He had been sheriff of the county and also represented it in the lower branch of the Legislature. As a practical surveyor he had done a large amount of work in the north-eastern portion of this county and was well known to a large number of our citizens. He was an upright, honest man, and was highly respected by all who knew him. -Mr. James J. Kaylor, of Allegheny township, went to bed Wednesday night of last week, leaving 860 and a number of valu-

Mr. John D. Stevens, who attempted to save Mr. Marchand from his impending fate, was knocked down and somewhat injured at the same time.

-Mrs. Rebecca Laird, wife of John M. Laird, Esq., senior editor of the Greensburg trans, died in that place on the 5th inst., aged 74 years. The deceased was a most estimable lady and a devout member of the Presbyterian church, and as she was greatly beloved by all who knew her, her death is nene the less mourned by . large circle of rolatives and friends because she has been called away in the follness of years and in the matured hopes of a happy eternity.

WAS IT AS ELOPEMENT?-In Tuesday's issue of the Johnstown Tribune we find the following condensation of a rather apochryphal story published in the Altoona Mirror of the day previous. Can any of our readers solve the mystery? On Thursday last Conductor Beckwith, of On Thurselay last Conductor Beckwith, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, received at Altoom a letter which was mailed at Washington the day previous, in which the writer stated that a young hady left that city on the 17th of June, intending to visit her parents, who reside near Johnstown, Pa., but it was forred that she fell in with a man named Christe, who halls from Evansylife, Wisconsin, and it is thought they met at Baltimore. A description of the gentle-man and hady follows, and not only the features, but even the decas of the latter is described man and lady follows, and not only the features, but even the dress of the latter is described very minutely. She had purchased a ticket to Pittsburzh, and the/writer of the letterfreeferred to was envious to know if she had gone through to that city. This was signed by H. W. Juck-son, O. M. General's Office. Washington, D. C. The name attached to this letter recalls the fact that one H. W. Jackson was a Captain and Provost Marshal during the war, and was loca-ted with a company of invalid soldiers at Wil-more for some time. The Mirror learns that a beautiful girl only about sixteen years of age. headthful and only about sixteen years of age, daughter of a most respectable family in Sum-merhill township, became warmly attached to Jackson, and they finally departed together. If there is anything in the affair it would seem plansible that the lady who left Washington plausible that the lady who left Washington the other day, and who is so enviously wanted by the writer of the letter, is the identical one who departed from her home without the know-ledge of her parents several years ago. When the gentleman who is so anxious to learn her whereabouts came on to Altoona he was very reficent in relation to his antecedents, and even withheld his name from the officer there, to whom he offered $50 for information leading to her recovery. Doubtless some person reto her recovery. Doubtless some person re-siding at Wilmore my remember the circum-stances of the elopement of this lady with a man named Jackson, and could throw some additional light on the matter. $450 FOR THE BEST PLANOIN THE WORLD. $350 FOR THE BEST BOSTON PIANO.-WAR-RANTED FOR TRN YEARS .- The thanks of the community are certainly due to Messrs. of Confirmation on fifty-five persons, four of whom were adults, at the Church of the Holy Name (Catholic) in this place. The ceremony was preceded by High Mass, after which the Bishop delivered a very fine discourse on the properties of Faith, to which the large congregation present listened very attentively and no doubt very profitably.

He addressed himself specially to those who were about to receive the seven fold gifts of the Holy Spirit in the Sacrament of Confirmation, and pointed out to them in glowing language the many temptations which in this our day beset the path of youth, and which he implored them to resist by the aid of Divine grace, which was always to be obtained by prayer and good works. Ho also addressed the cardidates before and after administering the sacrament. At the conclusion of the ceremony the formula of the renewal of the baptismal vows was touchingly read by Master Frank P. McPike and made a good impression on those present. -One of the young men convicted in the District Court, several months ago, of an ofense which necessitated his confinement in the county jail, has furnished the Johnstown Tribune with the result of a meeting held in that institution on Wednesday of last week, to which is appended the names of thirteen others who are also located therein. It is the desire of the prisoners that this document should be published together with the names of the siguers. It sets forth that the persons whose names are appended wish to return their thanks to Sheriff Baumer, his kindhearted lady, and the turnkey, for all the favors that have been granted them consistent with the rules of the prison; that in their unfortunate position, which they have brought upon themselves, they are still treated as human beings, and everything that can be done for them, without interfering with the rules, is cheerfully forthcoming, and that their prison fare is very satisfactory. The document is signed by John R. Edelman, D. H. Espy, J. W. Mervine, J. Kuhn, James Bennett, W. S. Palmer, W. J. Davis, Tillie A. Davis, Bridget Rooney, Walter Davis, F. A. DEAR MR. EDITOR-As the advancement of American literature in the unbiased accepta-tion of the term is one of the leading desiderata of this free country, you will kindly permit me, through the columns of the FREEMAN, to offer a few remarks, which, tried by the touchstone of experience, will I trust be found practical of experience, will I trust be found practical and progressive. In the development of the youthful mental faculties—a work that requires the continual exercise of precept, discipline and example— the foundation, in orfer to be successful, must be laid and the superstructure raised by those who, not for temporal gain or other evanescent advantages, but for the higher and holier pur-pose of training youths "in the way they should go," and thereby meriting for themselves the reward of eternal life, devote their time and energies to this great labor of love. Your readenergies to this great labor of love. Your read-ers may ask, who are those that perform this huddble duty to the rising generation of our hand? and I answer they are men who have re-nounced the vanities and frivolities of this nounced the vanities and frivolities of this world, and who by the radiant light of Truth guide the happy children entrusted to their care along the course which shall eventually conduct them to the port of happiness—fur-thermore, they are the good Franciscan Broth-ers "all the world over," and particularly the community at Lotetto. Of the College buildings themselves I need not speak, as they have many times and oft heretofore been described by abler pens than mine, but I cannot refrain from saying that the new chapel is one which must command the ad-

