Misfortunes never come singly. They all seem to be married and have large families. The recent experience of Sam, Kephart, of Wilmore, is a case in point. Besides having been on the sick list for a considerable time, although now, we are pleased to say, fully recovered, and having also failed to secure votes enough to make his "calling and election sure" to the office of Register and Recorder, which likewise pleases us muchly, some unconscionable scoundrel went through his larder one night last week and came out with something less than a hundred weight of Sam's best meat, but whether of the fresh or salt variety deponent saith tion not. Through all this trying ordeal, has Sam. Kep-hart; still he cannot refrain from indulging the hope that he has experienced the last streak of bad luck, for the present at least. -A young man in the vicinity of Wilmore made arrangements to marry a young lady living near Portage, and after engaging the services of a clergyman to tie the knot, repaired to Portage station, not many days ic man of my acquaintance. He possesses ago, and sent his brother to summon the two good points, at least, and perhaps others. and there and bear him company back to ness. Wilmore, where the ceremony was that day to be consummated. The girl, owing to the fact that she was under age and that it was necessary to get the written consent of her parents, returned answer that the presence of her would-be husband at the parental domicil was imperatively demanded; but, instead of obeying the summons, the prospective bridegroom turned his attention to making love to another female acquaintance whom he casually met while waiting at the station, and the upshot of the whole matter was that he and his new found affinity took the next train for Wilmore, where | tesy. they appeared before a Justice of the Peace and were soon made one in the flesh. - A SINGULAR ACCIDENT .- On the evening of October 31st, locomotive No. 47, P. R., with no cars attached to it, was standing at Gallitzin station. The engineer Herel, Pittsburgh, was stabled | had dismounted to oil the outer machinery lock on Friday morning last by of the locomotive, and the fireman was also ticated man named Patrick McKen- away from his post. A train coming westom he was attempting to eject from ward through the tunnel struck No. 47 with nature. as it was, it had the effect of throwing wide open the valve of the locomotive, and No. 47, with no human agency to govern its motions, started westward, adown a grade of eighty feet to the mile. Its momentum, increased mile by mile, can be better imagined than described. Immediately in front of the National Hotel at Lilly's station, six miles from where it started on its eccentric race. No. 47 came in contact with locomotive No. 131, which was hauling the fourth Cincinnati Express. The former was running at a rate of speed which cannot be estimated, and the latter was making about six miles an hour. The result was a terrible wreck. Both locomotives were smashed to atoms, and a number of cars were broken up. The locomotives were absolutely telescoped, and in a fashion attempted to climb one over the other. Notwithstanding the terrible smash, nobody was hurt. The fireman of No. 131 jumped off his locomotive and sustained no injuries, and the engineer, Joe Henderson, who formerly resided in this town, remained on the locomotive, with his hand on the throttle-valve, and escaped without a scratch. So soon as the runaway engine had left Gallitzin a telegram was sent to Cresson to intercept it and run it off the track, but a delay in the transmission of the message sufficed to allow it to pass the latter station before the idea could be accomplished. All in all, it was a most singular mishap, and has only its parallel in that celebrated accident where a runaway passenger train went downward along the identical same slope of road and struck Powell Sharp's train at or very near the scene of this collision.

> THE RESULT IN CAMBRIA.-The following statement, which is substantially correct, shows the losses of Greeley last Tuesday in the election districts in this county, so far as we have been able to ascertain them, as compared with Buckalew's vote in October when the latter's majority was 755. In the twenty-one southern or Jonstown districts, embracing all that portion of the county south and west of Croyle township, the loss on Buckalew's vote was 531; Summerhill, 29; Wilmore, 2; Washington, 172; Munster, 27; Loretto, 12; Allegheny, 70; Chest, 30; Susquehanna, 18; Carroll township and Carwards of Ebensburg and Cambria township, In the above named districts Greeley ran behind Buckalew 1,064 votes. We have heard nothing from Croyle, Gallitzin, Summitville, Clearfield, White and Chest Springs | and the fact is, they are "institutions" —the balance of the county—but it is safe to say that Greeley ran behind Buckalew in the county at least 1,200 votes. This will explain the reason why Grant has a majority of about 400 in Democratic Cambria, and no man will claim it as a radical victory. In the northern part of the county no Democrat was base enough to compromise his political integrity by voting for Grant, and we feel very certain that the same can be said of the democracy of the southern portion. Cambria is democratic by at least 700, and can always give the State ticket that majority. If certain local difficulties were out of the way, as we trust they will be before another election occurs, the democracy can give the our late "unplesantness." same majority to a good county ticket. The official returns, which we will publish next week, will fully explain the cause of the un- stones in the Catholic cemetery here; and toward result in this county.

WILMORE, Nov. 5, 1872. Dear Freeman-Since I wrote my last episde, our delightful dry autumn weather has been somewhat varied by copious showers of rain, which was much needed in consequence of a scarcity of water, for although we have had sufficient rain for the luxuriant growth of all vegetation, wells that have never been known to fail to yield an abundant supply of water have been entirely dry during the fall, and this appears to be the case in many localities in the east, while we read of numerous instances in the west, especially in what in our school days was called the Great American Desert, of springs and waters bursting forth where water was never known before. These singular facts naturally lead to the inquiry, is our water level sinking and is the water of the Eastern States sinking to reappear in the desert, or on the Pacific slope? And our seasons, too, are they not changing? Every one whose recollection goes back twenty-five or thirty years, say that the seasons are very different now from what they were then. It is said that fossils discovered by recent geological investigations prove to a demonstration that what is now the temperate zone was once the torrid zone; and if this great change occurred once, may not that same mutation now be going on again, and may not our planet "swing around the circle" until our portion of it brings up in Arctic regions? We confess that this is a shicering idea, but we trust that ere the catastrophe occurs, we, with all now living, shall have "shuffled off this mortal coil." But, seriously, is there not a wide field here for all who are fond of scientific investigation?

It is our sad duty to record the death of Mrs. Catharine McBreen, mother of James and Thomas McBreen, the former of this vicinity and the latter of your town. The deceased was esteemed by her friends and and a sincere and devout follower of her Divine Master, and at an advanced age (76) Highest price paid for prime quality by L. M. The old residents of Wilmore and vicinity are dropping away like leaves in autumn, and soon they will all be gone "to that home from whence no tarveler returns." Our mercantile friends, John McColgan, and P. M. Woleslagle & Son, have brought rolltown borough, 30; Barr, 45; the two on a large and varied assortment of fall and winter goods that cannot fail to please the most fastidious, and their prices, we feel confident, will be satisfactory to all buyers. These gentlemen are courteons and obliging, we could not afford to disperse with. The Messrs. Woleslagle are now fairly established in their new and extensive store room and we can only say that the room is complete stock of BILLIARD TABLES at prices a little we can only say that the room is complete
