EBENSBURG, PA., Triday Moraing, - March 9, 1877.

RUTHER-A-FRAUD BULL DOZING HAYES is the latest.

Both houses of the Legislature of this State have agreed by resolution to adjourn on Friday, the 23d of the present month, and reassemble on the first Tuesday of next Jaumary,

Os Tuesday last, the day after Hayes had been fraudulently put into the White House, Wells and Anderson, the two white members of the Louisiana Returning Board, called upon him and congratulated him on the fact that they had made him President. We have no doubt the interview was cordial and satisfactory, as it surely ought to have been. In the language of the witches on the heath of Scotland, in their incantations to Macbeth :

When shall we three meet again ?--In thunder, lightning and in rain." -----

On the day following Hayes' inauguration, Blaine, in a bitter speech in the U.S. Senate on the subject of Louisiana affairs, took the broad but plain ground that if Packard was not elected Governor of that State, Haves was not elected President nor Wheeler Vice President, of the United States. If Haves refuses to recognize

Packard there will be an aggressive warfare against him, by Blaine and seconded by his followers, which cannot fail to embarrass his adminstration at its very outset and shatter the Republican party into fragments.

Is order to make assurance doubly sure, Returning Board Haves took the oath of office once before and once after assuming the duties of a position which honestly and by the overwhelming voice of the people belonged to another and better man. On Saturday evening last, in company with Chief Justice Waite, Mr. Hayes went to the White House, where the oath of office was administered to him by the Chief Justice aforesaid, one day ahead of the designated time ; and on Monday, after the delivery of his inaugural address, the same formality was once more gove through with. All that seems to be needed now is for Hayes to get his faithful and all-powerful friend, J. Madison Wells, of the infamous Louisiand Returning Board, to administer to him

AFTER a full night's session extending until beyond 4 o'clock on last Friday morning, a day known the world over as hangman's day, and after the certificate of the last State (Wisconsin) had been opened and declared, as it was right to do, for

Haves, the President of the Senate, Ferry, of Michigan, announced the following as the result of the Presidential election. We merely publish it, after the fraud has been accomplished, as the greatest and most stopendous political crime of the age : The whole number of electors appointed to vote for President and Vice-President of the United States is 369, of which a majority is 185. The State of the vote for President as delivered by the teller and as determined under the act of Congress of January 29, 1877, on this subject, is : For Rutherford B. Hayes 185 votes For Samuel J. Tilden .... .... 184 votes The state of the vote for Vice-President of the United States as delivered by the tellers and as determined under the act of Congress For Thomas A. Houdricks 184 votes Wherefore I do announce that Ratherford B. Hayes, of the State of Ohio, having received a majority of the whole number of electoral votes, is duly elected President of the United States for four years, commencing on the fourth day of March, 1877; and that William A. Wheeler, of New York, having received a majority of the whote number of electoral votes, is duly elected Vice-President of the United States for four years, commencing on the fourth day of March, 1877. This aunouncement, together with the list of the votes, will be entered on the journals of the two houses. There was no applause and every honest Republican hung his bead in very shame at the fraudulent yet official declaration of such a palpable cheat. It was the supremacy of falsebood, "Truth forever on the scaffold, and wrong forever on the throne." As Judge Black said in his speech before the Commission published and refarred to elsewhere :

"Nover had you a better right to rejoice. Well may you say, 'We have made a cove-nact with death, and with hell are we at agreement; when the overflowing scourge shall pass through, it shall not come unto us; for we have made lies our refuge, and under talschood have we hid ourselves." But nevertheless wait a little while. The waters of truth will rise gradually, and slowly but surely, and then look out for the overflowing scourge. 'The refuge of lies shall be swept away, and the hiding-place of falschood shall be uncovered.' This mighty and puissant nation will yet raise herself up like a strong man after sleep, and shake her invincible locks in a fashion you little think of new. Wait; retribution will come in due time. Justice travels with a caden heel but strikes with an iron hand. God's mill grinds slow but dreadfully fine. Wait till the flood-gate is hifted and a full head of water comes rushing on. Wait, and you will see fine grinding then."

Our Washington Letter. WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 5, 1877.

