Quite a number of its former pupils who have been at the Centennial, and others, are to enter next week, which is the middle of this term. Others should take note of this, as the winter term does not open till after the holidays. -A correspondent of the Altoona Mirror writing from Tuckahoe, Blair county, says: "Mr. Reilly, the Democratic candidate for Congress, is in this section of old Antis one of the most popular men, regardless of par-ty, that I have ever heard spoken of, and I venture to say that there will be scarcely an opposition vote polled here against him."

—We sincerely hope that no Democrat in the county will scratch a single name on his ticket, and more especially do we hope that not one of them will leud himself to the desperate, not to say infamous, effort new being made to elect the Republican candidate for Sheriff. Our own nominee, Mr. Ryan, has done nothing to forfeit the esteem of honest men of all parties, and no Democrat especially who loves fair play or cherishes the principles of his party can or will work or vote against him.

Old Washington we are assured, has fully four hundred Democratic voters on the registry list this year, and the letermination is to bring every man of them to the polls that can be moved in any way. Won't that be glorious for the staunch and ever faithful "little Berks" of Cambria county, which has never heretofore faltered in the good work, but is fully determined on this occasion to excel even herself by more than one hundred and fifty votes? —Mr Luke Moyer, a former citizen of this county, having been born and raised in Clearfield township, was so severely injured on Thursday morning last, near Renova, by the explosion of a locomotive boiler, that he died about 4 o'clock, p. m., of the same day. Mr. Moyer was employed as conductor on a freight train and was in the caboose car when the catastrophe occurred, the force of the explosion wrenching off the large iron door beneath the headlight and driving it into the caboose at the rear of the train, the result being not only the fatal scalding and result being not only the fatal scalding and injury of Mr. Moyer, as already stated, and the infliction of like injuries on four other occupants of the caboose, all of whom, however, will survive, but the complete demolition of the caboose, the roof and both ends of which were blown out. Roberts, of this place, disappeared from home on Monday of last week, minus his hat, coat and shoes, and nothing more was heard of him until Monday of the present week, when his older brother and an aunt found him in Altoona and brought him back to his distracted mother. It seems that Frank was intent upon visiting the centennial, and with that object in view hid himself under the steps of the passenger car on our Branch road and succeeded by that means in reaching Cresson, from whence he secured passage to Altoona by stowing himself away under the tank of an engine, or at least that was the position an engine, or at least that was the position he was found in when the locomotive went into the round house in that city. From Altoona he made his way on foot to Tyrone, but eventually gave up the journey and walked back to Altoona, where he was found as already stated. He is evidently a venturesome spirit, and if he don't get to see the world before he dies it will not be from leads of courses and paragraphs.

Swank fur-ther alleged that the FREEMAN had promised to give him a hearing in regard to his alleged or presumed connection with the failure of Lloyd's bank, but when an article was furnished us on that subject we failed to make good our promise. All which we pronounce a sheer fabrication. No such article was ever received by us, and as a con-sequence we could not and did not refuse to publish it. Our readers can therefore rest assured that Tom Swank's little story is another of those despicable falsehoods so free-ly circulated by the unprincipled ring which has Mr. Davis peculiarly in its keeping, and which is willing to resort to any means, be they fair or foul, to encompass the defeat of our worthy candidate for Sheriff.

A REMINISCENCE.-In September, 1852, during the presidential campaign of that year, the Democrats of Blair county held a grand parade and mass meeting in this borough. Governor Bigler and many other no-tables were in attendance; in short, the meeting was one of those old-fashioned gath-erings for which the Democrats of those days Governor Bigler and many other nowere famous. Among those present was Samuel J. Tilden, then a member of the New York bar, and then as now an unwavering supporter of Democratic candilates and Democratic principles. The marshal of the parade was Col. William K. Piper, of Gaysport, now, alas! gone far astray from the old paths. In one thing the Col. has alpapers of this county opposing to promote the election of Mr. Reilly on the grounds of his being a Catholic. Much as we could wish to retain our old-time respect for Mr. Over, we must say that his repeated attempts to drag religion into politics, and especially his renewed efforts to create the impression that the Freeman was guilty of any such indecency, leaves us no choice but to brand him as a deliberate falsifier.

