-Judge Orvis, of Centre county, we see it stated, is to preside at the adjourned session of Court to be held here in the third week of June. This because Judge Dean is interested either as counsel or as a party to most of the cases set down for trial on that occasion.

-Our old friend Michael Dunegan, (not Donahue, as the Standard has it,) although in the eighty-fifth year of his age, is credited with having walked from St. Augustine to Hollidaysburg, on Thursday last, and re-turning home on "shank's mare" the day after. The distance between the two points is about twenty-four miles, but Mr. Dunegan may have "cut across lots," so to speak.

-An old cat in Claysport, recently bereft of an entire litter of kittens, took forcible possession of five little chickens and has 'held the fort" against the mother hen ever since. The tiny chicks, as we learn from an suckers as a temperance hymn than a the Hollidaysburg Standard, appear to like their new mother, as they get on her back, creep under her, and otherwise manifest their confidence and affection. Truth to tell, it seems to be gay sport for all concerned except the hen that did the hatching.

-The Johnstown Tribune tells of an nid resident of Conemangh borough, now in his eighty-eighth year, a day laborer at the C. I. Co.'s works, who is the father of twentythree children, nearly all of whom are still moking tobaccos have no body. living, and the grandfather of forty-two children. One of his daughters, who resides with her husband in Massachusetts, counts up as her progeny no less than nine boys and six girls. This venerable gentleman is as spry on his feet as the average man of forty, and he bids fair to live for many years to come

-We got a peep at Francis Murphy, the great temperance agitator, the other day, and must say that he is a fine, portly looking gentleman, bordering on fifty years of age, and somewhat larger and perhaps a smale from "trashy u.s." Not little better looking than ourself, (see Altoons Tribune of April 11th.) which, of course, is saying a great deal for his manly beauty. (How's that for modesty?) It is shor county. They expect to cut evident, however, from his appearance that he has been, as he admits himself, one of the "b'hoys" in his time, and for a good long time too.

-A gentleman claiming to be cognizant alas last. Winter term closed, you of the fact informs the Hollidaysburg Standurd that the railroad tie immediately at the spot where McKim murdered Norcross, than twenty years ago, is always Miss Annie S. Criste, miliner | marked on the end with a cross. When the tie rots and is thrown away, the new one put in its place is marked with a cross by the workmen, and such has been the custom ever since the occurrence of the bloody tragedy. The scene of this cold-blooded murder is located about two miles this side of Altoona.

-We saw him standing in a crowd, a comely youth and fair; there was brightness in his eye and glory in his hair. We saw his comrades gaze upon him, those who stood behind, before, and we felt the great attraction was the splendal suit he wore, which we need scarce tell our readers, who have heard the story o'er and o'er, was bought for eash, the lowest figures, at Godfrey Wolff's big store, which it is always well to hear in mind is next door above the postoffice, on Twelfth street, Altoona.

-The Hollidaysburg Standard says that great by the Sheriff to a jury of Mr. Hugh Johnston, of Gaysport, while is deliday shurg on Friday evening fishing with book and line in the Conemaugh river, a few days ago, got a bite after con-siderable nibbling, and on pulling out found at The Iturelifield, of typographe his prize to be an old stone jug, into the month of which his line extended, the bait en made the happy "parient" of and hook being evidently held by some living creature inside. On breaking the jug he was surprised to find a large catfish, which had evidently selected the jug as a home when a little codger and kept possesars of age, was thrown from a sion until his house had become his prison.

- There are nine things that will make a man mad, but one is enough when his wife tells him that he can't have any dinner because she couldn't get the wash-boiler off the stove in time, of that she has been, gone and bought a lot of goods at some other store when everybody else knows and she ought to know that money can invariably be saved and domestic happiness insured by dealing exclusively with Myers & Lloyd, who keep nearly everything that anybody needs and always sell at prices which never have been and never can be undersold in Cambria

-A friend in need (of wearing apparel) is a friend indeed (to himself) if he "gors for" Jas. J. Murphy's Star Clothing Hall, 109 Clinton street, Johnstown, and goes away from it with a bran splinter new suit of clothes, of which, from personal observation made a few days ago, we can truthfully say that Mr. M. has an abundant and beautiful stock. It is wonderful indeed how small a sum of money will buy a tip-top outfit nowadays, but it is not at all wonderful that so many go to Star Clothing Hall to buy said outfits, for well they know that such goods at such low prices as are not to be found

