THE returns from California and other portions of the West are most cheering, and show that the people are fully aroused to a sense of their rights and duties. The money power has received a reverse from which it will seek in vain to recover. Banks, corporations and monopolists of every sort have found themselves powerless before the mighty arm of an outraged people.

All over the country the masses are gathering strength and courage from the result in the mighty West, and even Pennsylvania is awakening to a sense of her duty in the coming campaign.

God speed the people's cause, and may the popular wave roll on until our State and national governments are restored to their pristine purity, when princely salaries and official swindling will be banished from the land.
