-Mr. Robert Kerr, an old and much esteemed citizen of East Conemaugh, was run over by a train of cars at that place, on Wednesday night of last week, and had one of his legs so terribly crushed that the injured limb had to be amputated. Notwithstanding his great age, nearly seventy years, the unfortunate man is in a fair way of recovery.

-A man named John Moore jumped off a passenger train, on Friday night last, while it was passing over Clearfield creek, Clearfield county, and fell a distance of fifty feet, but, wonderful to say, escaped with his life, although he came out with face and throat terribly lacerated, his windpipe having been about half severed. He will recover.

-Our esteemed friend, Hon. Peter F. Collins, while visiting his parental home in this place a few days ago, had the mis-fortune to lose his pocket-book, containing about ten dollars in money and several val-uable notes and papers. The finder is at liberty to keep the money if he or she will return the pocket-book and the balance of its contents through the Ebensburg postoffice or otherwise.

-A prominent citizen of the East Ward was upset and had the wind completely knecked out of him a few nights ago by a gentleman from the rural districts, after which the latter, impressed no doubt with the idea that he had committed a murder, hastily mounted his horse and left town on a double quick. If he should stop short of the jumping off place it will be because he has got over his scare.

-We sincerely trust that every Democratic voter in Cambria county will go to the delegate election next Saturday. The attendance of the honest masses at the polls, and the selection of none but trustworthy men to represent them in the convention, is the surest means by which an unobjectionable ticket can be secured. Let no man who has the interests of his county and his party at heart neglect this duty.

The members of the Ebensburg Silver Cornet Band are very enthusiastic in the expression of their gratitude for the kind treatment vouchsafed them on the occasion of their recent visit to Summitville. Two more competent or obliging landlords than the gentlemen named are not to found anywhere, and we heartily commend them to the patronage of all who visit the Summit, a most delight-

KILLED AT WILMORE .- Wednesday we made a brief note of the fact that a man had been killed at Wilmore. To-day we are enabled to give further particulars. It is upposed that the deceased either jumped or from the Fast Line west, on Monday evening, as when first found, shortly after that train passed, he was still living, although almost unconscious. Assistance was mmediately summoned, and while the unortunate man was being conveyed to the vilage of Wilmore, and just at the bridge crossing the stream, he suddenly exclaimed in a loud tone—"I'm a son of a —," and immediately expired. An examination of his clothing was made, and in one of his pockets was found a ticket from Gallitzin to East Conemaugh, that had not been punched. Several letters were also found upon his person which would seem to indicate gang of robbers and thieves. He also had a bottle of whisky with him. The letters Wilmore. There is a suspicion affoat that he may have been one of the party who robbed Michel, of Cambria borough, of $180, the previous night, as he answered the description of one of the party who took the money. - Johnstown Tribune.

A CARD.—Mr. Editor: Owing to the fact that it is a difficult matter to make a nomination which will be endorsed by the people, and also to the fact that my position has been misunderstood by my Democratic friends, I have concluded to withdraw my name as a candidate for Assembly. In so doing, I have not been convinced of having labored under any error or perversion of Democratic principle, but solely for the purpose of promoting harmony and peace in the Democratic party. CHEST SPRINGS, June 16, 1873. DEAR FREEMAN-The most delightful season of the year-the season during which all mankind are prone to admire and revel in the beauties of nature—having put in an appearance once more, it behooves me to intimate that one of the most delightful spets on the Alleghenies at which to hold pic-nics is Mr. Mathew McMullin's Grove, distant about three miles from this place, on the road leading to Carrolltown. In addition to the splendid grove, there is a fine race-course on the grounds, where owners of fast horses can put their respective equines through their paces in either long or short metre.

There was a pic-nic held in this grove on the 14th inst., at which enjoyment reigned supreme and the best of music was discoursed Messrs, Moran, Conrad and Denovan o are certainly deserving of great praise for their pleasing efforts on that occasion .-The racing commenced about 3 p. m., the horses participating being owned by Messrs. Owens, Nagle and Yahner respectively. Mr. Owens' horse came out about forty feet ahead of Nagle's, and Nagle's came out about the same distance in advance of Yahner's. It was a beautiful day, and everything passed off in fine style. The young folks enjoyed themselves in dancing and other invigorating amusements, and the old folks were as merry as the young. All seemed to enjoy themselves hugely.