Approaching the College from the neat and pleturesque borough of Loretto (founded by that erest and ground missionary. On either side, and about equi-distant along the curva-ture of the arch, the American flag floated gracefully, saluting, as it were, the foyous pa-rents, guardians, friends and visitors and speak-ing to them in silent yet expressive language of the prood era in our country's history when the Flag of Liberty (unturied nearly a century ago) floated on the atmosphere of foeedom, desthe Flag of Liberty (unturied nearly a century ago) ficated on the atmosphere of freedom, des-pite the frownings of tyrannical monarchical

Amongst the large number of visitors pres-ent on the occasion, I noticed Hon, B. Wilson, member of Congress, Wilsonburg, W. Va., your own esteemed self. John Nolan, Esq., Wheeling, W. erforms on the plane is freely admitted by hose who are competent judges in the musical deparrment.

The first of the programme was an "Overture -Doet" on the piano. "Salutatory Address," by Geo. Q. Campbell, Parkersburg, W. Va., and here it is true to say that Master Campbell delivered an address in which accuracy of pro nunciation and agreeableness of modulation were happily combined. In his character of "Justice Rurleigh," in the anusing drama of "Burdell versus Pickwick," Master Campbell personnted that important legal functionary vory eleverly, and in his character song, "Old Black Joe," the young West Virginian evoked Black los," the young West Virginian evoked the most capturous encores. Next in order was a "Duet--Vocal-Those Distant Chines," af-ter which came an "Address on American Lit-erature," by Master J. D. Wilson, of Wilson-burg, W. Va. This address was a telling com-mentary on the neglect and indifference shown to American Literature on the part of those who should, if they faithfully represented a free people, be found amongst its advocates. Master Wilson's delivery was clear, distinct, and indicative of careful training in the art of free people, be found amongst its advocates. Master Wilson's delivery was clear, distinct, and indicative of careful training in the art of oratory—an acquirement which at some future day may be practically applied in battling for popular rights. "Bardell versus Pickwick"—a dramatic scene from "Pickwick Papers"—was next in order, and the students whose names follow took each a part therein: Masters Geo. Q. Camp'iell, J. D. Wilson, M. McCann, J. H. Lynch, Jas. Denry, Geo. Belford, Thos, Hart, Geo. Hunter, P. V. Dolan, F. Daly, D. Hughes, T. Pollard, Wm. Gittinan, P. J. Regan and A. J. Brown. Duet on the piano and song. "Our Mountain Home," written for the occasion, were followed by a recitation. "Thuantopsis," by Master F. Daly, of Johnstown. This young student also gave evidence of having profited by his training, for he did his part very well. After a duct on the plano, "Stolen! Twenty Pounds Reward!"—a farce in one act—wa pre-sented in good style, Geo. Belford, P. V. Dolan, J. D. Wilson, Thos, Hart, A. J. Brown and John Nolan sustaining the several parts. Character sented in good style, Geo, Refford, P. V. Dolan, J. D. Wilson, Thos. Hart, A. J. Brown and John Nolan sustaling the several parts. Character song, "Old Black Joe," was next sung by Geo. Q. Campbell, and virtually "brought down the house." The Valedictory was gracefully and distinctly delivered by John H. Lynch, of Hea-over, P.a., who, on behalf of himself and fellow students, paid a high and weil-merited tribute to cur distinguished Bishop and his revered clergy—the patrons and promoters of Catholie and sound interary education in the extensive dincese of Flitsburgh. At the conclusion of the Valedictory, the Bishop rose and addressed the audience, showing in the course of his re-marks the importance of a sound Catholie edu-cation so indispensably accessary in these de-generate days when a victous world must be conducted and victoriously conjucted by the unfailing arms and proteeting armor of faith. In such insult itoms as St. Francis' the youth of our country become fortified against the as-saults of the enemies of their selvation, for there the vigilance of the good Brothers is man-iforce in a second course of the resames of the enemies of their survation, for there the vigilance of the good Brothers is man-ifosted in a particular degree by imprinting on the young, susceptible hearts of their purits those undying principles of religion and moral-ity that will prove to them the polar star whose bright and steady light will conduct them safe-ly over the agitated occan of human life. Next and last in order was the distribution of premi-ums and diplomas, the fley, President reading aloud the several branches for which they were awarded. Kneeling at the feet of the Bishop and kissing the ring on his finger, each student whose name was called received from the Bishwhose hand his reward of merit. The following young gentlemen received diplomas for Book-kceping: D.J. Wilson, Thomas Hart, Geo. Q. Camptell and P. Y. Dohn, of W. Va. George Belford, of Histois, and H. Delone and F. Daly, of Penusylvania. The Exhibition being over, the Bishop, Rev The Exhibition being over, the Bishop, Rev. clergy and a large number of visitors sat down to a sumptuous dinner, whica, in their usual style of hospitality, was served up by the good Brothers, who were all attention to the Bishop, the clergy, and all their respected guests. The tasteful arrangement of the dining hall calls for a word of praise. On one side was the cheer-ing word, "Welcome!" and opposite to it the Latin phrase, "Vicat Academia Nostro." The walls, han Isomely decorated with pictures and wreaths of evergreens, presented a pleasing apwreaths of evergreens, presented a pleasing ap-pearance; and, let me add in conclusion, that everything which good inste and refined judg-ment cauld accomplish in this sequestered re-gion of the Alleghenies was made svailable to render the Twenty-fifth Annual Commenca-ment of St. Francis' College what it really was -a decided success.