THE CABINET of Mr. Haves is now the principal topic of conversation. The position of Secretary of the Treasury has been accorded to Senator Sherman, and Mr. Hale has been offered the Navy Department, but has declined it because he expects in two years more to succeed Mr. Hamlin in the Senate. Gen. Sherman has recommended the appointment of Gen. Joseph E. Johnston as Secretary of War as a master stroke of policy, it being claimed that an appointment of this nature would make Gen. Johnston in a great measure responsible for the good behavior of the South. The personal friends here of Gen. Johnston do not, however, approve of the suggestion of his name for a Cabinet position. Don Cameron is exceedingly anxious to be retained in the War Department, but Don has opposition at home, and a great many of the politicians of your State want Hartranft. The master of the English language, Logan, is also very anxious to get into the War Department, and his friends have given Gov. layes but little rest since his arrival here. The Southern Radicals are the hungriest of the lot. It can be safely said that if a Southern Democrat can be found who will take position in the Cabinot be can certainly get it. All sorts of rumors prevail in regard to Cabinet appointments, but we prefer to defer any more than the above at present. Yesterday the members of Grant's Cabinet called in a body on Goy. Hayes to pay their respects to him. He said to them all individually that he desired them to remain at the heads of their various departments until their successors were confirmed.

THE LATE PRISONERS OF STATE.

On the release of Wells and the rest of the Returning Board of Louisiana from custody the whole party attired themselves in their best clothes, called a carriage and proceeded to the house of Senator Sherman for the purpose of paying their respects to Gov. Hayes. They were received in the most cordial manner and invited to lunch, which invitation they accepted with great gratification. They assured him of the great pride feit by them at having secured the prize for him. When they came away they exhibited so much pleasure at the reception they met, and at the kind words he gave them, that it seemed more than a compensation for their long imprisonment, Every one of them, black and white, confidently expect a fat office. Wells has since his release from custody been very prominent around the hotels. He was quite a lion with the Radicals both here and from abroad, Mr. Kellogg acting as master of ceremonies and making the presentations to him.

the disposed to be sworn in every fifteen minutes, and during the first year of his bogus administration--if it lasts so longhe will probably take a little oath for breakfast, some for lunch, a good deal at dim-ner, and go to bed with a big swear to last him over night. It is a little trying to a Christian statesman to call God to witness that he will sustain and defend the constitution that has fairly been macadamized nuder the hoofs of his treasonable party. However, he swallows it like a little man, willing to accept a stolen office and play at being President amid the scorn and contempt of the people who repudiated him at the polis. # The House Puts Itself on Record.

On Saturday Mr. Knott,"of Kentucky, chairman of the select committee on the privileges of the Honse, reported a preamble and resolution reciting that it was not disputed that 184 electoral votes (giving the names of the several States) had been legally and constitutionally cast for Samuel J. Tilden ; that the evidence taken and reported to the House in pursuance of its order showed conclusively that in Florida and Louisiana the duly appointed electors were those who had cast their votes for Tilden ; that those pretended electors who cast their votes for Hayes had never been duly appointed ; that the trath of these facts is attested by an overwhelming array of sworn testimony, as well as by the in-telligence of the American people, and therefore, resolving that it is the duty of this House to declare, and that it does solemply declare, that Samuel J. Tilden, of the State of New York, received 196 electoral votes for the office of President of the United States, all of which votes were cast and lists thereof signed, certified and transmitted to the seat of government, directed to the President of the Scuate in conformity with the constitution and laws of the United States, by electors legally eligible and qualified as such, each of whom had been duly appointed an elector in the mapper directed by the Legislature of the State in and for which he cast his vote, and that said Samuel J. Tilden, having thus received the votes of a majority of all the electors appointed, was thereby duly elected President of the United States of America, for the term of four years, commencing on the 4th of March, 1877, and further declaring that Thomas A. Hendricks, of Indiana, having received the same number electoral votes for the office of Vice of President, it is the opinion of the House that he was duly elected Vice President for the term of four years, commencing on the 4th of March, 1877.

This preamble and resolution were adouted by a strict party vote-137 to 88. Mr. Fields, of New York, from the select committee on privileges, reported a of jobbers, male and female, were on hand, resolution declaring (after a long preamble) in such great force as to make things look that, in the counting of electoral votes of as if the flush times were coming back any State it is the right and duty of Conagain.