HON. JOHN REILLY.—We copy the fol-lowing communication from last week's issue of the Altoons Tribune, and commend it to the careful and thoughtful consideration of our readers. It is a well deserved endorsement of the public and private life of our faithful young Congressman, and appearing as it does in a newspaper which advocates the election of every candidate on the Republican ticket from President down to the lowest county officer, it must be accepted as an honest and disinterested tribute to one who is eminently fit to be called the poor man's friend and the true man's representative. But here is the communication in question-read and judge for yourself: To the Editor of the Altoona Tribune :

To the Editor of the Altoona Tribune:

So far in this campaign I have observed your fairness and candor as a public journalists, characteristics which can not fail to commend themselves to every intelligent and thinking reader of your widely circulated and valuable journal. You disdain the ordinary partisan clap-trap in the presentation of the cause of the Republican party to the people, and do not hesitate to rebuke partisan malice and faischood even when found in the columns of Republican journals. Public journals conducted in the manner you have chosen for the Tribunk have decided weight with the masses. Impressed with this conviction I have selected your paper as the medium through which I can express my views of the gentleman whose name heads this article. I speak not as a blinded partisan, but as an independent Republican who has large interests at stake, affected by Congressional legislation, and am willing to trust them to the keeping of Mr. Reilly, whose knowledge of the iron, coal and other peculiar interests of the district is intelligent and complete.

His renomination is a distinction due to private worth, exalted character and patient industry. It is a healthy indication of a better political condition and a return of better days. Mr. Reilly is not yet forty years of age, but with no other assistance than our common school system affords, and his own industrious efforts, he has achieved a success of which any one might be proud. He is possessed of a large intelligence—as shown by his speech in Congress on the subject of retrenchment, oconomy and reform—a varied and practical experience, unimpeachable integrity, and the respect of all who know him. The responsible position he now occupies is a trophy won solely by his own fitness and his own merits. He commenced life penniless and unknown. His father was a respected citizen of Westmoreland county, and was essentially a man of toil. To this all his penniless and unknown. His father was a respected citizen of Westmoreland county, and was essentially a man of toll. To this all his sons were inured in early life. And when we state that the subject of this notice, on leaving school at the age of fifteen, engaged in dally labor, the laboring men of to-day can only too well appreciate his subsequent success and triumphs. This early experience eminently fits him to sympathize with the situation and wants of the laboring classes. His success has never him to sympathize with the situation and wants of the laboring classes. His success has never chilled his sympathy. As we nave described Mr. Reilly so he is known to this community.

A man who has given all his years to labor, and the exercise of the habits of honesty, and devotion to usefulness in the public and private walks of life, is worthy of our renewed confidence. Questions involving the manufacturing and other practical interests of the district are with him matters of daily observation, and the most valuable members of Congress are the shrewd, experienced business men whose education has been in connection with the diversified business interests of the country.

Mr. Reilly also appreciates our present depressed condition, and has used his best efforts to procure work in the great railway shops of

Mr. Reilly also apprecates our present depressed conjition, and has used his best efforts to procure work in the great railway shops of this city for our idle laborers. He has been given the promise of labor contracts from the directors of the Texas Pacific to be executed in our midst. His sympathies are with the laboring men in this the hour of their distress, and they may be assured that Mr. Reilly has done, is still doing, all he can to find employment for them. One session in Congress has given him ample opportunity to discover the defects and failures of the present system which have led to the hard times. He has had opportunities for insight and for methods of reform. He is practical and utilitarian. He has had experience, and experience makes wise. So with his qualifications and opportunities, Mr. Reilly, if continued at Washington—and I trust he will be—will make himself a valuable member, and look well after the practical interests of the district. A good servant should be continued, for it is only a waste of time to be always changing a representative. The district loses for it is only a waste of time to be always changing a representative. The district loses force and character by such a proceeding, and its interests suffer correspondingly. Mr. Rellly has been a very faithful and useful member so far. Let us, without distinction of party, continue him in well-doing by giving him our votes in November. Our trust will not be dispensed by the proceed of the process of the proc HEMATITE.

OUR CONGRESSMAN .- Within one week the voters of this Congressional district will be called upon to elect a representative to the Forty-fifth Congress, and they have a simple duty and one easy of performance.

Hon. John Reilly has demonstrated by his course during the session just closed that he is capable and efficient, and no coastituent has addressed him in vain. He has been faithful to his constituency in all things, regardless of partisanship, and has been prompt in the discharge of his duties to the country at large. He is again a candidate for election, and we confess we cannot see why he should not poll every vote he received two years ago in addition to hundreds he did not then receive.

The faithful servant of the people is deserving reward, and certainly Mr. Reilly deserves the reward of re-election. It is a reward, too, that our people, independent of party, can well afford to pay for the invaluable services of the man.

Honesty and integrity and capacity make up Mr. Reilly's composition, and people who admire those virtues in their official servants will give him their votes on November 7th. It will be well to bear in mind that Mr. Reilly is not a candidate of his own seeking. He has a responsible and lucrative position in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and his personal desire was to remain therein and provide for the future. But the incessant appeals of his friends and his unsought renomination have been too much for him, and he has again consented to relinquish his own immediate interests to attend to those of his constituency. His self-obnegation demands, as we have no doubt it will receive, the cordial support of the voters of the Seventeenth District.—Hollidaysburg Standard.