There is to be another pic-nic on the 4th of July at the same place, when horse racing will again be in order. All wishing to enjoy themselves in a sociable and agreeable manner will find McMullin's Grove the very place to do it to their hearts' content. J.

WILMORB, June 18, 1873. DRAR FREEMAM-A man whose name I failed to learn was killed by the cars on the Pennsylvania Railroad at this point, on Monday evening of last week. Our young friend John Hagan, foreman at Blackburn's coal bank, than whom there is no more affable gentleman to be found, has this day put off the weeds of widowhood and taken unto himself a fair and amiable bride in the person of Miss Angeline McLaughlin, of Portage. Politicians have been buinming around quite promiscuously of late. As the fruit of their labors, there will be about three sets of delegates in the field hereaway on Saturday next.

Our friend 'Squire Miller has requested me to state that the prize calf which he pet-ted and caressed all over in former days was recently sold by Mr. Patrick Doran, its late owner, to Mr. Joseph Dashner, of Gallitzin, and when killed it kicked the scales to the tune of 882 pounds, not including the hide, which weighed 114 pounds.

LORETTO, June 16, 1873. DEAR FREEMAN-On Saturday last the Keystone Base Ball Club of Ebensburg came to Loretto to play the Club of St. Francis' College. The match was played on the College grounds and continued for three hours, resulting in a complete victory for the students. The innings stood 35 for the latter and 17 for the Keystones. The students render a public acknowledgment to the impar-tiality of the umpire, Mr. Fes. Lloyd, of Ebensburg, and return thanks to all the members of the Keystone for their kindness and congeniality, which aided to make the match a pleasing and memorable event. On next Saturday afternoon the College Club will try their skill with the Club of Loretto. SPECTATOR.

ATTEMPTED RAPE.-The Osceola Reeille says: "On Friday night a Mrs. Lansbury, living near Woodland, on the Tyrone and Clearfield Railroad, was attacked by a man in a state of nudity, with his face blacked, who threw her down with the intention of violating her person. The vil-lain would in all probability have accom-plished his fiendish purpose, had it not been for the screams of the woman. Her husband was, fortunately, by accident, within hearing distance, and rushed to her relief. At the sound of his approaching footsteps, the scoundrel let go his victim, and run into the woods, but not before his bare legs and face had been lacerated by the nails of the woman in her efforts to release herself. The husband followed the culprit, but soon lost sight of him in the darkness. The wo-man thought that she recognized in the brute a man named Frank Grey, who is was innocent, and clear himself. Grey act-ed upon this advice, and on Saturday had a stripped and examined, and corresponding which he could render no satisfactory explanation, he was committed to court.

TRRRIBLE AND FATAL ACCIDENT .- On JUDGE HALL, of the Bedford and Frank-lin Judicial District, in the absence of Judge Dean, who was called home by sickness in his family, held court here the latter part of last week; and we are gratified to learn that attached to a spring-wagon, to attend Rev. Mr. Woods jumped from the wagon with

It is not expected that Mr. Woods and his daughter can recover, their injuries being very severe. This terrible accident has cast a gloom over the entire community. Mr. Woods is a well-known and excellent citizen, and his neighbors and friends are greatly distressed at the sudden and unexpected accident, which will probably result in the death of three of the members of the family.
P. S.—Since writing the above we learn that Mr. Woods died on Monday night, after the most intense suffering. The young girl is not expected to recover .- Indiana

CLEVELAND, O., June 16, 1873. FRIEND MAC.—As you are almost constantly publishing letters from various parts of the country, I hope a few words from this place will. this place will prove interesting to some of your readers.

