This upheaval of nature he assisted by occasional draughts of strong teacontaining neither milk or sugar, until in the course of ten hours or so he had disgorged nearly a gallon of stuff such as no man living perhaps ever before looked upon. It resembled in fact a composition of coai tar, vitriol, lampblack and Paris green, and in its passage from the storiach to the lips it cut its way like a stream of molten lava and blistered his month and throat to such an extent that he mouth and throat to such an extent that he was unable to swallow any nourishment except gruei for three days, and that he was forced to take into his stomach through a flexible tube provided for the purpose.—Since then he has been obliged to live on soft food exclusively, though he hopes in less than a week's time to look a square meal straight in the face without blushing. —Mr. Wm. M'Pherson, one of the best citizens Johnstown could lay claim to, died in that place, on Monday last, after a short illness, aged nearly 71 years. Mr. M'Pherson served for three years in the capacity of supervisor on that portion of the old Pennsulvania canal, long since abandoned, which served for the provisor of the old Pennsulvania canal, long since abandoned, which whence they were taken to Johnstown by whence they were taken to Johnstown by below Blairsville, and was not only during the way of Wilmore on the same day and accorded a hearing on the above charge be-fore U. S. Commissioner Rutledge, who de-cided to bind them over for trial at the ap-proaching term of the U. S. District Court in Pittsburgh, but whether or not they have been released on bail we are unable to say, though the Tribune of Monday alleges that word was received from Platt's father that he would be on hand the same night for the purpose of entering security for the appearance of his son when wanted for trial. A dispatch was also received from Pittsburgh that a like arrangement would be made on behalf of King as soon as he reached that city. The arrest of these two parties brings the number now in custody belonging to this one gang alone up to fourteen, if we mistake not, two of whom were captured in Clearfield county, on Friday last, and another of the party, A. Blair Mahon, of Indiana county, was brought to bay in Johnstown on Thursday. Two other men in the north of this county whom we could name are also suspected of being implicated in the same un-lawful transactions, and the probabilities are that they will both be brought up with a round term before many days.

A MOTHER IN ISRAEL FALLEN.-Mrs. Susan Wilson, mother of the late Dr. John Wilson, of Martinsburg, W. Va., and also of Mrs. John Bollinger, of this place, departed this life on Thursday morning last, in full hope of a blissful immortality. She was born on a farm at the forks of the Juniana and Raystown branches, in Huntingdon county, Murch 10, 1788. Consequently, had she liven a few additional weeks she would have entered her 90th year. In 1810 she removed to near Ebensburg, Cambria county. The mountain region at that time may be said to have been one vast wilderness. In 1823 she returned to Huntingdon county, thence to Hollidaysburg, in which place she resided until her death, a period of more than forty-one years. Her life was a remarkably long one. She was never idle herseif, and idleness in those with whom she associated always gave her pain. Her life-maxim seemed to be "Work while it is yet day." She filled up the measure of her years in honest work and now, like a shock of corn fully ripe, her body has been gathered to its fathers, her glorified spirit rejoices in the fruition of all labor. was no uncommon thing for her and a few of her Christian friends to ride on horseback to Huntingdon to attend Protestant worship. But in all her views she was liberal. With old Father Gallitziu she was well acquainted and always spoke of him in the highest terms. The day in 1816 when he blessed the spring on the mountain, near the Fountain Inn, was well remembered by her. Only last summer she expressed an ardent desire to see that spring once more before she died. But her strength forbade. Within the last two years she cut from twelve to fifteen teeth-her third set-a circumstance of very rare occurrence. We care not to indulge in extended eulogy. Her long and busy life is her best memorial. Surrounded by her daughter, her grand-children and her great-grand-children, whose tender love had contributed so much to her declining days, and with an augelic smile upon her face, she passed away from earth into the arms of her loving Savior. It is well with her, "Let me die the death of the righteous and my last end be like his."-Hollidaysburg Standard.

COME NOW AND LET US REASON TO-GETHER.—Why do people so frequently say to Dr. Pierce, "I suppose your Golden Medical Discovery cures everything?" Because it has been the practice of knavish charlatans to manufacture worthless nostrums and attempt to dupe the ignorant and credulous by recommending them to cure every form of disease. To such an extent has this been practiced that it is no wonder that many have acquired prejudices against all advertised remedies. But Dr. Pierce does not advertise place. May she rest in peace.

