. But the more is said the anre's the pity it is waid. Mineral Point school, taught by Mr. M'Fee ters, of Indiana county, closed on last Tues day evening with an exhibition, which gave great satisfaction. The Johnstown schools will close the 10th, 11th and 12th of Arril. We are opposed to any Republican being elected Governor of this State, but if such a calamity is to take place, we want D. J. Morrell to be the infliction. The State couldn'

scare up a better looking Governor, and you know that our heart always did lead us to go in for home interests. The leaves are falling. Last week we no iced the deaths of two of our oldest citizens. We now chronicle the death of Mr Stuart Me Clelland, brother to D. W. McClelland, of the Fifth ward, Johnstown. He had a paralytic stroke some months ago, from the effects of which he could not recover. This stroke was followed by two others, and now he is no more and his loss is greatly deplored by friends, relatives and our citizens generally. John B. Hay, Esc. of this place, showed us a letter a few days ago from our mutual friend, Capt. James H. Gagehy, of Fort Lyon, Cole rado. The Captain had been out with a party on a hunting excursion, and caught fifty buffa loes and a skunk so large that five hundred men could smell it. They took out with them when hunting about ten gallons of "snake Li e" catholicon, and when that was all spilled out they couldn't hunt any more. He says when the paymaster comes round be will remember the editor of the Freeman. He also gives your humble correspondent a "puff." Long may his shadow spread a halo of glory around about Fort Lyon and the "Great West," wherever

I was agreeably surprised the other day to meet "Entonach" on the streets of Johnstown after an absence of many months. In fact I did not expect to see him so soon, but the Al lantic gales were favorable. We were over joved to sue him a gain on terra firma. What d'e think, he brought with him a Live shamrock, which he displayed conspicuously from his hat, on St. Patrick's day. Long may the light of his brilliant mind illuminate, "the land of the free and the home of the brave." I shall try to write down St. Petrick's day, but I know so little about the RITES of the church, I fear I cannot write it right, as John WRIGHT said. However, I will do the best I can, so here goes for ST. PATRICK'S DAY. Last Sunday, the 17th, being the anniversary of Ireland's Patron Saint, our Irish fellow citizens of this city celebrated the event in a very respectable and becoming manner. The more ing looked favorable, but about 10 o'cleck i commenced snowing and so continued until about noon. At I o'clock it looked as if we were going to have a "hig snew," but hail, rain or snow could not dampen or cool the hot blood of the Celt, and at 2 o'clock St. Patrick's and St. Peter's Societies fitled to reple tion their large Hall on Railroad street. At 2.30 the procession formed into line, and headed by the Johnstown Silver Cornet Band projoined by St. Aleyers S. dality. The elegant band here struck up "Patrick's Day procession took up the march and preceded down Main street and into Walnut street, from Walnut over the Lincoln bridge into Millville. from Millville over to Cambria city, around Cambria city and across to Minersville, and from Minersville to Johnstown station, where there was a halt to await the arrival of the Rev R C. Christy, who was expected to arrive by the way passenger train west. They had not many minutes to wait when the portly form of the Rev. gentleman emerged from one of tae care. When Father Christy took his seat in the carriage beside the Rev. P. M Garvey, the music again floated on the sir, and the proto their Hall, and after some remarks from the President all dispersed in such an orderly manner as would reflect credit on any bedy of men This being the first St Patrick's Day parade we have had here for a number of years, some thought it would be a failure, but we say candidly that it was a complete success in every sense of the word. Along the whole route of march there was not one to be reen in the lea-t "apiritual." Scotland gets jolly on a New Year's day over her Andrew, England celebrates her George, Wales her David, and we our Washington; then why not Ireland cele brate her Paraics ? > More of Moore.-The following additional particulars, says the Johnstown Tribune, in regard to Michael Moore's life was learned from his brother Tom, who is working in a coal bank near South Fork, and who, hy the way is a very clever man, of about thirty-seven years of age. Mike was born near Carlow, Queens County, Ireland, about the year 1828. He was next to the oldest of seven children. They lived on a little farm, and the parents were well to do. When Mike was fifteen or sixteen years of age he received his share of the property and, realizing on it, started for America, landing at New York, and afterward making his way to the Summit, in this county, where he commenced digging coal. About 1846 Mike had someody write to his mother to sell out and come to America, alleging that he was prospering here. His mother did so (his father having died shortly before) and landed at the Summit in 1846 with five children-two having been left at home; the oldest, a young man, and a girl. The five arriving here consisted of three boys and two girls-the boys, Mike and Tom, and a third one, who returned to Ireland immediately after his arrival. While of the girls, one married John Finnagan, and is now living at the Viaduct; the other married John Gallagher, who since died, leaving a widow in Minersville.