-A train of sixty-four cars containing agricultural implements will pass over the Pa. R. R. to-day, but just when it will reach the several points along the main line in this county we are unable to say. The train is to be run on National Line schedule and the cars will be handsomely decorated. The implements consist of reapers, mowers. corn-planters, etc., and the moving panorama promises to be a sight well worth see-Our guess is that this unique train is destined for the Permanent Exhibition in Philadelphia, which is to be opened as already noticed in these columns, on May 10th. See fourth page of this issue for further facts

-An East Ward lad named John Davis made a narrow escape from serious if not fatal injury on Wednesday ferencon, in consequence of a horse on which he was mounted becomilig frightened at a sack of flour which was being put upon his back at the store of Pryce, Baxter & Co., in this place, As it was, the lad was hustled about a good deal in consequence of one of his feet being held fast by the saddle, which had turned under him, but eventually dropped to the ground without receiving any injury worth talking about. The horse then scampered off at a rapid gait, but was soon caught and held until the boy remounted and made a

-Although the FREEMAN has many warm friends in and about Chest Springs, and although a postal card costs only one cent, we are forced to accept a very meager account, gathered from parties unable to give particulars, of the destruction by fire, on Sunday evening last, of a barn, with all its contents, including three horses and one or more pigs, and perhaps other live stock, owned by resident of that vicinity named Maloy, the devastation, if we are rightly informed, having been caused by some neighbors' children igniting matches while playing in the barn. Being without direct information, we cannot youch for all the facts above given, nor can we give the amount of the loss sustained or the insurance, if any, on the property destroyed. -We are sorry to learn of the death, on Monday last, after only two days' illness, of the beloved wife of Mr. Joseph Null, of Allegheny towaship, aged about 69 years. The deceased, it is true indeed to say, was a most excellent lady, greatly beloved by a large circle of relatives and friends, among the latter of whom may be classed all who had the pleasure of knowing her. As an evidence of the respect entertained for the deceased lady a gentleman well acquainted with her remarked to us, in speaking of her death, that she was one of the best women he eyen knew, and that her step children, among whom may be meationed James Null, Esq., of Carrolltown, loved her and were beloved by her in return fully as much as if she was their own natural mother.

May her soul rest in peace. -John Kelly, a flagman on the First Union Line freight east on Sunday night last was found in an insensible condition in the Pa. R. R. tunnel at Gallitzin soon after his train had passed through, and close examination revealed the fact that his skull was fractured, and from the wound thus inflicted his brains were rapidly oozing. Supervisor the pit of the Stomach, Yellow Skin, Coated Ehrenfeld at once summoned Dr. Fay, the Tongue and disagreeable taste in the mouth, Ehrenfeid at on Company's physician, from Altoona, promptly attended to his wounds, but had no popes whatever for his recovery. His injuries are supposed to have been caused by falling from the train while passing over the decks. The unfortunate young man, who is said to be the only support of an aged and helpless father, was taken to his home at Kearney's station, Westmoreland county, where he died on Monday.

- In the absence of his coursel, F. P. the Biair county Court, on Tuesday last, to arose to his feet and said that there was no use in wasting time, as he would plead guil- of Gailizin, where he has long field the ty. On being asked if he had anything to office of postmaster: say in mitigation of his sentence he replied as follows: "I have nothing to say. I did wrong and am sorry for it, and I hope I'll never be taken in the same way again, and I don't think I shall. That is all I have to say." Court sentenced him to pay a fine of $100 and costs of prosecution, and to undergo separate and solitary confinement for one year in the Western Penitentiary. In the same Court, on the same day, Basil Moore plead guilty to larceny and received a like sentence, less $99 as to the fine. -On Monday afternoon last about halfpast 4 o'clock a three-year old son of Mr. James Kelly, of Cambria borough, while playing on the track in front of his father's residence was knocked down, run over and had both of his legs taken off by a dummy engine on the narrow guage road leading from the mill coal mines to the Cambria Steel anti, Iron Works. His left leg was subsequently amoutated by Dr. W. B. Lowman, who intended to perform a like operation on the other leg as soon as the child rallied, if rally he could, but that time never came, the little unfortunate gradually sinking until about 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when he was called to a better and brighter world. The innocent victim of this shocking accident, for which the boy in charge of the engine is thought by some to be carelessly if not culpably responsible, was said to have been a very bright and intelligent child for his age, but not for that reason alone can the great grief of the sadly bereaved parents be better imagined than described

