

CAMBRIA FREEMAN.
Ebensburg, Pa.
TUESDAY, - SEPT. 17, 1875.
EO. HUNTLEY
WILL
Best Goods at Cost
OUT NO MORE CREDIT
LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

The delegates at Erie hesitated for a little time about confirming the nomination of Judge Pershing, but as soon as they found out that he had been in the habit, while residing in Johnston, of buying all his mending wearing apparel at the cheap clothing bazaar of J. S. Murphy, 109 Clinton street, he was put through on a double quick. Aspirants for public favor will please make a note of this fact.

—He leaped across the garden gait and breathed his true devotion; "I love you, honest little Kate, like sea gulls love the ocean." "Oh! Johnny," sighed the little maid, "if I love you as none other, but my dear clothing ready-made from S. J. Hess & Brother, at whose store you'll find without mistake, if you give the girls will only win, in Johnston, on the street called Main—241, 243, their numbers still remain.

—If you are out of bed before 7 o'clock on Wednesday morning, Sept. 29th, and keep your eye peeled you will stand a good chance of getting a peep at an eclipse of the sun, partially visible in the latitude, if you fall to see the show, however, or ain't fully satisfied with the exhibition if you do see it, you are advised to call at the cheap cash store of Myers & Lloyd, where there is a constant eclipse of all other mercantile dealers in the styles of goods and scale of prices charged for commodities of every description.

—When Dame Nature went for that stalk of oats in Washington township which we made mention last week and "put a head on it" eighteen inches long, we thought the old lady had completely exhausted herself, but now comes Mr. Lewis Burgoon, of Allegheny township, with a stalk of oats, produced on his own farm, which has a head on it measuring fully thirty inches, and which, by all odds the best yield of oats on a small scale that we ever heard of. Can any farmer in this county or out of it trot out anything to beat this?

—A rousing Democratic ratification meeting was held in Hollidaysburg on Saturday night last, at which Hon. Samuel Calvin, a life-long opponent of the Democratic party and a man of admitted ability and great personal popularity, was the orator of the evening. He was followed by Major Wm. Williams another prominent Republican, after which our legal friend E. P. Tierney, Esq., of Altoona spoke a piece. Good ex-amples are those of Messrs. Calvin and Williams, and we are sure that many honest Republicans will follow them.

—We chronicle with sincere regret the destruction by fire, on Sunday last about noon, of the dwelling house and nearly all the furniture of our friend and patron, Mr. James Hines, of Blacklick township, caused, it is thought, by a spark escaping from the stove and falling upon the roof of the building. Mr. Hines was attending church in this place when the fire occurred, and of course could do nothing towards saving the property. He estimates the total loss at about $800, a portion of which will have to be borne by Mr. Charles Farbaugh, who had a half interest in the building. No insurance.

DEMOCRATIC RATIFICATION MEETING.
—On Friday evening last, soon after the meeting had been convened, Mr. Cyrus L. Pershing had been nominated as the Democratic candidate for Governor by the Erie Convention, a large and enthusiastic meeting convened in the Court House, in this place, to ratify the good work done by that body.

Gen. Joseph McDonald was chosen President of the meeting and E. M. Colgan and John Somerville, Esq., were selected as Vice Presidents, with Wm. Kittell, Esq., and J. G. Lake as Secretaries. Upon taking the chair the President addressed the meeting in a brief speech eulogizing the Erie Convention, after which R. L. Johnston, Esq. was called for and responded in his usual eloquent and happy style, and was followed by Mr. Wm. H. Rowe, Esq., and J. G. Lake.

The motion resolutions were then read and approved, when on motion the meeting adjourned to assemble at the same place on the following Tuesday evening.

THE ADJOURNED MEETING.
—On Tuesday evening the meeting was called agreeably to adjournment. Mr. Somerville, who was in the chair, presided, and present, George Walters, Esq., was unanimously chosen to fill the vacancy.

THE MACHINISTS' PICKET.—Our usually quiet town—usually quiet when the market was about as usual—experienced a very agreeable sensation on Saturday last when a large delegation of ladies and gentlemen from Altoona, fully intent upon enjoying the delight of a grand basket picnic in the delightful grove east of town, were met by our misty preceded by a fine cornet band.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—The Johnston Tribune says it would not be politic to give name or location in the following account of a woman, who had a violent intent to commit suicide, but it premises that the young lady referred to resides in that immediate neighborhood, and then goes on to say that on Monday last this woman, who was only recently married to an industrious man, who loved her wisely but too well, was visiting at the house occupied by her husband, who has refused to cohabit with her since he was convicted of the murder of a woman. She carried a bottle of carbolic acid in the domicile proceeded to saturate a piece of cotton with the liquid, which she applied to the aching member. That same evening she was found by her mother, who was called in, and she subsequently went to the river-side and drank the contents of the bottle, after which she precipitated herself into the stream, as a result of which she was floating along in the water. She was hauled out soon after being discovered, when it was found that her mouth and tongue were horribly burned; and after she had recovered some milk to her, a physician was called in. He at once observed symptoms of poisoning, and that evening succeeded in learning that she had swallowed carbolic acid. Several oils were administered as an antidote, and on Tuesday she was moved to her home. The medical gentleman has not since been notified as to her condition, or whether she is still living, but it is his opinion that she will not see her next death. The case is a sad one, and the sufferings of the poor woman were terrible on Monday night. Her home is not within the limits of Johnston.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—The Johnston Tribune says it would not be politic to give name or location in the following account of a woman, who had a violent intent to commit suicide, but it premises that the young lady referred to resides in that immediate neighborhood, and then goes on to say that on Monday last this woman, who was only recently married to an industrious man, who loved her wisely but too well, was visiting at the house occupied by her husband, who has refused to cohabit with her since he was convicted of the murder of a woman. She carried a bottle of carbolic acid in the domicile proceeded to saturate a piece of cotton with the liquid, which she applied to the aching member. That same evening she was found by her mother, who was called in, and she subsequently went to the river-side and drank the contents of the bottle, after which she precipitated herself into the stream, as a result of which she was floating along in the water. She was hauled out soon after being discovered, when it was found that her mouth and tongue were horribly burned; and after she had recovered some milk to her, a physician was called in. He at once observed symptoms of poisoning, and that evening succeeded in learning that she had swallowed carbolic acid. Several oils were administered as an antidote, and on Tuesday she was moved to her home. The medical gentleman has not since been notified as to her condition, or whether she is still living, but it is his opinion that she will not see her next death. The case is a sad one, and the sufferings of the poor woman were terrible on Monday night. Her home is not within the limits of Johnston.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.—To the neighbor of the Herald our thanks are due for the use in type of the appended report of the proceedings held in Court since our last issue. It will be seen that a portion of the information conveyed was furnished by us one week ago, but as we cannot well separate it, we have deemed it best to let it go for what it is worth.