—We sincerely regret to announce the sudden death of Richard J. Tibbott, one of sudden death of Richard J. Tibbott, one of the oldest citizens of this place. We saw the oldest citizens of this place. It is a tact known to every about 80 years of age. He came to this place some forty-three years ago, and here he has ever since remained, an honest, upright and most exemplary citizen, univer. an anti-periodic, by which it is efficacious in agne; and a febrifuge property, which renders it efficacions in cases of fever. The result of its administration will also vary with the quantity given and the circumstances under which it is employed. So, likewise, the Golden Medical Discovery possesses both pectoral and alterative, or blood-cleansing properties of the highest order. By reason of these two prominent properties it cures two classes of diseases. First, those of the respiratory organs, as throat, bronchial, and lung affections, chronic coughs and asthma, and second, diseases of the blood and glandular system, in which affections all skillful physicians employ alteratives, as in cases of blotches, eruptions, ulcers, swellings, tumors abscesses, and in torpor of the liver or "bil-lousness." While its use is, by its combination of properties, suggested in cases of pulmonary consumption, yet you need not take it expecting it will care you if your lungs are half consumed, nor because it is recommended as a blood medicine would its proprietor advise you take it expecting it to cure cancer. many grave forms of disease.

jously escaped death by tile ball, but in consequence of the wound is new a sad, sad object to contemplate, for at times he is transformed into a veritable demon—a perfect Sampson in strength.

He has shown symptoms of insanity ever since he was wounded, but great care was exceeded by his father, and whenever he would beight to complain of his head hurting him he was sent off to town, or elsewhere, on an errand—anything to draw his attention from his head—and in this way the worst was avoided. In September, 1875, however, he was sentenced to jall for a petry offence, and being thus left dione to brood over his troubles, his reason soon began to show signs of becoming entirely unsettled and he was sent to the State Insane Asylum. After remaining there a short time he was pronounced cured and sent to his bome; but far was he from being cured, for again the terrible disease racked his brillin, and a few weeks ago it was found necessary to send him to jall for confinement, and there he still remains, su object of fear and piry.

His strength is marvelous and almost beyond belief, but the county officers will confin mour stateweats. At first he was not confined in a cell, but one day he attacked the iron railing which surrounds the balcony leading to the upper tier of cells, and tore it to pieces. The railing was composed of a bar of iron about three-fourths of an inch in thickness and every here and there was riveted to iron posts. He tore it from the rivets as though it were a spiniter of wood and wound the heavy bar about his arms as he would a bed-cord. He was then hand-cuffed and confined in a cell, but right before the eyes of his jailors he gave the cuffs a couple of turns and snapped the was then hand-cuffed and confined in a cell, but right before the eyes of his jailors he gave the cuffs a couple of turns and snapped the was interrupted. He hen turned his attention to his boots, which he piecked to pieces, even the he els being taken apart lift by lift.

He just demolished one cell, with his naked fingers, Besides being a Sampson in strength, he is as agile as a cat, and cuts some strange notics. He has been seen to sit in the rear end of his cell, with his back toward the door, apparently absorbed in thought, and then suddenly to throw a back somersault from his sitting posture alighting on his feet close to the door. He at another time hung his hat upon a nail, which had been driven into the wall as high up as he could reach for that purpose, and stepping back, jumped and kicked the hat with both feet, sending it up to the ceiling, he alighting once more on his feet after having turned a back somersault in the air.

At times he will stand pressing his forehead with his lingers as though in terrible pain and then suddenly dart the leagth of the cell and butt his head against the wall with terrible force, from the effects of which he drops to the floor as if dead.

Thus he goes on from day to day, and that he has not killed himself ere this is indeed a matter of wonder. If an operation were performed and the fractured bone removed or lifted so as to relieve the pressure on his brain, it is likely he would recover his reason.

formed and the fractured bone removed or lifted so as to relieve the pressure on his brain. It is likely he would recover his reason. Some thing should be done. If the county must keep him it should also see that some effort is made to relieve him. If our own physicians can do nothing be should either be sent to where such cases are a specialty, or else physicians should be brought here. Under present a irreasurer's commission to Constables, 1876.

