THE DIART OF AN EXHAUSTED LITIGANT.

A tattered memorandum book was recently found on the steps of a very humble dwelling 'out West." Some of the entries are as follows :

"My faiher had a slight misunderstands ing with a neighbor about a division fence, which he had inherited from my grandfather. After several disputes, he consulted a lawyer, who had a good many children, but little practice. This was fatal. A suit was commenced.

"Several years ago my lawyer said I must get ready for the trial. I did so, and went to court at every term. But it was postponed on ever pretence which human ingenuity could invent.

"1810. March Term-Counsel for defendant moved for a continuance, be-cause he was engaged in the Court of Common Pleas. Court granted the motion, but intimated with great dignity, that such an excuse would never avail with him again.

"September Term-Counsel trying a case in an adjoining county. Judge hesitated, but yielded.

"December Term-Defendant ill. Proved by the certificate of a respectable physi-Cian.

"1872. March Term-Counsel had made an engagement to meet a client from New York, who could not conveniently leave his business again. Continued, the Judge suggesting that New York clients might

"1878, September Term-Carried the title deeds to my lawyer, Surveyor exam-ined the premises, said the defendant bad encroached on me. But another surveyor (partner and pupil of the first one), said that my deed spoke of a backmatack stump in the line of the fence, a foot in diameter ; whereas, the only tree anywhere near the fence was a pepperridge tree, not more than seven inches and a half across ; case postponed, to employ other surveyors,

"December Term-Counsel agreed that Court might visit the premises in dispute. Judge refused to go, but said the jury night do so, provided that nobody went with them to explain and confuse. Next morning a heavy snow fell, and boundaries were covered. Case continued.

"1874. September Term-Motion to postpone, on the ground that the defendant's attorney wished to be absent, hunting for a few days. Motion prevailed. I remonstrated, but my counsel said the lawyers were very accommodating gentlemen, and the courtesies of the bar required it. "1875. March Term-Oue of the juror taken sick. Motion to go on with the trial with eleven jurors. Defendan't counsel objected with great strength of voice, and demanded a full jury trial, pure and simple. I think he called it the 'palladium of our liberties.' Case postponed, "September Term-Received a bill for retainers, term fees, clerks' fees, and expenses. One item was for the amount of a retainer which my lawyer had declined from the defendant. Offered him the farm, provided I gained the case. He said this would not be deemed honorable practice, but he would take it and give me credit as far as it went. "Took the cars for the West, coming mostly on freight trains, and after nightfall.

HOW & CRICKET SAVED & SHIP .- In Southey's History of Brazil, he tells how Cabeza de Vaca was in a great ship going to South America with four hundred men and thirty horses ; and after they had crossed the equator, the commander discovered that there were only three casks of water left. He gave orders to make the nearest land, and for three days they sailed for the const. A poor sick soldier, who had left Cadiz with them, brought a grillo, or ground cricket, with him, thinking its cheerful voice would amuse him on the long, dreary voyage. But to his great disappointment, the little insect was perfectly silent the whole way.

The fourth morning after they had changed the ship's course, the cricket, who knew what she was about, set up her shrillest note. The soldier at once gave warning to the officers in charge of theivessel, and they soon saw high, jagged rock just ahead of them. The watch had been careless, and the great ship in a few moments would have been dashed to pieces on the ledges if this puny creature had not scented the land and told them of their danger. Then they cruised along for some days, and the cricket sang for them every night, just as cheerily as if she had been in far-off Spain, till they got to their destined port, the Island of Catalina.

WHAT HER FRIENDS LAUGHED AT .-One of the most laughable incidents that I can remember, happened at my boarding house on Tenth street, the other morning, One of the landlady's daughters is very anxious to get mairied. She does not say so in words, but her actions show plainly enough that she is very much afraid of being an old maid.

She is a great hand to tell her dreams, and every morning at the breakfast table she continues to relate what she had dreamed through the night.

"I had such a startling dream last night," she said to a lady sitting opposite. "Indeed ! What was it ?"

"Well I dreamed that a handsome man was pressing his whiskers against my check. Of course, it woke me up instantly, and I found it was our cat who was nest-An Indiana paper has the following ling up to me. But wasn't I mad, though ?"
