A Letter from the West.

part of the present year on the solution of the linancial problem, by Geo. Rhey, Esp. of Mill-wood, Pa., there are some suggestions deserv-ing the serious and immediate consideration of COLUMBUS, IND., Nov. 4, 1875. DEAR FREEMAN - I arrived sately in Colum-bus on the 27th ult., after a sojourn of nearly two months in the West, during which time I traveled over a considerable scope of country. public at large. The views put forth in a ent, lucid manner by Mr. Rhey should have traveled over a coasiderable scope of country, and as a matter of course saw many curiosities had a wider circulation and make a deeper im-pression than has been the case. Mr. Rhey is a man of a highly cultured mind, of great grasp which I failed to see last winter while passing through the same region. I presume, there-fore, that an account thereof, however imperfeet it may be, will prove interesting to a few of conception, and pretty familiar with the at-fairs of commercial and agricultural late. He is no visionary on any subject; his views are deliberately and intelligently formed. He is a thoroughly practical man who has at yeart the welfare of his country. Had the views given in the paper, above mentioned here out forat least of your many readers. Boulder City, forty six miles northwest by rail from Denver, Colorado, is prettily located at the bass of the foot hills and at the mouth of Boulder conyon, which has been denomina-ted the Yosemite of Colorado. Boulder claims in the paper above mentioned been put for-ward by some one in a commanding position-did they appear in one of our leading journals ward by some one of our leading journed did they appear in one of our leading journed - they certainly would have at once attracted the public attention and might in a short time receive the consideration of our law-makers. As Mr. Rhey is better capable than any other man of giving any needed explanation of hand not solution of the financial problem. I shall not undertake to enter into any detailed analysis of the paper. I merely desire to create in the mines at this point. The Boulder county seri-culture at this point. The Boulder county seri-is an opportunity for gaining information as to is an opportunity for gaining information as to be the Assoof the paper. I merely desire to create in the public mind a wish to give Mr. Rhey and his theory the proper attention. The disancal question is one that concerns all the people; in fact, there is no other issue of paramount ought not neglect. The Sceretary of the Assoimportance. The immense morrest paid on our public debr will keep the people in a de-pressed condition by the continual drainage on its resources in endeavoring to meet this annually recurring claim. And the more so on account of the paralyzing effect on the produc-wheat, save that taised in Southern and Eastern boking corn was on exhibition and better wheat, save that raised in Southern and Eastern Penusylvania, I never saw. The potatoes, squasies, caldages, beets, etc., were cormons. Cabbage heads weighing fifty pounds were common; two of them would perhaps be sufficient to make a Dutchman a barrel of sauer-krant. In France theicolitivation of beets for the manufacture of sugar is a very important agricultural loterst. My understanding is that the beet of Colorado in succharine matter is in no way inferior to that of France. If such is the case. I predict that the manufacture of sugar will become a very profitable business out there. But the principal attraction of the Boulder county fair, so far as I could learn, was norse-racing. I saw Some fine stock, but wit-nessed none of the races. To me a much more attractive field of investigation presented used at the Rocky Kountain Museum, located at Boulder. Mrs. M. A. Mux-well, proprietress of the establishment, has what she denominates a "mania" which wid never cease troubling her till she has collected a complete assortment of all the famm of Colorndo, and she informs me that she nearly sug-ove led in doing so. In the ind Singat of this out y, as she seems to consider it, she has been atted to some extent by the contributions of others, but very many of her specimens have been hunted and killed by herself. All her specimens she basstuffed and mounted without the help of others. And here I desire to say a word relative to the work. I have never in my tife s on specimens of this kind that looked more natural and life-like. It is equal to Ma-dam Tursot's collection of wax statury, which was, and I believe still is, on exhibition in London. Madam M. is not only a collector but an artiste. The skins of most animals, when stuffed, give the figure a very bloated, unnatural appearance ; in fact they large for artificial stuffing. Madame 1 are to fore first makes molds in plaster of Paris, or clay, of the figure, and then seys on the skin, in Stoystown, Somerset county, and was 54 years of age. Many years ago he settled in Johnstown, where he resided at the time the recent civil war broke out, when he en-tisted as a nine months' volunteer as Capwith the settlement of the country, eventually become extinct. Her mineral enhinet is very complete. Here you can find specimens from perhaps every mine in the State. For ten or officen dollars she will scopply a very handsome and valuable collection of specimens to such as desire to purchase. While I might write col-umus about this museum, there is one amusing feature 1 must not fall to mention. Madam M., who informed me she had never read Gen-eral Schenck on "Poker," has a small table office on the first Monday of January last. He performed the duties of that position faithfully and well and to the entire satis-faction of the people. Although a man of fine and commanding physique, his constitution was by no means vigorous. He was strictly houest in all his business transactions, was gifted with most generous impulses, and was ever ready to assist a frieud in time notice black Jeg Monkey No. 5, who crewls up the Lg of the table and captures the 15 (con-federate) bill which is the stake being played for. Each member of the group has a very life like appearance and an expression of face that shows Mrs. M, to be what I have already stated, an accomplished artiste, Contral City is thirty-nine miles from Den-ver via Colorado Central Norrow Guage Railread from Golden. The road winds, worms, squirms and serpentines up Clear Creek can-yon in a very remarkable way. It is not true, however, that while sitting in the rear car, you occasionally look the engineer of the locomo tive square in the face, but it comes pretty near being that bad. The scenery is grand-moun-tains on either side rising perpendicular hun-dreds of free above you. Clear Creek and the shadows we pursue.