DEATH OF A MOST CHARITABLE LADY -Mrs. Catharine C. Trotter, wife of Mr. Richard Trotter, of Hemlock, this county, whose death we noticed last week, with a slight mistake, however, in consigning her remains to the tomb in the Catholic instead of the Union cemetery at the Catholic instead of the Union cemetery at Summitville, was a lady whose demise calls for more than passing mention. She was born in Union county, Pa., in the year 1811, and came to this county in 1836. Her maiden name was Martz, and many of her relatives still reside in the vicinity of Liliy's. After her marriage she and her husband followed the avocation of hotel-heeping, in which capacity she was always esteemed an amiable and cordial hostess. In her domestic relations she was ever intent on making her home lappy as well as cheerful and comfortable. But it was her philanthropy that especially won for her the esteem of her neigh-bors and made the mains of "Katie Trotter" the bors and made the mane of "Katie Trotter" the synonym of benevolence. At the couch of the sick and the bed of the dying she was invariably to be found ministering to the wants of the suffering and consoling the afflicted friends of the departed. Not having been blessed with children of her own, she was, nevertheless, a mother-to the motherless. Some idea of her worth in this respect may be formed from the fact that during her lifetime she raised and educated no less than twenty-one orphans, all of whom will no doubt long cherish her memoeducated no less than twenty-one orphans, all of whom will no doubt long cherish her memory as that of their best earthly friend. Her funeral which took place on Friday last, bore ample testimony to the esteem in which she was held by all of her neighbors. Plane No. 4 over which the procession passed from the head to the foot, was one continuous line of sleds and sleighs filled with sorrowing people, to say nothing of a hundred or more who followed the remains on foot. It is said to have been the largest cortege which was ever seen in that populous locality; and not afew were the tears shed by the vast concourse of sympathizers over the grave of one whom they had revered in life and whom they now mourn in death. May her memory be ever green, as the grass which will ere long bedeck her grave, and may her many virtues find faithful imitators for all time to come.

HOUTZDALE, Jan. 29, 1877. DEAR FREEMAN—As a goodly number of the valuable prizes of the Ladies' Casholic Fair went off during the past week, I thought it proper to let you know the result.

The principal article, the go'd chain and cross, was disposed of on Thursday night, and caused quite an excitement during the evening every person waiting to hear the name of the lucky one called out. At 9 o'clock, P. M., the votes were counted by Mr. H. H. Hartman and Father Meagher, and the result announced as follows; Miss Annie M. Dunn, $188.60; Miss Sarah J. Waterson, $78.15; and Miss Annie Killey, $8.25—giving Miss Dunn the chain and cross with a grand majority over both her rivals cross with a grand majority over both her rivals of $102.20. The many friends of Miss Dunn congratulated her on her good luck, and for ourseif we wish her the same success in all her undertakings during her journey down the stream of life. On presenting the handsome prize to its fair owner an address was eloquent y delivered by Prof. J. B. Sharbaugh, after which it graced the neek of the fortunate young which it graced the neck of the fortunate young lady.

The baby doll, contested for by two little girls, Miss Mary McCullough and Miss Hartman, fell to the lot of the former, she having received the highest number of votes.

The lady's gold r ng, contested for by Miss B. Kinney and Miss Martha Barr, was won by the first named lady, with $36.00 of a majority.

Mr. A. J. Sharbaugh was also fortunate in winning a handsome dress pattern worth $10.00. winning a handsome dress pattern worth $10.00, All the remaining articles will be disposed of next week, and then the Fair will close finally. The paintings over the altar in the Catholic church in this place, the handwork of Mr. Rip-ple, of Osceola, are splendidly executed in the at artistic manner.

DRS. OLDSHUE .- Among the most important improvements in the practice of medicine of which we ever had any knowledge is the peculiar system as developed by Drs. Oldshue, of Pittsburgh, Pa,

This system has been, from time to time, so fully set forth in our paper that we need not mention it here. Suffice it to say that with many years of experience in thousands of cases of the worst maladies known, it is truly astonishing with what universal success they have always

They have been enabled to turn to so good
