The Fortherning Potate Crop.

It is worth the effort of some statis tician to compute the amount of wealth added to the community through the influence of the agricultural newspapers, and the immense amount of human misery and want which it guards against and turns away. When the potato disease appeared in England, some thirty years ago, the result was starvation to thousands of people. There were no agricultural papers as we now understand them, if indeed there be any even now of the popular character, reaching almost every farmer's home, that America presents. No one knew anything of potato diseases or diseases of any kind; no one knew or had any idea of the approach of disaster; and when it come it was all lose no one was prepared with an extra erop to supply any deficiency.

Such an event as a great famine like that which followed in Ireland, and to some extent in England, on the failure of the potato, is impossible in these days of agricultural I terature. There is no better illustration of this than in the history of the Colorado potato-beetle, and the prospects of the crop to-day. Thousands and thousands of bushels of potatoes have been destroyed, or at least would have been raised, that were not, solely on account of the existence of this insect plugue; and yet the price of potatoes has not materially increased during the past twenty years. As trouble originates it is made known and discussed by the agricultural press, its cause and cure exposed and large quantities planted in the uninfected districts, to take the place of those likely to be destroyed. In this way the equifibrium is maintained, prices kept at near uniform standard, and absolute want kept away. The potatto crop of the present season is also a capital illustration of these truths. The information so widely spread of the advance of the insect, has led to an immense planting in some of the eastern States. The northern scaboard States, usually plant large quantities of these roots, as the facilaties for cheap water transportation is a great advantage over the planting far in the interior. But this year, as we have on good authority. there has been much more land given to potatoes than there has been for some years, in spite of the dry weather experienced in many districts, which somewhat injured the crop, and the complete loss by insects in others, the prospects are, that the market will be as well filled as ever next season, and there will be no material increase in price. It is of course to soon to tell yet how much, if at all, the crop will suffer from the rot, as this when it comes, makes its appearance later in the season; but so far as the foliage has been unusually healthy, and the indications of probable disease of this character very slight - Germanious Telegraph:

WHITEWASHING .- There is nothing a woman is more deeply concerned in than her whitewashing, or nothing she is so conceited about as her own efforts in that line, if it doesn't "strenk." To keep it from "streaking" is her highest ambition, and when she has succeeded, every woman within a mile is dragged to see it, and her unfortunate husband is forced to admire it until he hurts his neck. Every woman, too, has a natural desire to see her husband white-wash. When she has a job of it on hand she invariably proffers it to him with a strong expression of doubt in his ability to perform ita distrust he hastens to confirm with a cheerful alacrity. Man's antipathy to whitewashing arises manly from having at some time or another stepped on the handle of a white-wash brush reposing across a pail, thereby throwing about two quarts of the mixture over himself and the furniture. besides tipping over the pail and emptying its contents in his shoes.

TWO BEST

Mowing and Reaping MACHINES ever brought before the public.

THESUPERIOR has a SCREW POWER, has no cog gearing, is SIMPLE, NOISELESS, DURABLE, and a pow-criul Machine, and runs light. Although only three years before the public, there are over TEN THOUSAND of them now in use, and owing to the atisfaction they have given, it is expected the sale f these Machines this year will double those of any previous season. The REAPER ATIACH-MENT to it also HAS NO SUPERIOR. The Improvat! Iron Frame

BUCKEYE has been before the public about ten years, and the fact that there are over ONE HUNDRED and TWENTY THOUSAND in use at the present time, with a largely increased yearly demand for them, is a better recommendation than pen can indite. They are very simple, strong, durable and light running; and if you want a REAPER ATTACHMENT at any time, you can have a selection out of four different kinds which the Company manufactures—so you cannot fail to be satisfied. FARMERS

Money Saved is Money Earned

The undersigned are about introducing in West-ern Pennsylvania the celebrated Randell Fanning Mill, Grain Separator and Grader Combined, ch has attracted marked attention in the West-States wherever exhibited among the farmers, s a Fanning Mill it cannot be surpassed, and the only real separator and grander in the U.S. It is simple, rapid and complete, and gives you erfect control in chaffing, separating or grading The use of the Randell Mill will improve the condition of your grain, enhance the price from five to fifteen cents per bushel: and besides will large-ly increase the yield per acre, by the higher grade of seed you are enabled to obtain.