MAKING HIS MARK .- It will be seen by the following extracts, the first of which we find in a letter from Princeton, Ky., to the Paducah Tribune, and the latter in the Louisville Courier Journal of a recent date, that Rhey Boyd, Esq., a talented young gentleman who needs no introduction in this locality, is doing effective service on the stump for Tilden, Hendricks and reform, and winning the highest enconiums from the immense crowds who assemble on every occasion to listen to his powerful speech-es. Read what the correspondent referred to says of our eloquent young friend:

to says of our eloquent young friend:

Last Saturday, Rhey Boyd, Assistant District Elector, addressed the people of Caldwell, and I know I but echo the opinion of all who heard him when I say he made one of the most effectively speeches that it has ever been the good fortune of our people to listen to. Mr. Boyd is a young man of rare oratorical powers, and is winning golden opinions wherever he goes. He met with many old friends of his lather while in our county, and it was a real treat to stand by by and see with what enthusiasm he was listened to, and with what encouraging words he was greeted when he came down off words he was greeted when he came down off the stand.

And then read the following from the Courier Journal, and be convinced, if not already convinced of the superior talents which Mr. Boyd is acknowledged in a preeminent degree to be the honest possessor: eminent degree to be the honest possessor:

Rhey Boyd.—This pre-eminently able young man, who is assistant Democratic elector for the first district, addressed our people on Monday last. For two hours or more he held his fine audience chained with the excellence, not to say the unanswerable force, of his logic. Indeed kiney Boyd is not an unworthy scion of an illustrious sire, who for so many years in days gone by filled up the measures of love and confidence in the Democratic heart. The speech of this gifted young gentleman, was par excellence, the best of the campaign.

THE question has often been asked by those interested, "Can I have my gray hair restored to its natural color, without color-ing the skin? and can my thin locks be thickened up?" We answer, "It can;" and would advise you to read a treatise on the hair, which is published by R. P. Hall & Co., Nashna, N. H., who send it free, upon application. They are the proprietors of Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer. We learn from it, the hair, in a perfect state of health is constantly falling out, and new hairs grow from the same :ubes; but, in case of any disease of the scalp, or by the use of alcoholic preparations, the hair-tube becomes contracted at its mouth and prevents the new follicle from reaching the surface. Their preparation will create a perfectly healthy condition of the scalp, and, by its tonic properties, will preserve and strengthen the roots of the hair.—Des Moines (Iowa) Stateman.

CARROLLTOWN, Oct. 30, 1876.

DRAR FREEMAN—A rousing Democratic meeting was held at St. Boniface, in Chest township, on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 28th. The meeting was organized at 30 clock, p. m. by the selection of Nicholas Helfrich, Esq., as President, and the following named gentlemen as Vice Presidents. Messrs. Philip Miller, Anthony Anna, Conrad Yeager, Jacob Kirkpatrick, Jno. Gill, and Phil. Thomas; Secretaries, H. C. Devine and John Cordell. The President, Mr. Helfrich, opened the meeting with a brief speech full of carnestness and sound logic, after which the assemblage was addressed in a masterly manner by W. H. Sechler, Esq., of Ebensburg, who was followed by James C. Easly and James Null, Esqrs., of Carrolltown. This done, the meeting adjourned for supper, but reassembled at 7 o'clock in the school house, which was found infollowed by James C. Easly and James Null. Esqrs., of Carrolltown. This done, the meeting adjourned for supper, but reassembled at 7 o-clock in the school house, which was found inadequate to contain the large crowd in attendance, many of whom were compelled to remain outside for want of room. T. R. Scanlan, Esq., of Carrolltown, was then called upon and made a stirring appeal to the assembled crowd to take an active interest in securing a full poll and a straight role. He was loudly applauded, and at the conclusion of his speech, A. Walters, Esq., took the stand and delivered a spirited and earnest address, after which Dr. John B. Noonan, of St. Lawrence, was called on and responded in an impressive speech which proved the doctor to be no new hand at the business. The meeting was then adjourned with three hearty cheers for the whole Democratic ticket.

In conclusion, Mr. Editor, allow me to say that this was, in point of numbers, order and attention, one of the best meetings of the campaign, and proved beyond a doubt that Chest township is not going to be found sleeping at her post on Tuesday next.

—Two ineffectual attempts to erect an immense Tilden and Hendricks pole at Loretto were made respectively on Saturday and Tuesday last, the first effort resulting in the breaking of the pole, which was entirely too slim for its great length, and the second which we are told is a magnificent pole one hundred and eighty-one feet long, failed to go up on account of the principal rope break-Still the Democrats over there, determined as they were not to give it up so, went to work yesterday with the avowed inten-tion of succeeding if it should take them from that time to the day of the election, and that they have fully accomplished the task we hope to learn before putting our paper to press.

