teaches us about the condition of society in the lower regions. -The special election on Saturday in this borough for and against water works resulted in a very decided victory for the proposed improvement, the vote standing 149 for to 75 against-the East Ward, which was supposed to be almost unanimously opposed to the movement, giving a majority of 28 in favor of it. Water works may therefore be set down as a fixed fact, so far as voting can aid in securing them.

-The cellar wall of the new dwellinghouse of J. Mills, on Julian street, is now almost complete, and therein consists the difference between the cellar wall referred to and the superb goods in stock at E. J. Mills' mercantile mart down street—the wall being nearly and the stock entirely complete, as well as varied and cheap, com-prising as it does everything that a first-class store in this region usually contains. —There is little in the weather of to-day to encourage any one to fly around and break things in the effort to buy Spring and Sum-mer goods, but it is consoling to think that this kind of weather can't last always, and when the let-up does come, it is equally consoling to know that Myers & Lloyd will have a Spring stock of dry goods, dress goods, and all other goods that cannot fail Mills' mercantile mart down street-the goods, and all other goods that cannot fail to please the tastes, meet the wants, and suit the pocket-books of all our people.

-Hon, A. A. Barker returned home Tuesday last, after a somewhat protracted visit to Florida, and feels himself decidedly improved in a physical if not a political point of view. He carried with him in his going 218 pounds of avoirdupois, and brought back 232 pounds of the same commoditya fact which we note with pleasure, as Mr. Parker is one of our most useful, energetic and honorable citizens, and the more of him, even to the extent of fourteen pounds, the better.

The coal miners in this township have all resumed work at fifty cents per ton, of which they are certainly deserving.
Ail the saw mills are in running order, and are manufacturing lumber rapidly, which is in good demand; and all the logs that were delivered will be manufactured long before the next census will have been taken.
The proposition made by you last week, in regard to the changing of the mode of electing delegates to the county convention, seems to meet the general approval of the people hereaway, and could searcely fail to give satisfaction, if adopted, which I earnestly hope will be the case. It would give sharpers no chance to play their crafty games.
As the time is fast approaching for the election of a County Superintendent, it is to be hoped that a worthy and efficient person will be selected to fill that responsible position.
T see in your last week's issue a flourishing article froin near Portage, bearing the name of "Michael Daly," a quiet, inoffensive old citizen of Summershill township. Mr. Daly, it is needless to say, had no more to do with soid article than the man in the moon or the Khedive of Egypt. The gentleman and scholar who did the scribbling should come out like a man, and not besailing under false colors. He professes great love for the truth, and for that reason, if for no other, ought to use it less paringly than he does. I defy him to point out anything written by me for the FREEMAN which is not literally true, his intimations to the contrary notwithstanding. T also caution him against arranging my remarks to suit himself, as he did with the sentence in dispute, making it read cattrely unbke the original. WE have heard of numerous cases of men-being absent minded, such as Daniel Webster using his silk hat for a spittoon, and Jerry Black putting on six shirts, etc. But one of our near neighbors who is said to be a candidate for a county office, beats them all. He started out of his house on Monday with the coal bucket; but instead of going to the coal house, deliberately proceeded to the well, where he deliberately proceeded to the well, where he drew up "The Old Oaken Bucket," or one of some kind, brimful of sparkling water, and leisurely filled the coal scattle, and not till it began to leak out did he discover his mistake. Then he tried to make his wife believe he was inst washing out the bucket - (largen Dema just washing out the bucket.-Clarion Demo-The Democrat may can't hold a candle to pours out upon the schools and teachers of this township. Enclosed is a fac-simile of that autograph, and I 'think you will agree with me that it is "fearfully and wonder-fully made." It will do more to bring forgers to the mourner's beach than a regiment of Moodys and Sankeys. The fac-similie was clipped from the Indianapolis correspondence of the Cincinnati Commercial, correspondence of the Uncidnali Commercial, of April 3d. That paper, of the same date, says that "Bloss' labors were all in vain, if he thought his penmanship would qualify him to be Spinner's successor." Bloss, as is well Cincinnati Enquirer, who could always Cincinnati Enquirer, who could always "figure up" a Democratic gain, no matter what elec-tion returns said. He is, moreover, reputed to he the worst penman in the United States. Horace Greeley's pot-books were specimens of high art in comparison with Bloss'. Some years ago, during a controversy between the En-quirer and Commercial, the latter paper printed what purported to be a fac-similie of one of Bloss' letters, and very considerately furnished its readers with the key. But Watterson, of the Louisville Courier-Journal, speaking in his next issue ament the so-called fac-simile, said: "No you don't; you can't fool us. We saw that thing before. It's a railroad map of the State of Ohio." Yours, respectfully, C. figure

DEAR SIR: As you are doubless aware, I came bither from Cambria county some lime sgo, for the benefit of my besith. My physical system had become somewhat debilitated, by reason of hard work done in the traces of my political party during a period extending over ny trip, as it wore, so to speak.

