THE long protencted struggle in the Massachusetts Legislature to elect a Senator to fill the unexpired term of Charles Summer, was terminated last Friday by the election of Wm. B. Washburne, the present Governor of the State. The Democrats, from the first to the last ballot, stood firmly to-Judge Curtis.

HON. ALLEN G. THURMAN, the able Democratic Senator from Onio, addressed a letter to the anti-inflationist meeting held in Cincinnati last week, in which, among other excellent things,

"I took my position after lung and careful study, and from a perfect conviction of its correctness. I knew full well how easy it would be to acquire temporary popwhat I know to be wrong in order to acquire unmerited praise. Besides I cannot disregard the teachings of that party to able paper money is one of the worst ev la with which any country can be cursed."

The radical members of the House at Harrisburg held one of their usual caucus meetings a few days ago, and among other resolutions modestly adopted the following:

Resolved, That the Republican members of the House stand prepared to decide all questions that come before them on their merits alone, and will not, therefore, take caucus action on non-partisan bills which will come before them for an unbiased consideration.

We suppose that a legislative apportionment bill, 'the legitimate ob ject of which ought to be to give each political party in the State its proper representation in the Legislature, is one of the "questions" that ought to be decided on its "merits alone." Do the radicals in the House who passed the foregoing brazenly impudent resdetermined to pass a bill which in all its provisions, both in the aggregate and in the detail, is unfair, unjust and atrocious, and which will disfranchise at least one hundred thousand Democratic voters in the State. They propose to make a desert waste of the Democratic party and then ask that party to call it peace.