With the Randell Separator you can also clean your own Grass Seed, thus saving a large annual expense for grass seeds.

This mill works on an entire new principle as applied to Fanning Mills, and does its work to perfection. Canvassers will exhibit it during the season, when you will be able to judge for yourselves o s merits. Do not buy until yeu see it work. For information, address Perspiration.

The amount of liquid matter which passes through the microscopical tubes of the skin in twenty-four hours, in any adult person of sound health, is about sixteen fluid ounces, or one pint. One ounce of the sixteen is solid matter, made up of organic and inorganic substances, which, if allowed to remain in the system for a space of time would cause death. The rest is water. Besides the water and solid matter, a large amount of carbonic acid, a gaseous body, passes through the tubes; so we cannot fail to understand that they are active workers, and also we cannot fail to see the importance of keeping them in perfect working order, removing obstructions by frequent application of water, or by some other means.

Suppose we obstruct the functions of the skin perfectly by varnishing a person completely with a compound, impervious to moisture. How long will he live? Not over six hours. The experiment was once tried on a child in Florence. Pope Leo, the tenth, on the occasion of his accession to the papal chair, wished to have a living figure to represent the Golden Age, and so he gilded a poor child all over with varnish and gold leaf. The child died in a few hours. If the fur of a rabbit or the skin of a pig be covered with a solution of India rubber in naptha, the animal ceases to breathe in two hours.

Bows.

Bows is a young man of lazy and easy habits. He is a graceful young man. He can owe a tailor's bill with more grace than Count D'Orsay, and put him off when he presents his bill with a suavity so delicious that the tailor feels like trusting him some more-when he pays that last account. Bows is a married man. His wife prevailed on him to go to church. The minister preached an eloquent sermon, and its telling truths would have brought tears into the eyes of Bows, but that he remembered that his supply of clean handkerchiefs was limited to one. The text of the sermon moved Bows most of all. It was, "Go to the ant. thou sluggard." He went home pondering deeply over this text, and next morning he packed his tranks, took all his family-including his mother-in-law and the tame parrot-and called on his aunt and stayed for two months. Now he is hunting for that minister. He wants him to preach something as interesting about his uncle, or his grandfather, or any of his cousins. The aunt, too, wants to see that minister. She just wants to give him a piece of her mind. One piece of it is that "he is a cabbageheaded old fool, who is about as able to preach sense as she is to build a railroad across the Atlantic ocean."

How the Indians Dun.

The Hartford Courant evolves the following theory :

"There has been some philological doubt as to the phrase 'After him with a sharp stick.' It may have occurred to many that the 'sharp stick' referred to is the muchfeared 'January bill.' And it would seem there was some ground for this. The Neeshenan Indians of California have not the brutal and disagreeable habit prevalent among us of sending dunning bills. When one Indian owes another, it is considered bad taste, as it is, for the creditor to dun the debtor. He proceeds with more delicacy. He procures a certain amount of sticks, according to the amount of the debt, and paints a ring around the end of each. These he carries, tosses into the debtor's wigwam, and then goes away without a word. The debtor pays the debt and destroys the sticks; it is considered a reproach to have danning sticks thrown into the wigwam, and the creditor never uses them except with hard customers."

Anonymous Letters.

It is impossible to foresee all the injury which may be done by an anonymous letter. while any good which it may accomplish can usually be effected by other and prefera-

An old man named Jones was murdered at South Oyster Bay, last June. Abram Southard, of Freeport, had suspicions that a colored man was implicated in the crime, and the plan which suggested itself to his mind for unravelling the mystery was for him to write an anonymous letter on the subject.

Unfortunately the handwriting of Mr.
Southard rescubled that of a half-brother of the murdered man so closely, that experts concluded that the anonymous letter had been written by this half-brother, who was thereupon arrested, and only released after a long examination and on the testimony of long examination and on the testimony of the real author of the letter.