Mike was married at South Fork in 1853 to Anna E. Boyle, the supposed victim of the tragedy. The following is the certificate, as found on the books of the Church.

On the 6th of October, 1853, joined in matrimony Michael Moore and Anna E. Boyle, in the presence of Mary M'Kiernan and Francis Conly. T. MULLIN.

She left some two years after, without naving had any children. The particulars of her departure, as stated by Tom, are that the two lived very unhappily, and that Mike frequently teat his wife, and finally, at the time mentioned, after being fearfully beaten, she left him and went to a neighbor's house, by the name of John Diamond. at Summerhill, who secreted her up stairs. Mike followed her, but was not permitted to go up stairs. She then, with an old lady, by the name of Tully went to Wilmore, and bought a ticket for Philadelphia-Mike and his friends alleging that she took all Mike's money, consisting of some $200. Nothing was heard of her but through two or three letters written to the priest in this place, inquiring in regard to Mike, until he recent murder caused a search for fact.

In 1856, Mike went West and remained seven years. Nothing is known of his actions there. In 1863 he returned to near Mineral Point, where, in 1864, he married the widow of a man who, a short time before had fallen off a bridge and was drown-Mr McClelland was a highly respected citizen ed. The following is the certificate of his marriage with the woman with whom he was living at the time of the tragedy :

On the 1st of February, 1884, Michael Moore, from the Parish of Arles, Queens County, Ireland, and Bridget Connell, from the Parish of Port Arlington, Kings County, Ireland. Bans published. Witnesses. James Finnagan, Mary C. Lynch. P. M. Garvey.

Tom says Mike was not particularly quarrelsome, but was very sulky, seeming at all times to be brocding over some apparent injury he had received. His first wife was considered virtuous, and the neighbors say was a very lively, kindhearted girl. The mother of the Moores died some three or four years ago. Mike, after inducing her to come over, never having taken the least care of her, nor in any way administering to her wants. ADDITIONAL EVIDENCE.

On last Saturday, Chief of Police, John T. Harris, went to Tyrone and found the name of M. Moore and wife on a hotel register, and was informed by the proprietor that they had occupied the same room there on Wednesday night preceding the murder, and on Sunday District Attorney Sechler went to Philadelphia, and called at the houses on Dean street. He found a family of very nice people living there. He entered, and showing one of the children the likeness taken out of the trunk mentioned last week, the boy said that that was the likeness of Lizzie, and that he had stolen it. She went by the name of Lizzie Stevenson, and had been keeping house for this family some nine years, until about six weeks before the murder, when, they stated, she went out with a strange man and did not tell where she was going. It appears that Mike, or somebody else, went for her to Philadelphia, and took her away to some place along the line of the railroad, probably with the idea of getting her out of the way of Tom, his brother. who threatened to bring her on here and convict Mike of bigamy. But the plan was afterwards changed, for the neighbors say (after Mike had returned from an Boatern trip), that he went up to near where the murder was committed, and after his visit parts of staves were found stacked up, as if to dry, while other pieces were put on the top of them to cause the rain to run off, and also that he had, some time previous, bought two bottles of carbon oil at Lilly's station. If the statements made are true, it is very evident Mike, after taking Anna from the house in Philadelphia, left her some piece on the road, and came bome and made preparations for the murder.

DISASTROUS CONFLAGRATION.—The Logan House Nearly in Ruins—Loss Estimated at from $75,000 to $100,000—No Insurance—Gallant Conduct of the Firemen.—The Altoona Tribune of Walley Confliction of the Firemen.—The Altoona Tribune of the Firemen. Wednesday contains the following: This morning about one o'clock a fire broke out in the story of the addition recently erected o the Logan Ho to the Logan House, extending from the north-ern wing of the hotel proper to Eleventh ave-The interior of the new portion of the large and handsome building being of a very in-flammable nature, caused by the rublish left therein by the mechanics in charge of its com-pletion, the fire soon spread through the massive structure, enveloping everything in a seething, scorching hell of flame. The alarm was promptly sounded by the night watchmen, to which the firemen quickly responded, but despite their almost superhuman efforts the flames soon communicated with the botel proper and for a time threatened the destruction of the entire building. It was not until after two nours' terrible labor by the firemen that hopes were entertained of saving any portion of the hotel, when it became apparent that the fir hotel, when it became apparent that the fire was gotten under control and that it would be confined to that portion of the building extend-ing from Tenth to Eleventh avenues.

