Two LADIES GORED BY A COW.-Near Blairsville, Indiana county, on Saturday suppose, reader? Nothing evening ast, Mrs. Henry tries and daughter, aunt and consin of our respected townsman, T. J. Chapman, Esq., County Superintendent, were, as we learn from the Altoona Tribune, terribly gored by a cow. Mrs. Tries, aged about sixty years, had been to town for the purpose of transacting some the amalgamationists still adhere to the business, and upon returning to her home just outside the borough limits, proceeded to the barn-yard for the purpose of milking a vicious cow, when the animal turned upon her and inflicted very serious, and, probably, fatal injuries. The enraged brute gored the old lady in the face, the point of one of the horns entering her upper lip and coming out just below the left eve, tearing out her upper jaw, a portion of her nose and a part of the side of her face. She was also thrown violently to the ground and stamped upon by the animal. Miss Lilly Tries, a young lady aged eighteen years, and daughter of the former lady, rushed to the rescue of her mother. when she too was attacked by the maddened brute and gored in the leg between the hip and the knee, losing a considerable quantity of flesh and sustaining a very painful injury. The latter will probably ecover, but fears are entertained that the injuries sustained by Mrs. Tries will result fatally, although surgical aid was promptly summoned.

Local Correspondence.

JOHNSTOWN, April 30, 1873. Dear Freeman .- The sly local of the Tribune thus touchingly draws the portrait of several colored brethren preachers. Of Rev. Fortune he says: "When he first arrived in the village (Johnstown) he was 1.00 unable to read, but by dint of hard study he was soon able to master the alphabet.' Of Mr. J---- he says: "He now sleeps calmly and peacefully in Sandy Vale Cemetery, where the flowing waters of the Stony creek ripple his requiem." The local of the Voice, however, is ten spots ahead. He is not only familiar with the Bible, but also with Hoyle. He says of Congress:

"Would it not be better to clean out the whole crew of Congressmen at Washington, as Christ scourged with rods the moneylenders from the temple, and elect men and better men? Do we not need an entire new deal in which the cards will not be stocked, and in which the 'Heathen Chinee,' the pol iticians by profession, will not held four aces in his hand for the purpose of respectable robbery." M. P. MEAGHER. The subject of this memoir was born in 650.00 Ireland, but came to this country a few years ago. About three years since he located in Johnstown, and his quick business eye perceived that something was wanting in a town and county that had so many representatives from the Emerald Isle. So he immediately opened a book store for the sale of religious books and periodicals. His enterprise proved a success, and he has just lately laid in an imand 77 perches in Richland twp.. 1,149.00 | mense stock of religious books suitable for the Catholic service, which he will sell at New York prices. It is said that angels sometimes visit us unaware. We do not know how this is, but we do know that Mr. Meagher is as good as an angel at any time, and he is now doing as much good. With a heart as large as the Peak of Tenneriffe, and a business tact possessed by 1,800.00 few, he is now supplying the county with such books as the Lives of Father Gallitzin and Reger B. Taney, Bibles, prayer-books, catechisms, and other religious works, pictures, crucifixes, newspapers, etc., at the cheapest possible rates. We hope every find a most obliging gentleman to deal with, and no churl in any respect. He keeps near Brady's old hotel, opposite the Marble Works, Franklin street.

OIL AND WATER. The great issue between white and black doctrine that oil and water will not mix is this borough built a house on a lot owned by the M. E. Church, and when they vacated it they sold the house to that Church. Having no use for it, the latter rented it to the Albright Church, every member of which is a Republican and old Know-Nothing. This Church used the building aforesaid for about three months, when the M. E. Church also rented it to the negroes, who have greatly increased in this place since Messrs. Rosensteel & Co. have hired pegroes instead of white men to run their tannery. When the Albrights found out that they had to associate with negroes, they left the building and demanded that their rent should be refunded. Some of negroes, but nine-tenths of the people are in favor of the Albright movement. Let Shem. So say we. Oil and water will not

THE LATE STORMS. There are three theories given for the very late spring and the very long winter. One is, that the crust of the earth is cooling or getting thicker every year, and the fire at the center is diminishing. The second theory is, that the fire in the sun is ure at the expense of health ought to be decreasing. The large spots on the sun are burnt out districts that afford no heat. The third theory is, that the earth is going away from the sun, every annual revolution sending it out further and further towards the limits of the universe. Our theory is, that man is a confounded grumbler, and one he ever saw, and my theory is correct.

EARLY POTATOES. If farmers want early potatoes, let them purchase the "Peerless Potato," and cut each one so that each cut will have an eye, then plant them about a foot deep, in rich soil, around the ears and chins of the local editors of the Johnstown papers. If they don't grow it will not be for the want of peerless soil and bone dust, but for want the buds to germinate after the reportorial career has shuffled off its mortal coil. That's what you fellows get for telling us to got to h-China.