MT TRIP.

WY TRUP. Owing to the fact that the sleighing in the Southern States is not good at this season of the year, or at any other, I was obliged per force to perform the journey by rail. There is a charm which attaches to gliding over the glassy surface in a bob-sled, at the rate of three or four miles an bour. Which is more exhiler-ating than any other method of transporta-tion, except it may be riding in a canal boat; and it was much against my will that I was de-prived of that pleasure on this occasion. How-ever, I will do justice to the railroad by saying that had it not been for it. I must have walked WASHINGTON.

Mashington. The first point of importance at which I stopped was Washington City, the National Capital, you know. It is right at the Potomac river, and is sometimes called the "City of Magnificent Distances," because it is such a magnificent distance from the centre of the carth, ten miles north of Ebensburg, as well as from all other places of importance. Of course, my first business was to pay my re-spects to the CRIET MAGISTRATE OF THE NATION. I found Mr. Grant the same man, bearing pre-clocky the same name as when I saw bim b6-fore, having grown neither longer nor shorter, thicker nor thinner. "Mr. President," I in-quired, for I am a man not accustomed to mince matters, having for the major portion of my life lived in the primeval forest, like Cln. cinnatus and Daniel Webster; "Mr. President," I inquired. "what does all this palaver about the third term amount to?" His reply was manly and straight-forward: "When anybody asks you about this matter," said the Presi-dent, "speak authoritatively," (here he placed one hand on the side of his mouth, and hower-ing his voice to a whisper). "and just tell 'em you don't know nothing about it." This ought to settle all controversy on the third term riddle. INTERVIEW WITH JONES: CHIEF MAGISTRATE OF THE NATION.

INTERVIEW WITH JONES.

INTERVIEW WITH JONES: Jones, of Nevada, called on me at my rooms on Strawberry streat, near the market-house. He wanted to get my views on the question of finance in advance of the arrival of Sharon, of the same State, who had not then got to the fore, and who wanted to set himself up as a leader on the same basis. I told Mr. Jones that I had always held that whenever a paper dollar was worth one bundred cents, the gold dollar should be left as it is, when it was worth firty cents, it should be cut in half, and so on. He took me by the hand, and enthusiastically remarked that I re-echoed his sentiments to s dot – that he was satisfied he had not lived in vain, since he had received my indorsement on a question he was satisfied he had not lived in vain, since he had received my indorsement on a question of such vital importance. Death in any possi-ble shape could now have no terrors for him; and as for Sharon, he could boost ahead with his idiotic financial schemes as much as he had a mind to, his goose being virtually cooked, without the stuffing. I also saw and talked with quite a number of other "important personages;" but the limits of one issue of your paper (which is a most valuable one, by the way, as it were, so to speak) would not contain a tithe of the valua-ble information I could give you. I therefore reserve further sketches in and about the Cap-ital for other letters, and pass on to WASSINGTON TOWNSHIP, April 14, 1875. MR. EDITOR-I agree with you in the re-marks you made in your paper last week about the delegate elections, and hope the plan you suggest will be adopted in the different elec-tion districts. It will be a very easy matter for each man, after he has voted for delegates, to show by his mark on a paper containing a list of the candidates for the different offices his own wishes as to who ought to be nomin-ated. This paper will be in the possession of the election officers, who will be bound on their honor to see that no double marking takes place, or any unfair dealing whatever. It makes no difference whether the candidates makes no antererve whether the candidates object to this plan, or what they may say about it. It is a matter for the voters themselves to decide, and they have a right to express their choice of candidates in any way they please. This plan would shut the mouths of men who don't deserve office, and would stop the cry that they were cheated or betrayed in the con-vention. It is as fair and eavy a way of get that they were cheated of betrayed in the con-ting at the wishes of the people as could be recommended. I have not talked with a Dem-ocrat in this township who is not in favor of it; and I trust the active men of the party in each district will take hold of it and carry it out at the next delegate election.

LITTLE BERKS.