Cleveland, at this season of the year, presents a magnificent appearance. Her broad avenues, finely shaded with trees, from which she derives the name of "Forest City," her finely paved streets, beautiful parks and gardens, together with her pleas-ant situation on Lake Erie, whose cool, refreshing breezes render the atmosphere pleasant and agreeable, make it one of the most desirable places imaginable, while her situation gives her great commercial ad-

More vessels are employed in lake navi gation this year than ever before. The marine reports show that thirty-one vessels cleared the port of Cleveland on June 11th, while almost as many entered. A great number of vessels are employed in the lumber trade with Michigan, where immense quantities of lumber are cut and shipped to this place. The ore trade with Lake Superior also employs quite a number of vessels, large quantities of the ore being sent East from here by rail. Besides her Lake traffic, several important railroads enter this city. principal among which are the Eric, the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, Cleveland and Pittsburgh, Atlantic and Great Western, Cleveland and Toledo railroads, besides several others of minor impostance. The Union Depot at this place, the largest in the United States, was erected in 1865, at an immense cost.

One of the most pleasing features of Cleveland is Monumental Park. This beautiful park, situated in the centre of the city, derives its name from Perry's monument, built to commemorate Com. Perry's victory on Lake Erie, September 10, 1813. The park is handsomely laid out and adorned with fine shade trees, water-works, parkhouse, etc. Perry's monument stands in the centre of the park. It is about twenty feet square at the base and is surmounted by a statue of Commodore Perry eleven feet high, which is enclosed by a neat iron railing with a lamp at each of the four corners. At the base of the monument is a piece of cannon which was captured from the British on the eventful 18th of September, 1813. Cleveland has increased rapidly in population within the last five years, her present population being estimated at considerably bove 100,000 souls.

Quite an amusing incident occurred on the Woodland avenue street cars a short time ago. Among the passengers was a lady and gentleman who appeared to enjoy each other's society immensely. The gen tleman, seeing something amiss, slipped his arm around the lady's neck, to arrange some part of her toilet, no doubt, and forgot to remove it. They both conversed very pleasantly meantime, and ever and anon the gent would send a little life down his left arm, and everything was lovely for a little while, until some sport, as he leaped from the rear platform, yelled out, "Don't choke her?" The effect was electrical. The gentleman's face assumed the color of scarlet and the lady gazed intently at the bottom of the car, while the half-suppressed laughter of the passengers told very plainly how well the joke was appreciated.

Wishing the readers of the Freeman and its editor a pleasant and agreeable Fourth of July, I remain Yours, truly, CANAN.—At the residence of R. H. Canan, Esq., at 2 o'clock this morning, of gastric fever, William H. Canan, in the 58th year of his age.

In the death of Wm. H. Canan, Johnstown has lost one of its quiet and unpretending, but most excellent citizens. He was the second son of Hon. Moses Canan, for many years prominently identified with the Bar of Cambria county. Wm. Canan spent several of his boyhood years in Ebensburg, in the store of his uncle, Silas Moore, at one time owner of a line of starge coaches be. ensburg, in the store of his uncie, Silas Moore, at one time owner of a line of stage coaches between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. Mr. Mogre sent William, while yet in his teems, to superfutend the business of the stage line in the city of Pittsburgh. Though very young, he managed the important interests committed to him with distinguished success. In 1848 he was competed to retire for a time from business on account of failing eyesight. He subsequently went to California, by what was then familiarly called the overland route, little dreaming that he would live to see a railroad connecting the Atlantic and Pacific. The hardships of the journey so prostrated him that he remained in Sun Francisco but three days—a physician there assuring him that his life depended upon an immediate return to the "States." He embarked on a vessel for New Orleans, but when in the Caribbean sea the vessel was wrecked on a desertished. on a vessel for New Orleans, but when in the Caribbean sea the vessel was wrecked on a desert island. The crew and passengers, numbering sixty-one, remained on the island fortreen days, during which time several of them died. In the year 1851 he came to Johnstown, where he has resided ever since. In the winter of 1861 he was united in marriage with Miss Eliza Lucas, youngest daughter of Mr. David Lucas, one of our oldest and best citizens.

Mr. Canan's eventful life affords ample material for a extended memoir, but it is not our purpose to write it now. It is enough to add here, that for these more than twenty years he has maintained an irreproachable character, and left to his friends that richest of all legacies, a good name. During his iliness he spoke of his trust in Christ, and calmly committed all to the care and keeping of his Heavenly Father.