LINCOLN STREET. There is a quarrel about opening Lincoln street. Indeed, we never knew anything of that name that there was not a quarrel about. Even the monument of the ate lamented stands unfinished, some Godforsaken carpet-bagger having done the job half and pocketed the profits. As this fight about the street is all in the Lincoln family, we will say nothing on either side. A. K. is a good friend of ours. So is F. W. H., and so is J. M. C., and so is C. B. E.. and the only way we can keep out of the fight is just to say that it is not a Democratic measure. Just call it Adams street, or Greely street, and then we are in! But, seriously, we think the time will come when that street and Locust must be opened, and the sooner the quicker.

HOME AGAIN, April 27, 1873 DEAR FREEMAN-No doubt you are surprised at my long silence. In truth, I tho't we endorse every word of it. I had seen enough of the world, but I see verified in my own person the wise saving has ever returned? Still I must confess tronage.

that my heart yearns after those dear associations that are inseperably linked with Home. Often indeed we meet true friends whose kind words cheer our drooping spirits. Still there is something wanting-some dear one to whom we can open our oppressed and sail heart without reserve-some one to calm our agitated mind with gentle words and encourage us on in the narrow path which leads to a happy eternity. And where can such a person be found? Where is the abode of

I was much surprised, in looking over my mail matter, to find a letter from a young lady who was evidently much hurt by the perusal of my last epistle in the Freeman, ablished some time ago. Now I protest sincerely that I had no intention to hurt any one's feelings, much less the feelings of the fair one from whom I received the following billet douz. I have no doubt that she is ere this sorry for her hasty scribbling; yet it is in justice to myself, as well as for the benefit of your other correspondents, that I give this offended beauty's letter in full : HOME, Feb'y 20th, 1873. MR. ROVER-Sir: It ill becomes you to give instructions to others, since you have not ye learned to conduct yourself as a polite gentle man. Although you did not give real names in your recent letter to the Freeman, I know full well for whom your sarcastic remarks were ntended. Your design has failed. does not excuse you. Could you have done worse you surely would have done it. I cannot forbear telling you, worthy sir, how much us girls admire those thirteen hairs on your upper lip which you are pleased to style a mustache. It looks very well indeed, but it lacks the essential number of hairs. I would advise you to wash your face and wait two or three years more. You might then, with the aid of a little essence of boot-blacking, get up something presentable in the shape of a mustache. Many will agree with me in saying that trying to force nature is worse than using cosmetics.

Yours, contemptuously.

PROF. FOWLER'S GREATEST WORK. The National Publishing Company, of Philadelphia, have just issued a very important and valuable work, by Prof. O. S. FARM HOUSE HOTEL, April 26, '73. MR. EDITOR-I am glad to be able to inform you, and through your paper the publie, that the people are every day becoming more impressed with the confident hope that there will be such united and harmonious action in our next county convention as will ensure an old-fashioned majority for the ontire Democratic ticket next fall. There is seemingly a settled determination on part of the rank and file of the party to ignore all and every effort put forth by aspirants for office to pledge and tie down the delegates for any man or set of men who may desire that none but themselves should be considered as entitled to public favor. With such a purpose, and desiring such results as union and triumph for the whole ticket, it behooves the people to see to it that some but tried and true men of the party are elected as delegates to the county convention. That done, the next step should be to "let the office seek the man," and then indeed will all be well with the party. The cry of "Ring" and "packed convention" will in the event of such a course no longer be made the pretext for disagreement and dissension. Let the past be forgotten in the better spirit of the present, and then even he who is without sin will have no excuse for casting the first stone. I have learned with much pleasure of the ommendation bestowed by many worthy Democrats upon an editorial on this subject in a recent issue of the Johnstown Democrat. and feel some pride in knowing that my previous communication was the text from which that well-timed sermon was preached. If the advice given in the article referred to is heeded and acted upon in the selection of delegates, who can doubt the result?

and everlasting growlers be given to understand that offices were not made for the needy and the greedy, but for the benefit and advantage of the whole people-the laborer, the mechanic, the professional man-for men in every station of life, provided they are capable, honest and deserving. Let all sectional differences be forgotten; let uo preference other than their personal merits warrant be given in the selection of candidates for office, no matter whether they aspire from the "Mountein Top," the village ward, or the populous city in the valley. Let there be no preference for nationality, creed, or position in life. Let no pledge or combination stand in the way of selecting a ticket fresh from the ranks of the party, whether the chosen ones be known as aspirants for office or not. Such a spirit I believe now prevails among the masses of the party, and sented and a glorious victory will follow as a matter of course. Yours, &c., For.
