In using parts green to exterminate the potato bugs, the poison should be mixed with the cheapest grade of flour, one pound of green to ten of flour. A good way of applying it to the plants is to take an old two quart tin fruit can, melt off the top, and put in a wooden head, also to pour the powder in, and then punch the bottom full of holes about the size of No. 6 shot. Walk alongside the rows, when the vines are wet with the dew or rain, and make one shoot at each bill.

In some parts of the country there have been large numbers of the orchard or tent caterpillars which have left their rings of eggs on the young twigs. If these are now cut off with a clipping pole, it will prevent in every instance a large number of caterpillars, and belatter have grown.

Equal proportions of turpentine, linseed oil, and vinegar, thoroughly applied and then rubbed with flanuel, is an excellent furniture polish.

Tin can be removed from copper vessels very thoroughly by immersing the objects in a solution of blue vitriol. The German washerwomen use a mixture of two ounces turpentine and one ounce spirits of ammonia well mixed together. This is put into a bucket of warm water, in which half a pound of soap has been discolved. The clothes are immersed for twenty-four hours and then washed. The cleansing is said to be greatly qu'ckened, and two or three rinsings in cold water removes the turpentine smell.

Five parts of sifted whiting mixed with a solution of one part glue, together with a little Venice turpentine to obviate the brittleness, makes a good plastic in terial which may be kneaded into figures or any desired shape. It should be kept warm while being worked. It becomes as hard as stone when dry.

Artificial malachite which is susceptible to a fine polish is made by preeipitating a solution of sulphate of its natural Vitality and Color. copper in the cold by carbonate of seda or of potash. The precipitate, which is voluminous, should be allowed first to cohere, and is then dried and wash-

Water containing about seven grains of salt in each pint, is, when used continuously, a poison to the weaker forms of vegetation.

The alloy popularly known as orolde, from which a large number of cheap watches, chains, and trinkets are now manufactured, is made of pure copper one hundred parts, tin seventeen parts, magnesia sixteen parts, sal amie one-half part, quicklime oneeighth part, tartar of commerce nine parts. The copper is first melted, then the magnesia, sal ammoniac, lime, and tartar in powder are added little by little and briskly stirred for half an hour. The tin is lastly mixed in grains until all is fused. The crueible is covered, and the fusion maintained for thirty-five minutes, when the dross is skimmed off and the alloy is ready for

A POTATO THAT RESISTS THE COL-ORADO BEETLE .- A. Jackson, of Frederick county, Maryland, communicates the following interesting facts to the Baltimore American Farmer, which he says can be attested by the sworn testimony of two of his laborers: About five years ago he received from New Jersey a peculiar kind of red potato. under the name of Sibernian red. 't proved to be a very prolific bearer, and of a monstrous size, very mealy and wholesome for the table, though some purple streaks would occasionally run through the tubers. Last summer he planted them in hills four feet apart. between young grape vines which stood eight feet by eight, and raised on one acre a little better than one hundred bushels of magnificent potatoes. He fertilized the hills by mixing lime with tea per cent of salt, and well-rotted cow manure with about ten per cent. of lime and salt compound. He used a good shovelful of it in every hill, and embodied it with the ground (clay soil) by digging. The result, he says, was astonishing. When the potato bugs (which had then appeared in myriads) had eaten off a vine, presently two or three more vines would shoot up, keeping on growing until the November frost killed them. Most curious of all, they bore here and there small potatoes (not red balls) on the vines. One remarkable hill yielded forty-five average sized potatoes. All his other kinds, as Early Rose, Peachblow, and Early Goodrich, though treated in the PUMICE-STONE, common as it is, is really a remarkable thing. There is, indeed, an awful and mysterious interest about it. Every piece of pumicestone once existed as iava in thedepths of a volcano. But it not alone makes its appearence from the bottom of the sea. There are submarine volcanoes venting their flery anger at such vast depths under the ocean, that their effeets do not reach the surface. The pumice which they discharge, being lighter than water, rises to the surface, and so we obtain it. It has been seen floating over a space of three hundred miles on the sea, at a great distance from land or any known volcano.

ABOUT THE USE OF SOAR giving any recipes for making I wish to tell all the hard wer mer's wives how much labor to save by not using such vast qual of this article. For nearly has I have used soap only for a clothes. In all that time I law used one pound of sonp for as dishes and other kitchen our My family has ranged from b twenty-five. I have used cister composed of other ingredients is lime, and I find with all these us works equally well. It is this your water quite hot and add little milk to it. This sofe water, gives the dishes a fine g preserves the hands; it remost grease, even that from beef, at grease is ever found floating water, as when soap is used. vessels I always set on the st a little water in them, when the are taken from them; thus hot when I am ready to wash th the grease is easily removed.

Just try my plan, you who after day, every spring, to ma barrel of soap, and let us hear succeeds with you. I like the barrel of soap on washing day. glad to be able to dispense aid on all other occasions. that my tinware keeps bright cleansed in this way than soap or scouring. The limbil of us have required of scot a wasteful policy : the present tinware will not bear it. The soon scrubbed away and a ves is fit for nothing is left on our but if washed in the way I b scribed, the tin is preserved at ways bright and clean .- Run