The origination of the fire in an unoccupied portion of the building gave the guests of the hotel ample time to gather up their personal effects and remove to a place of safety. Indeed, we believe that no accidents of even a during the progress. trivial character occurred during the progress of the configgration. The walls of the northern wing of the hotel are left standing, and it is thought are uninjured to any great extent, while a large portion of the wall of the recent extension made to the building has fallen down The loss to the hotel is variously estimated at from $75,000 to $100,000, on which there was no insurance. We could not learn whether there was any insurance on the hotel furniture. The building is the property of the Pennsylvania Railread Company, and is leased by the Keystone Hotel Company, being under the superintendence of Mr. J. D. McCiellan. All honor to Altsona's noble firemen. They were prompt to the rescue, and notwithstand-

They were to be seen all around and on top of the burning structure, dripping wet and dragging hose on which ice had formed in large quantities. Periling their lives by scaling high ladders, they fought the flery element inch by inch, now they are the structure of the structure of the structure of the structure. now cheered by slight vantage ground and again disheartened with the thought that their efforts would prove fruitless. But in the end indomitable pluck and heroic work conquere flery demon, and the hearts of the brave boys were cheered with the thought that their abors were not in vain. For over five hours they rendered service the most efficient, and acceeded in checking the flames ere half of the imposing structure was in ruins. They did their work well and descrive the highest praise. As we write, 10 o'clock A. M., they are still at work throwing water on the burning ruins. The origin of the fire is unknown.

The manager of the hotel, Mr. J. D. McClellan, furnished excellent refreshments for the fire-manager of the hotel, he has their bearings. en, for which hospitality he has their hearty thanks, and to which the latter doubtless die ustice, as only a number of men could do who had experienced the fearful work of the pre-vious few hours. Again would we ascribe all honor to the Fire Department of Altoona. We regret to learn that Rev. Dr. Shadrack, paster of the First Baptist Church, of this city, a guest of the Logan House, and who was ab-sent from the city at the time of the fire, lost his wardrobe and valuable library.

This little episode, though somewhat hyster-ie, is told very gravely by the Oil City Derrick and may hap it is true, for goods sold on trust are apt quite often to kick up a dust. But true or false, one thing is plain, with ready cash you can money gain; and the same is the reason, as sure as you live, why M. L. Is BARNUM COMING?-This is how the Green burg Democrat talks about Barnum, and as that gentleman has taken occasion to inform us that there is a strong probability of his mammoth exhibition coming this way before long, our readers will be glad to learn in advance so thing about a few of the wonderful sights in store for them: P. T. Barnum, the world-renowned showman, is on a big rampage. With his characteristic love of noveltes, he has added to his large and interesting collection of "clogies" goat-clogy, and cannibal-clogy.— That is, he has now a goat which takes the place of a circus-rider and performs all the difficult feats known to circus equestrianism; and Fiji Island cannibals, or missionary-eaters, who take the place, and fill it to better advantage, of minstrels and actors of that class. He has also a collection of seals, sea-dogs, and sea-lions, for which he organized and sent a fleet APPALLING BEATH.—On Friday morning last, says the Lewistown Democrat, a lad named Millard Youtzy, aged about 16 years, son of John Youtzy of Bratton township, was killed under the following distressing circumstances. He was employed at a saw-mill, in the mountains, and was riding a mule, with a bag of corn and a tin bucket upon its back. The rattling of the kettle frightened the mule, and it set off on a run. Some men in the road attempted to stop it, when it broke into the wood, running down the mountain pell-mell over rocks, timber, and one fence. The boy fell soon after the mule took to the wood, but his foot sruck fast in the girth, and he was dragged all the distance, head downward. His head was fearfully battered, and he was of course dead when the mule stepped.

The Aldine for April.—The feature of this issue is an exquisite design by Victor Nehing, entitled "Morning Dew." The delicacy of the artist's imagination is fittingly offset by the sympathetic treatment of the engraver and printer. By any known process it would be extremely difficult to rival the effect and we have no doubt that there are many who would not tremely difficult to rival the effect, and we have no doubt that there are many who would not grudge the year's subscription for this single plate. This is the frontispiece promised every quarter. Then we find two other full-page plates—an interior, by Emsile, engraved in a masterly manner by Linton, and a view on the "Hudson at Hyde Park," by Geo, Smilie. Of the smaller cuts "The Little Mother," by John S. Davis, is conspicuous as one of the very best specimens of figure drawing that we have yet specimens of figure drawing that we have yet seen from an American pencil. Mr. Davis is conscientious in every detail, and lovers of true art will look to his future with great expectations. pectations. Pictorially, this number justifies the highest commendations, and indicates a fixity of purpose, on the part of the publishers that augurs well for American Art. The liter ary department is very well sustained, and we think, for excellence and variety, this is the best number yet issued. Mr. Stoddard will have to exert himself to make another number as good as the present one. The statement of the publishers that the edition is already within a fraction of 50,000 copies per went. a fraction of 50,000 copies per month w hailed as a vindication of American taste and appreciation. Such an unparalled success, in a publication utterly non-sensational, is a recognition and endorsement of which the youth-ful publishers (the senior member of the firm has just turned thirty) may well feel proud.— We are glad that our neighborhood is repre-We are glad that our neighborhood is represented among the patrons of The Altine, and would urge the necessity of according the widest circulation to its elevating and refining influences. The subscription price, including a pretty oil-chromo premium, is $5, er it and one copy of our paper one year for $5.50—and the publishers' address is James Sutton & Co., 23 Liberty Street, New York.