Yours, &c.,

THE many friends and acquaintances in this county of Mr. P. A. Forrester, a former Cambrian who has made his home and his pile in the Golden State, will peruse with interest the following "personal" clipped from the San Luis Obispo (Cal.) Tribune of March 20th:

P. A. FORRESTER.—The genial face of Mr. Forrester beamed upon San Luis during the present week. He was in town looking after his expensive improvements, and projecting others of a like nature. His two fine houses fronting on Marsh street are nearing comple-tion. They are two stories in height, finished with all modure corvorients and will make tion. They are two stories in height, fluished with all modern conveniencies, and will make desirable homes. Mr. Forrester proposes build-ing a fine mansion for his own use, on Morro street, opposite the Tribune office. It is a beau-tiful location, and has a century old olive tree in front, just on the line of the street. To many people, this one tree would be worth a thousand dollars, placed in front of their resi-dences. Mr. F. is one of the lucky mining op-erators of Cambria. His "Bonanza" is reported to have "panned out" forty thousand dollars for the lucky owner. May he live long to en-joy his well deserved success.

and serving up exceedingly delectable report for numberless spectators possessed of the most purrient taste the trial of the Burtnett-Mullen-McElcarr adultery, fornication, conspiracy and bawdy house cases have came to an end in the Johnstown District Court, the result being the conviction on the charge of adultery of McElcarr, who has been sentenced to pay a fine of $30, costs of prosecution, and undergo thirty days' imprisonment in the county jail, the confession of guilt in the matter of fornicaion and mysterious disappearance of Lairra fullen, the postponement until next term of the conspiracy suit, and the acquittal of Mrs. Burtnett on the charge of keeping a bowdy house, with the proviso hawever that she shall pay one-third the costs, Nimrod McElcarr, the prosecutor being held for the remaining two-thirds.

CUT THIS OUT-R May Save Your Life .-There is no person living but what suffers nore or less with Lung Disease, Conghs, Colds or Consumption, yet some would die rather than pay 75 cents for a bottle of med-icine that would cure them. Dr. A. Boschee's German Syrup has lately been introchee's German Syrup has lately been intro-duced in this country from Germany, and its wondrous cures astonish everyone that tries it. If you doubt what we say in print, cut this out and take it to your druggists, Lem-on & Murray, Ebensburg, Pa., or Wolesla-gle & Son, Wilmore, Pa., and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it, or a regular size for 75 cents.

CHARLESTON, S. C., has not recovered from the effects of the war, and it may be added, if she never does I will be amongst the last to complain. The Legisla-ture of South Carolina was in session while I was there. The majority of that body is com-posed of colored men and brethren-an ele-ment of our population in behalf of whose rights I have fought, bled and died all my life. When I cast a retrospective glance in the di-rection of a certain terminus of the under-ground railroad. I feel big. However, in the solemn words of the poet, "The leaves of mem-ory seem to make a mournful rustling in the dark." Your friend and fellow-Cambrian, Tom Knox, were he here, would be astounded at the dizy elevation his race has attained, so to speak. A public reception would have been tendered me by the dusky Solons, had it not been for the fact that my visit chanced to be on a Friday-"hangman's day." you know, and also a day when the country legislators go house. But I must hurry on. Reluctantly shaking the soil of the Palmetto State from my four-teens. I took the broad-tread railroad, and, touching here and there (anent which I will write again). I at length arrived at the point at which I stopped, and where I now sit writing from.

which i stopped, and where i now sit writing from. TALLABASSER is the capital of Florida, if I am correctly in-formed. It is a trim little city, albeit it suf-fers under the disadvantage of not being lo-cated on so high a perch as the site of Munster. The inhatitants are emergetic and hospitable, and chew nothing but native leaf tobacco. There is a splendid brass band here. It sere-naded me the first evening after my arrival. The tune it played was old and familiar. It was, "Did you ever see the devil," etc. I: brought tears to my eyes, and made me think of home and some of my late constituents. DOUGHVILLE. Doughville is about two miles east of Talla-hassee, and is easily reached by means of a bal-toon line, which makes trips every ten min-utes. It is precisely such a place as Cresson, except that Cresson has pure air, limpid waters and fine scenery; whereas Doughville has sand-hills, muskeeters and alligators. Price of board per week in the best hotel, where I board, is ten dollars, in advance, I having little or no baggage. This, of course, dosen't include med-ical attendance and cocktails, because one can't always tril how many of the latter he or she mae desire or need.
