GREAT FIRE AT IRWIN-LOSS NOT LESS THAN $70,000 .- Irwin Station Westmoreland county, was visited by a destructive conflagration on Tuesday morning last the particniars of which we glean from the Greensburg Democrat of the 17th inst:

The terrible alarm of fire! fire! rang through the streets of Irwin, at about two o'clock on Tuesday morning, arousing the citizens to the fearful realization of sudden destruction of

Tuesday morning, arousing the citizens to the fearful realization of sudden destruction of property, rendering them houseless and without a home for the coming winter.

The fire was found beiching out masses of smoke and tongues of flame from the centre of what is known as Commercial Row, a block of wooden buildings on the west side of Main street, comprising some of the principal stores and business houses in the place, and containing also the dwellings of number of families.

The fire seems to have originated in a bilitard saloon, in what is known as Geohring's building. The saloon had been closed on Monday, and no one was, therefore, whout the premises, and it is supposed to have been the work of an incendinty. The flames spread rapidly to the adjoining buildings. On the south was Bailey's building adjoining, occupied as a store room and dwelling, which was almost immediately enveloped in flames; next Rooebaugh's block was reached which was occupied by A. Hear, dealer in boots and shoes, a ciothing store, an oyster saloon, and Rodebaugh's shoe shop and dwelling, all of which succumbed to the whirl-pool of flames, like so much straw. The Geohring building contained a billiard saloon, the drug store of Copeland & Kimberly, the dental establishment of Loughery & Basinger.—Adjoining, on the north of this, was the building of Bilibeitner & Boyd, who were carrying on the hardware business. The flames then reached Peter Long's dwelling, then Sargeant's dry goods and grocery store, in Benj. Copeland's building, next a dwelling belonging to reached Peter Long's dwelling, then Sargeant's dry goods and grocery store, in Benj. Copeinnd's building, next a dwelling belonging to Joseph Copeland and occupied by Mrs. M. Bowers as a boarding house, continuing in its march of rum the dwelling of S. C. Remsberg, Esq., was swallowed up, and a tenant house on the rear of his lot, when in other leaps of the flery flend the building of John McWilliams, on the corner of Main and Third streets, was reached. To stop the further progress of the fire eight kegs of powder were placed under the building and blown up. It had been occupied by his sons. Thos. McWilliams, jeweller, Richard McWilliams, tinner, and as a residence by himself, and also by the small printing establishment of the Irwin Spray.

The fire was also carried across Main street to the dwelling and meat shop of John Gregg, and to the office of Dr. Sowash, and Jos. McQuiston, Pso. which were both totally consumed. eq., which were both totallly consumed. Here, from this vast pile of combustible ma terial, the fire soared upward in one sheet of lurid flame, striking terror to the hearts of the citizens, and illuminating the country around for miles in circumference, with no fire department or engines to control its march. The Westmoreland Coal Company tortunately brought on the premises their hooks and ladders, buckets, etc., and Mr. Shallenberger, the Superintendent of the Company, deserves great credit for the timely assistance rendered.—Word had also been sent to Pittsburgh for aid, but was countermanded when the fire stayed its progress.

The losses so lar as we could obtain figures, amount as a total to about $70,000, which in some cases is wholly and in others partly covered with insurance. The calm night alone saved the town from total destruction. During the fire thieres were busy carrying away goods, many of whom may yet be sorry for it.