An Eventful Life.—In the lower shops of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, in this city, is employed an individual, a painter by trade, who has experienced as many changes in this strange life as generally fall to the lot of man, and which we condense for publication. He graduated with high honor at Jefferson College, and subsequently assisted in the building of the first railroads in Illinois and Upper Canada. Six months of his life were spent with the Huron Indians on the Monto Islands, in the Georgian Bay. He has been the editor and proprietor of two weekly papers and the editor of prietor of two week! papers and the editor of three others—"two of them daily." He was a captain under General Wm. Walker in his last fatal expedition to Nicarauga, on which occasion he was captured with his commander and was tried and condemned to be shot, but sub requently made his escape, and after wandering for three months in the forests, finally succeed

At the breaking out of the late civil war he was commissioned a Lieutenant Colonel by Secretary of War Cameron and assigned to the staff of Major General McCollum, of the Construction Corps. By this latter officer he was assigned to Gen. Sherman's department, where ed in returning safely to this country he gave entire satisfaction both to Gen. Sher-man and the Secretary of War, Stanton. At the close of the rebellion, in settling his a counts with the government for property pass-ing through his hands, he was adjudged a defaulter to the amount of over six hundred thousand dollars, although he steadfastly main-tains that he has never wronged the government out of a solitary copper. - Altoona Trib.

LEGENDARY .- It is thought that the legend the last Tribune was written by Butler & Al-endifer, successors to Leopold Mayer, No. 212 Main street, Johnstown, the renowned dealers in dry goods and like commodities. If this be true, or even if it ain't true, they deserve to receive all the custom from the territory drained by the Stoney Creek, and from several other places, for it is a good legend. They should write another and locate it in Wheatfield township, Indiana county; but in the meantime let them keep on selling cheap and fashionable dry goods, and a symbol will natronize them. goods, and everybody will patronize them.

ANOTHER MURDER!-S. J. Hess & Bro. murdered high prices last week by selling made-up clothing cheaper than it was ever sold, at their popular Clothing Store, No. 241 Main st., Johns-tewn. The coroner held an inquest over one suit. Verdict of the jury: "The best clothing this side of Paris or London." His jurisdiction was not contested, being less than ten miles from high prices. Call at Hess & Brothers and buy a wedding suit, or any other suit or part of a suit. They can suit you or "any other man.

THE BROGUE. - We heard an Irishman talking Dutch with the brogue, the other day, in L. Coben's Cheap Hat Parlor Store, No. 227 Main street, Johnstown. His tongue trilled the German beautifully, putting us in mind of General Scott's rich Irish brogue and sweet German action of the purchaser.

OBITUARY. CHRISTY.-Died, in Loretto, on Thursday last, Walter Richard, son of M. D. and Emma Christy, of Parker's Landing, Pa., and nephew of Rev. R. C. Christy, of this place, aged about 6 years. The dear little fellow was one of Mount Gallitzin's pupils, and was on a brief visit to his grandmother when stricken down and called home to assume in reality the character (that of an angel) which he personated so pleasingly in tableaux presented in this place on the eve of Epiphany. 'AYLOR & CO., of Altoona, are fast gaining an enviable reputation as philanthropists by introducing among the ladies the AMERICAN CHAMPION WASHER! the only Washing Machine in the market that will do its work perfectly on all kinds of clothing without the aid of a rubbing board It washes without rubbing, rolling or press-ing the clothes in any way, and hence without any wearing of the fabric. It will wash anything, from the finest lace to he heaviest bed-quilt.

It will do the same work in a shorter time and with iess labor than any other Machine made.

Any person desiring a Washing Machine can have a Champion Washer taken to their residence and tested, when, if not satisfactory, it will be taken away without cost to them.

CONVINCING TESTIMONY. Mesers, TAYLOR & Co.-Gents: Your American Champion Washer has been in use at my hotel long enough to convince us that it is all it claims to be. It save two-thirds of the labor it claims to be. It save two-thirds of the labor and time and does the work as well as it can be done by hand. We would not be without double its cost. HENRY FOSTER.
