INFORTANT LEGAL DECISION. - The most important case tried at our late Court was that of Adam Heeter, A. L. Guss and Dr. J. F. Thomp-son vs. Samuel L. Glasgow and Harriet N. Glassources in the second s that plaintiffs had been accommodation endor-sers on several promissory notes of Samuel L. Glasgow, amounting to $2,060. That some time previous to June, 1872. Mr. Glasgow called on Sers on several products of yhot sol samadi 2. Glasgow, amounting to $2,060. That some time previous to June, 1872. Mr. Glasgow called on the plaintiffs with a view of gettiar them to en-dorse more notes for him, which mey declined to do. As an inducement for them to comply with his request, he proposed that if they would endorse his notes for $1,500, his wife would join blm in excepting a motoser on her separate with his request, he project that it would four endorse his notes for $1.50, his wife would four him in executing a mortgage on her separate real estate, as security for the notes previously endorsed by them, and also for the notes which he sought to have them endorse. This propo-sition was accepted by the plaintiffs, and a mortgage was executed by defendants, where-by the wife's separate real estate was mort-gaged as security for any liability then incur-red, or that might thereafter be incurred, en-the part of plaintiffs, by reason of their said endorsements. Mr. Glasgow did not defend in the action as against himself. His wife, how-ever, defended and alleged that the mortgage did not bind her for two reasons : First, because there had been a fraudulent alteration of the mortgage by her husband, after the execution thereof, second, because the mortgage kad not been legally acknowledged by her before the Justice of the Peace who took the acknowl-edgement.

As the Court withdrew the case from the jury the reason set forth in the second ground of defence, it is not necessary that any special re-ference should be made to any other branch of ference should be made to any other branch of the case. The ruling principle in the case was the illegality of the wife's acknowledgment, as taken before the Justice. Mr. Glasgow and his wife wont before P. H. Bence, Esq., a Justice of the Peace, residing in Three Springs, for the purpose of having said mortgage duly acknowl-edged. The Justice asked Mrs. Glasgow if she knew the mature of the instrument she was knew the nature of the instrument she was about to execute-stating to her that if she did not understand it, it was his duty to explain it to her. She replied that she had read the mort-gage and understood it. The Justice then made inquiry of her as to whether she executed the mortgage of her own free will and accord, and mortgage of her own free will and accord, and without any coercion or compulsion on the part of her busband, and she replied that she did. The mortgage was then signed by Mrs. Glasgow and her busband, and duly witnessed. His Honor Judge Dean held that this was not a His Honor Judge Dean held that this was not a substantial compliance with the provisions of the 2d Section of the Act of 1770, which requires the officer before whom the acknowledgment is takenito "read or otherwise make known to the said wife the full contents of such deed or convey-ance." The Justice in this case did not read or ance." The Justice in this case did not read or otherwise make known to the wife the contents otherwise make known to the wife the contents of the morigage, because she informed him that she had read it herself, and understood it. The Court held that if even Mrs. Glasgow did inform the Justice that she had read the deed, and understood the contents of it, she would and understood the contents of it, she would not be stopped from proving the fabily of her declaration to the Justice; and also that the Act requiring the officer before whom the ac-knowledgment is taken to read or otherwise make known to the wife the full contents of the decel must be strictly complied with. Under this instruction of the Court, the Jury readered a verdict against the husband for $3.914.22, and as to the wife they found for the defendant. This is indeed one of the most important decisions rendered in our Court for many years. Acknowledgements of deeds by wives have al-most invariably been taken by our Justices without the Justice either reading or explain-ing to the wife the contents of the deed. These officers have heretofore generally contented themselves with an examination of the wife, separate and apart from the husband, and the assurance by her that she understands the deed control them. The testimony of our best citi zens, of all classes, establishes the fact, that CHERRY PECTORAL will and does relieve and cure the afflicting disorders of the Throat and Lungs beyond any other medicine. The most dangerons affections of the Pulmonary Organs yield to its power; and cases of Consumption, cured by this preparation, are public-ly known, so remarkable as hardly to be believed, were they not proven beyond dispute. As a remody it is adequate, on which the public may rely for full protection. By curing Coughs, the forerunners of more serious disease, it saves unnumbered lives, and an amount of suffering not to be computed. It challenges trial, and con-vinces the most sceptical. Every family should keep it on hand as a protection against the early and unperceived attack of Pulmonary Affections, which are easily not at first, but which become incurable, and too often fatal, if neglected. Ten der lungs need this defence; and it is nuwise to be without it. As a safeguard to children, amid the distressing discuses which beset the Throat and Chest of childbood, CHERRY PECTORAL is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued from premature graves, and saved to the love and affection centred on them.

It acts speedily and surely against ordinary colds, securing sound and health-restoring sleep. No one will suffer troublesome Influenza and painful Brouchitis, when they know how easily they can be cured. Originally the product of long, laborious, and successful chemical investigation, no cost or toil is spared in making every bottle in the utmost possible perfection. It may be confidently re-lied upon as possessing all the virtues it has ever exhibited, and capable of producing cures as memorable as the greatest it has ever effected.

injuries sustained by our friend said road, on Friday morning last; since when a sufficient force of employes, many of whom are from Altoons, has been kept on ticket duty uight and day to prevent the elaying of the pipe. A great deal of oil vas lost by the tearing up of the pipe, and much feeling is manifested in Pittsburgh and thoughout the oil region in consequence of the exciting contest between these two rival coporations. The subject of dispute has ber before the Courts for some time past. -One of these terrible mishaps which so requently attend upon hunting expeditions had its occurrence near Altoona a few days ago. It seems that Joseph F. Brawn, a residentof Logantown, one of the suburbs of Altoma, went to Brush monntain, some three miles distant, on Saturday morning last, in Sold a may as b b. fired his gun under the impression that Wanamaker & Brown, corner Sixth and Market streets, Philadelphia, that stands out to day so prominently in our columns. It is emphatically worth reading. There is the mind of one of the most systematia advanced heads that this business age has produced. Ever striving for the van, Oak Hall, this year, has made, as it justly claims, a great stride up and over business customs. Were the ionse a feeble branch the purchasing world would know it could not stand up to the principles announced. Were the house not noted for its honorable standing, we are sure it would not do it. But customers who have dealt there before will go again, and new ones, drawn by their tempting offers, will try them, and the great Clothing House will reap in the future, as it has in the past, the enormous advantage of abundant means, united with unblemished honor, and an acute sense of what is due between man and man in this important trade.
