JURY LIST FOR DECEMBER TERM.—Be- Court Proceedings.—Having to treat the Johnstown Tribune as it seems verse Jurors drawn on Tuesday last by Jury disposed to treat us—that is, as if we had ceased to exist as a public journal—we transit is a satisfaction, however, to know can be bought at the mammoth clothing store of Godfrey Wolff, next door to the post-office, Altoona, Pa., at prices which for cheapness cannot be excelled by any dealer in the State. . - SEPT. 22, 1876. Poor indeed is the man who cannot afford a new suit at Wolff's figures.

-Mrs. David Rowland, of Biacklick township, about six miles from this place, on the clay pike, died very suddenly, indeed was found dead in her bed, on Sunday night last. Mrs. Rowland was the mother-in-law of Wm. M. Reese, one of the six unfortunate men who were sent to the penitentiary from this county at the recent term of Court, but whether that had anything to do with her sudden death we are unable to say, although it does not seem improbable, in view of the fact that she had no disease that threatened her life, that the fact referred to had something to do with her sad fate.

-By a postal card from Dr. M. J. Buck, we learn that that gentleman had made all necessary preparations for his proposed visit to Europe, and expected to sail vesterday (Thursday) on the steamship Ohio. The Doctor, as our readers are already aware, goes to Europe to complete his medical studies in one of the most famous institutions of the old world, and that he will return, God willing, with the highest honors of the profession no one who knows his ability and indomitable perseverence can for a moment doubt. Bon voyage say we to the talented and worthy young Cambrian.

- A Democratic mass meeting is to be held at the Court House this (Friday) evening, at which Hon. John Latta, Lient, Gov. of Pennsylvania, is positively and other distinguished gentleman from abroad are confidently expected to make speeches. In Carrolltown, to-morrow (Saturday) afternoon, another big meeting is to be held and a monster pole raised under the auspices of the wide awake Democratic club of that place. This gathering is also to be addressed by Mr. Latta and by speakers from Johnstown and Ebensburg. Let there be a grand turn out at each of these meetings.

-Our venerable and respected townsman, Judge James Murray, should have celebrated his golden wedding some time this month, but he was not sure of the date and did not feel like making a hap-hazard venture on so important a subject. Fifty years of peaceful and happy wedded life, such as we know the Judge and his estimable lady have enjoyed together, is something to look back on with pleasure and congratulation, and we are sure there is no one who knows the venerable pair but will mentally hope that they may both be spared to enjoy each other's society for many years to come. -What the Altoona Mirror very aptly styles a volume in six words is told thusly: Upon the arrival of General Jacob M, Campbell, Republican candidate for Congress, at his home in Johnstown, on Wednesday evening, his friends tendered him a reception, Koontz, of Somerset, spoke. During the address of the former a man in the crowd inquired, in a lond and distinct voice: "Will yez give us better wages?" For a moment the pertinent inquiry seemed to starger the General, but he did not attempt.

Being the only child, and a very obedieur and faithful one, his untimely death is a said blow indeed to his afflicted parents. The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon and was attended by the Cambria Guard, the Danntless Fire Company, and an immense concourse of friends and sympathizers, making it one of the largest processions of the kind ever witnessed in this place. In explanation of his failure to perform this part of his contract, Mr. Aiken always averred that he had been stopped on the highway near Lloydsville, in said township, one dark night in the fall of 1874 and robbed of all the money in his possession, which he claimed was sufficent to liquidate the entire amount due to the county and school board, as aforesaid. Be that as it may, no credence seems to have been placed in his story, as neither the county commissioners, to whom he made his last appeal in this place on Wednesday of last week, nor the board of Wednesday of last week, nor the board of transactions with Brown, and hence they as an enter the same with Brown, and hence they are transactions with Brown, and set time to use and note that the time. THE NEW PRINCIPAL.-The Lancaster Express of Friday evening last gives the fol-lowing excellent send-off to Mr. Frank Lyte, the gentleman recently chosen and now in charge as principal of the public schools of this borough. Mr. Lyte is a fine specimen of youthful machood—in fact, a perfect lady-killer—and as he is still, we Commissioners Topper and Baker and Sher-iff Baumer to serve at the next regular term fer to our columns the following report, furnished to that paper by a legal gentleman in this place, of the doings in Court from the time our paper went to press on Thursday afternoon until the close of the session at 11 o'clock on the following Saturday forencon: Peter J. Krise vs. A. Saupp and Sarah E. Burns, doing business as A. Saup & Co. Action brough, to recover a balance alleged by plaintiff to be due him from defendants on a contract to run logs into Chest creek, in Clearfield township—said contract baving been entered into several years ago with John J. Burns, since deceased who was their agent.

