A SCATHING SPEECH.

From a recent powerful speech of Hon D. W. Voorgines, of Indiana, the young and elequent champion of Democratic principles, delivered on the floor of the House of Representatives at Washington, we extract the following concluding paragraphs, and are only sorry that the great length of the very able effect renders it impossible for us to publish it in full As it is, however, the extract will be found worthy of careful perusal and serious consideration, and as such we commend it to our readers. Mr. Voorhees said: "Where is the man on the opposite side of this Chamber who has lifted up his voice in behalf of a thorough and impartial inquiry in order to find the real causes of disorder in the South? The greatest organ of your party proclaims Governor Scott himself a forger of mere than six million bonds. He is said to be investing large sums at Napoleon, Ohio, where his home in reality is, and where he expects to retire when he is fully gorged with plueder. He went to South Carolina for pillage and rapine, and will soon return with his spoils. Your policy emanating from here made him Governor. The vir ue and the talent of the State were proscribed by your laws. Aliming to the condition of South Carolina a few weeks since, one of her citizens (Senator Sawyer) in the other branch of Congress used the following strong language:

" It is due to the circumstance that this large number of men in the southern States were shut out from the possibility of holding State and Federal offices that we have had so many abuses in the local governments of those And-States. It is due to that circumstance that in | ... When that the poor have cried, Casar hath the State which I have the honor in part to represent on this floor we have to-day a State government which is a disgrace to civilization. It is due to those disabilities, and to those disabilities only, that we had not an ample field from which to select honest, capab e men for our loc il public offices, men who would have made faithful officers, and who would have been in complete harmony with the national Administration and the great Republican party on questions of public policy. That ador that, what do we see t - tay? A spectacle nitke asgraceful to the Republican party, under whose banner and in whose name gross abuses have been perpetrated, and to the men who have thus steined its honor; and vet Senators desire us to continue a system which has been

"This was spoken by a leader of the R: publican party, and I call upon these who may regard my statements as overdrawn to carefully consider and weigh his testimony. He deliberately pronounces the Republican State government of South Unrelina a di grace to civilization. There she stands, the result of your own handswork, bankrupt in money, ready to plunge into the dismai guir of repudiation, ruined in credit, her bands hawked in the markets for sale in vain at happiness, or hope; and all her liberties stulen as well as her material selectanges. There s e stands, with her skeleton frame and withered death's head, admonishing all the world of the loathsome consequences of a government fashioned in hate and fanatacism, and founded upon the ignorant and the vicious classes of mankind. Her sins may have been many and deep, and of the color of scarlet, yet they will become as white as wool in comparison with those that have been committed against her to the hour of her helplessness and distress.

"But I can go no farther in the discussion of those terrible details. Time and space would fail me. I submit the following condensed table of figures, and I defy their successful contradiction on this floor or any- cently adorned with public works than and I both made a dash for that very desira-

in the highlands of Scotland, which, at a lit tle distance, has the appearance of an immense artificial bridge over an immense chasm; but on nearer approach it is seen to be a wall of nature's own massury, formed of vast and rugged bodies of solid rock, piled on each other as if in glant sport of architecture. Its sides are in some places covered look down, may see the eyrie of birds of prer beneath his feet. The path across is so marrow that it cannot admit of two persons pass three indes; yet it sometimes happens that two travelers meet, owing to the curve formed by the pass preventing a view over it from either sile, and, in that case, one person lies down, while the other creeps over his body. One day a highfunder walking along the pass, when he had gained the highest part of the aich, observed another coming leisurely up. and being himself of the patrician order; called to him to be down. The person addressed disregarded the command, and the Caun and Bendearg, of two families to enmity to each other. "I was first at the top," said Bendearg, "and called first lie down, so