COM. vs. MARY McSHAUGH, charged with selling liquor without license; the defendant was brought in by her husband and charged with a second offense, plead guilty, and submitted to the Court. In default of the payment of $200 fine, she was committed to jail for ten days.

COM. vs. HANDOLPH McMULLIN, charged with assault and battery, Defendant plead guilty, and was committed to jail for ten days.

COM. vs. HURON McMULLIN, charged with stealing horses, fully sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

COM. vs. A. DODSON, charged with forcible detainer, Defendant was sentenced to jail for a fine of $25 and costs of prosecution.

COM. vs. JOHN HEBEL, charged with adultery, Defendant was sentenced to jail for ten days.

COM. vs. JOHN HEBEL, charged with adultery, Defendant was sentenced to jail for ten days.

THE IRON CITY COLLEGE, whose advertisement appears in another column, is one of the most successful operations for more than a quarter of a century, and for upwards of twenty years, the leading business college of the State. The school was established by the late Dr. Wm. C. Whitcomb, who was its first President, and was the first of its kind in this country. The college is now in the hands of Dr. Finney, who is its second President, and who is a first-class business college.

THE IRON CITY COLLEGE, whose advertisement appears in another column, is one of the most successful operations for more than a quarter of a century, and for upwards of twenty years, the leading business college of the State. The school was established by the late Dr. Wm. C. Whitcomb, who was its first President, and was the first of its kind in this country. The college is now in the hands of Dr. Finney, who is its second President, and who is a first-class business college.

THE IRON CITY COLLEGE, whose advertisement appears in another column, is one of the most successful operations for more than a quarter of a century, and for upwards of twenty years, the leading business college of the State. The school was established by the late Dr. Wm. C. Whitcomb, who was its first President, and was the first of its kind in this country. The college is now in the hands of Dr. Finney, who is its second President, and who is a first-class business college.

THE IRON CITY COLLEGE, whose advertisement appears in another column, is one of the most successful operations for more than a quarter of a century, and for upwards of twenty years, the leading business college of the State. The school was established by the late Dr. Wm. C. Whitcomb, who was its first President, and was the first of its kind in this country. The college is now in the hands of Dr. Finney, who is its second President, and who is a first-class business college.

THE IRON CITY COLLEGE, whose advertisement appears in another column, is one of the most successful operations for more than a quarter of a century, and for upwards of twenty years, the leading business college of the State. The school was established by the late Dr. Wm. C. Whitcomb, who was its first President, and was the first of its kind in this country. The college is now in the hands of Dr. Finney, who is its second President, and who is a first-class business college.

THE IRON CITY COLLEGE, whose advertisement appears in another column, is one of the most successful operations for more than a quarter of a century, and for upwards of twenty years, the leading business college of the State. The school was established by the late Dr. Wm. C. Whitcomb, who was its first President, and was the first of its kind in this country. The college is now in the hands of Dr. Finney, who is its second President, and who is a first-class business college.

THE IRON CITY COLLEGE, whose advertisement appears in another column, is one of the most successful operations for more than a quarter of a century, and for upwards of twenty years, the leading business college of the State. The school was established by the late Dr. Wm. C. Whitcomb, who was its first President, and was the first of its kind in this country. The college is now in the hands of Dr. Finney, who is its second President, and who is a first-class business college.

New and Elegant
PAVING
GEIS, FOSTER & QUINN,
Nos. 113 and 115 Clinton St., Johnston.

JUST OPENED.—A large assortment of all kinds of PAINTS and BARRER FLANNELS, in plain colors, at extraordinary low prices.

THE IRON CITY COLLEGE, whose advertisement appears in another column, is one of the most successful operations for more than a quarter of a century, and for upwards of twenty years, the leading business college of the State. The school was established by the late Dr. Wm. C. Whitcomb, who was its first President, and was the first of its kind in this country. The college is now in the hands of Dr. Finney, who is its second President, and who is a first-class business college.

Iron City College
PITTSBURGH, Pa.
For upwards of twenty years the leading business college of the United States, affords unequal advantages for the thorough, practical education of young and middle aged men. Students admitted at any time.

...of the authors of the mischief.

...of the authors of the mischief.

...of the authors of the mischief.

...of the authors of the mischief.

...of the authors of the mischief.