ceased who was their agent. The suit also in-cluded damages arising from said agent not al-iowing plaintiff to put in as many logs as he at first contracted for. The amount claimed was over $2.0, but the jury decided, after an absence of a few minutes, that Mr. Krise was entitled to only $82.05. only $82.05, John E. Holmes vs. Bernard McGee. This was an action on the case to recover damages for alleged non-performance of contract. The plaintiff had bought land from the defendant that the deed should be made as soon as said land could be surveyed, and the former gave that the deed should be made as soon as said land could be surveyed, and the former gave judgment notes as security for the purchase money. The defendant entered the notes, and when the first one became due, an execution was issued against defendant in the judgment, but who is plaintiff in this action. Mr. Holmes came into Court and obtained a rule to show cause why said writ should not be stayed until McGee would fulfill his part of the original contract by executing a good and sufficient deed. Proceedings were accordingly suspended and in the meantime McGee filed a deed in Court, when he proceeded to collect his judgment, which Holmes paid under protest, alleging that there was a misdescription in the deed which described the land as lying in Barr township Cambria county, whereas it was situated in Pine township, Indiana county, and now suit was brought to recover damages sustained by reason of this suspicion cast upon the title. After all the evidence of the plaintiff was in the Court directed his counsel to take a non suit, for the reason that if they had a remedy they had mistaken the proceedings by which to obtain it.

The next case taken up was Fourciscus Hun-obtain it.

The next case taken up was Franciscus Hunderlich vs. Egidius Levy, of Barr township.—
This was an action on the case, with promises, and the allegation of the plaintiff was that in November last the defendant visited New York. November last the defendant visited New York, where plaintiff then resided—she being a poor German washerwoman—and while there Mr. Levy became acquainted with her. He proposed to marry the lady, and held out as an inducement that he was the owner of real estate in Pennsylvania, to the value of $20,000. An agreement was entered into by which he was to execute a good title for one-third of his property, providing she would marry him. For certain reasons the nuptial ceremony was not performed at the time but after visited. certain reasons the nuptial ceremony was not performed at the time, but after the detendant returned home he sent word for her to need him in Ebensburg, and the agreement, would be consummated. Miss Hunderlich came on, and Levy induced her to accompany him to the vitage of St. Nicholas, in Barr township, a the vitage of St. Nicholas, in Barr township, a family named Miller, who had come with her from New York, being slong. Mr. Miller had bought land from defendant, and was then on his way to take possession of it. The articles by which the one-third of Mr. Levy's possess-sions were to be transferred were to be written next morning, and the free sions were to be transferred were to be written next merning, and the two remained together that night. When daylight came he treated ber in a very rude and indecent manner, and finally chased her off with threats of taking her life with a butcher-knife, which he held in his hand. This was the story of the woman, and when it came the defendant's turn he simply remarked that he aiways had been and was ready now to marry her. Some further testimony was adduced, and, at 10 o'clock, P. M., Court adjourned until the following morning.

PRIDAY'S SESSION. Upon re assembling the hearing of the above case was continued, and at half-past 12 o'clock case was continued, and at hair past 12 o'clock the evidence was all in. An adjournment was ordered until 2 o'clock, p. M., when the arguments of respective counsel were made, and the charge given to the jury. After an absented about one hour they came in with a verdict in favor of plaintiff in the sum of $180.

The next case taken up was Billings & Wheelock vs. L. S. Lewis and Henry R. Lewis, doing business as L. S. Lewis & Co. This action was brought by pisintials to recover the amount of a note drawn by decedants in their favor, Lewis & Co. lirst offered to verify by affidavit a special plea to the effect that no partnership existed between the parties mentioned us belonging to said firm, and leave was granted by the Court, whereupon the plainting alleged surprise, and the case was continued.

The First National Bank of Albona vs. Fred. Vowinkel, was next on the list. In this case the netendant had held a note for $250, drawn in his favor by a man named Reed, which was discounted at the bank; but as said note was afterwards protested, the plaintiffs sought to hold defendant, as he was endorsee.