Not the Game He was Seeking.—The Altoona Tribune says that Mr. W. H. Wolf, of that city, was out hunting on Brush Mountain, near Blair Furnace, on Tuesday of last week, and while in a lonely place in the woods came across two horses that were bridled and hitched to trees. He passed en, and had not gone a great distance until two shots were fired at him, one of the bullets perforating his hat, while at the same time an individual who nad been concealed near the horses stepped out, and demanded the money and valuables of Mr. Wolf. The latter leveled his gun and fired at the villain, the ball taking effect in the leg of the latter, when another of the men made his appearance, and commenced firing with a revolver, when the frightened hunter took to his heels and escaped to tell the marvelous story.

STRAY COW.—Came into the enclosure of the subscriber, in Washington township, on or about the September 20th, a large brindle cow, seven or eight years old, with a portion of the right ear cut off and a slit in the left one. If the owner falls to appear, prove property, pay charges and take her away within the lime specified by law, she will be disposed of to the highest bidder.

TO ALL! NOW THEN DR. SWAYNE,

DR. SWAYNE'S COMPOUND

And other valuable preparations, entered upon his professional career with the important advantage of a regular Medical Education in one of the oldest and best schools in Philadelphia and perhaps in the world. He subsequently served a faithful term of practice in the Philadelphia Dispensary, and for many years attended also in the Hospital. In these institutions he enjoyed the most ample opportunities of obtaining an insight into diseases in all their various forms as well as for ascertaining the best he enjoyed the most ample opportunities of obtaining an insight into diseases in all their various forms as well as for ascertaining the best methods of their treatment. In offering, therefore, to the people of the United States the fruits of his extensive professional experience in the medical compounds as the best results of his skill and observation, that he feels that he is but proffering a boon to every family throughout the land, resting, as he does, confidently, in the merits and efficacious virtues of the remedies he herewith commends. The vast amount of testimony from all parts of the world has proven "Dr. Swayne's Compound of Wild Cherry" the most efficacious remedy known, and it is admitted by our most eminent physicians, and all who have witnessed its wonderful bealing properties. The Wild Cherry, in all ages of the world and in all countries where it is known, has been 'justly celebrated for its wonderful medical qualities, but its great power to cure some of the worst and most distressing diseases among us, was never fully ascertained until the experiments of that skillful physician, Dr. Swayne, had demonstrated its high adaptation, in combination with Pine Tree Tar and other equally valuable vegetable ingredients, which, chemically combined, renders its action tenfold more certain and beneficial in curing all diseases of the throat, breast and lungs. Dr. Swayne's Wild Cherry Compound strikes at the root of disease by purifying the blood, restoring the liver and kidneys to healthy actions, in grant the body in any way. It cures not only the lungs and liver, but every organ dependent upon a wasted or impoverished state of the blood.

A REMARKABLE CURE.

A REMARKABLE CURE.

ABRAHAM HUNSICKER, two miles from Skippackville, Montgomery county, Pa., contracted a serious cold, which settled upon his lungs, with a violent cough, pains in side and breast, and short breath. The symptoms became very alarming; an abscess formed in the lungs and made its way through the side, and discharged large quantities of pus externally, so that his physician thought that the power or functions of one of his lungs was totally destroyed, and therefore supposed the case entirely hopeless. This mournful state of things continued for a long time, until he was wasted and worn to a skeleton. He was advised to make use of Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry, and through its use was restored to health.

In every section of the country there are persons who have been cured of consumption, in its several stages, by the use of Dr. Swayne's Medicine. Many have been restored to health after being confined to their beds, reduced to mere skeletons, and troubled with cough, night sweats, heetic fever, and all other indications of an advanced stage of disease. It is true that in all cases where cures are affected the patlent must have some lungs remaining, but thousands of A REMARKABLE CURE

VICTIMS OF CONSUMPTION have descended to their graves who might have been cored if they had used "Swayne's Com-pound Syrup of Wild Cherry" in time.

Dr. Isaac H. Herbein, Strausstown, Berks county, Pa., says: I have made use of Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry for many years, and it always proves effectual in curing long standing coughs and all pulmonary affections. I believe it to be the very best remedy of the kind in the market.

Dr. Thos. J. B. Rhodes, Bovertown, Berks county, Pa., writes: Your Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry I esteem very highly; have been selling and recommending it to my patients for many years, and it always proves efficacious in obstinate coughs, bronchial and asthmatic affections, It has made some remarkable cures in this section, and I consider it the best remedy with which I am acquainted.
