ARTICLE IV. THE EXECUTIVE.

Section 1. The Executive Department of this Commonwealth shall consist of a Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of the Commonwealth, Attorney General, Auditor General, State Treasurer, Secretary of Internal Affairs, and a Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Section 2. The entire executive power shall be vested in the Governor, who shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed; he shall be chosen on the day of the general election by the qualified electors of the Commonwealth, at the places where they shall vote for Representatives. The returns of every election for Governor shall be sealed up and transmitted to the seat of government directed to the President of the Senate, who shall open and publish them in the presence of the members of both houses of the General Assembly. The person having the highest number of votes shall be Governor, but if two or more be equal and highest in votes, one of them shall be chosen Governor by the joint vote of the members of both houses. Contested elections shall be determined by a committee, to be selected from both houses of the General Assembly, and formed and regulated in such manner as may be prescribed by law.

Section 3. The Governor shall hold his office during four years from the third Tuesday of January next ensuing his election, and shall be eligible to the office for the next succeeding term.

Section 4. A Lieutenant Governor shall be chosen at the same time, in the same manner, for the same term, and subject to the same provisions as the Governor; he shall be president of the Senate, but shall have no vote unless they be equally divided.

Section 5. No person shall be eligible to the office of Lieutenant Governor unless he shall have attained the age of thirty years, and shall have been seven years next preceding his election a citizen of the Commonwealth, and shall have been absent from the public business of the United States or of this State.

Section 6. No member of Congress or person holding any office under the Government of the State shall exercise the office of Governor or Lieutenant Governor.

Section 7. The Governor shall be commander-in-chief of the militia, and of the National Guard, and shall have the power to call out the militia, and to direct its operations, and to appoint and dismiss its officers, and to regulate its discipline, and to award medals and honors to its members.

Section 8. The Governor shall have the power to pardon and commute the sentences of criminals, and to grant reprieves, commutations of sentence and pardons, except in cases of impeachment, but no pardon shall be granted, nor sentence commuted, except upon the recommendation in writing of the Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of the Commonwealth, Attorney General and Secretary of Internal Affairs, and after public notice, and in open session, and such recommendation, with the reasons therefor at length, shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Section 9. He may require information in writing from the officers of the Executive Department, and shall have the power to direct the duties of their respective offices.

Section 10. He shall, from time to time, give to the General Assembly information of the state of the Commonwealth, and recommend such measures as he may judge expedient.

Section 11. He may, on extraordinary occasions, convene the General Assembly, and adjourn it to such time as he shall think proper, not exceeding four months. He shall have power to convene the Senate in extraordinary session, and to adjourn it, and to direct the duties of the members of the Senate during such adjournment.

Section 12. He may, on extraordinary occasions, convene the General Assembly, and adjourn it to such time as he shall think proper, not exceeding four months. He shall have power to convene the Senate in extraordinary session, and to adjourn it, and to direct the duties of the members of the Senate during such adjournment.

Section 13. In case of the death, conviction on impeachment, failure to qualify, resignation, or the disability of the Governor, the powers, duties, and emoluments of the office for the remainder of the term, or until the disability be removed, shall devolve upon the Lieutenant Governor, or, if there be no Lieutenant Governor, upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth, or, if there be no Secretary of the Commonwealth, upon the Attorney General, or, if there be no Attorney General, upon the Auditor General, or, if there be no Auditor General, upon the State Treasurer, or, if there be no State Treasurer, upon the Secretary of Internal Affairs, or, if there be no Secretary of Internal Affairs, upon the Superintendent of Public Instruction, or, if there be no Superintendent of Public Instruction, upon the President of the Senate, or, if there be no President of the Senate, upon the Vice President of the Senate, or, if there be no Vice President of the Senate, upon the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, or, if there be no Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, upon the next highest officer in the Executive Department.

Section 14. In case of a vacancy in the office of Lieutenant Governor, or when the Lieutenant Governor shall be impeached by the House of Representatives, or shall be unable to perform the duties of his office, the powers, duties, and emoluments thereof for the remainder of the term, or until the disability be removed, shall devolve upon the President of the Senate, or, if there be no President of the Senate, upon the Vice President of the Senate, or, if there be no Vice President of the Senate, upon the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, or, if there be no Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, upon the next highest officer in the Executive Department.

Section 15. Every bill which shall have passed the General Assembly shall be presented to the Governor; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if he shall not approve, he shall return it with his objections to the house in which it originated, and which shall reconSIDER it, and if after such reconsideration, two-thirds of the members voting thereon shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent with the objections to the other house, by which, likewise, it shall be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of all the members voting thereon, it shall become a law; but in such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journals of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the Governor within ten days after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the General Assembly, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall be a law, unless he shall file the same, with his objections, in the office of the Sec-