-- An Italian miner from Millwood, Westmoreland county, paid a visit to a friend named John Now, in Cambria borough, on Saturday last, and after "doing" the Cambria Works and other places of interest, to say nothing of the imbibition of sundry mugs of beer, retired to rest somewhere towards the "wee, sma' hours," after having first as a matter of economy placed a lighted eigar on a chair near his bed, upon which he subsequently piled his wearing apparel. So far so good, but the I. M. aforesaid had not been long ensconced under the "kivers" when, awakening from his slumbers, he began to "smell a smell" and realized the fact that his habiliments were on fire. He gave the alarm forthwith and the other inmates of the house rushed promptly to the scene, where the startling discovery was soon made that not only his pants and vest had been rained by the fire, but that $246 in greenbacks had been, as the Tribune remarks, literally reduced to white ashes. As the dismayed owner of the property which had been but was not had only forty-seven cents in coin left, the boarders in the house raised a collection to buy him a new outfit and pay his fare home, and on Monday he departed a wiser, it is to be hoped, if a much poorer

ARE YOU GOING WEST?-It is important that you purchase tickets by the route compelling you to make the fewest changes of cars, and by which there are no emnibus transfers between depots in the large cities. The principal connection of the Pennsylvania Railroad, at Pittsburgh, is the system of roads familiarly known to the public as the "Panhandle Route." Its trains run through, without detention, from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati and Louisville, where prompt connections are made for all points South: from Pittsburgh to Indianapolis, where in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, and the Northfrom Pittsburgh to St. Louis, crossing the Mississippi river on the largest and finest steel bridge in the world, and making direct connections in the New Union Depot with the great through lines for all points in Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, California, Arkansas, and Texas. Trains are all equipped with the Safety Air Brake; the cars are comfortable, and the road in first-class condition. Your tickets west of Pittsburgh should read over "Pittsburgh, Cincinnati & St. Louis Rail-

[3 30.-9:.] IS THERE ANYTHING IN DREAMS?-A Hollidaysburg correspondent of the Altoona Mirror, writing under date of April 18th, answers the above question in the affirmative as follows :

Reading a story in yesterday's Mirror from Harper, "A Strange Dream," brings to mind a similar one related to me some time ago by a former resident of this town, now deceased. I met him on the bringe, when he asked me if I met him on the briege, when he asked me if I thought there was anything in dreams. Then he related the following: He dreamed he was walking on the bank of a very wide river; when he came to an old house he turned off and went up a high mountain, and when about half way up he came to a flat spot, where there was a large rock, and beyond the rock were eleven wild turkeys. He then woke up and found that it was a large rock, and seven the rock were eleven wild turkeys. found that it was a dream. Some five years after he had bus ness in the Cove, and, as he had to travel on foot he took the near cut by way of he reservoir, past Kephart's old pot-tery, and then over Cove mountain, a route he had never traveled before. When passing along the tank of the reservoir, by the old pot-tery works, and up the mountain, everything seemed tandiar and he began to realize it was the same ground he had passed over five years before in a dream, but what puzzled him the most was, when he reached the flat and the big rock, to see the eleven wild turkeys scratching among the leaves.

THOUSANDS OF AFFIDAVITS .- Many having used "patent" and prepared medicines and failed in finding the relief promised are thereby prejudiced against all medicines. Is this right? Would you condemn all physicians because one failed in giving the relief promised? Some go to California in search of gold, and after working hard for months and finding none, return home and say there is no gold there. Does that prove Many suffering with Catarrh and pulmonary, affections have used the worthless preparations that crowd the market, and in their disappointment say there is no cure for Catarrh. Does that prove it? Does it not rather prove that they have failed to employ the proper remedy? There are thousands of people in the United States who can make an affidavit that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery have effected their entire cure. Many had lost ail sense of smell for months, and pieces of bone had repeatedly been removed from

REV. CYRUS JEFFREYS, a gentleman who at one time, if we mistake not, resided in White township, this county, but who now lives in Centre county, is a rather remarkable personage, if we may judge from what the Osceola Rereille says about him when it tells us that he has cleared no less than twelve farms, buitt twelve houses and twelve barns and planted twelve orchards. To this is added the business of cabinet-making, mill-wrighting, lumbering, plumbing, graining and glazing. Professionally he is known as teacher, preacher, doctor, editor, author, novelist and historian. Besides all these strings to his kite, "he is an accomplished artist, having few equals in house, sign, landscape and portrait painting." He also served in the Legislature of Indiana, was engaged in commercial parsuits, manufactured patent medicine and organized and established a new denominational Church. In his younger days he was an active sportsman, a "brag shot" and a successful fisherman. And he still lives.

AUGUST FLOWER.-The most miserable beings in the world are those suffering from Dyspensia and Liver Complaint. More than seventy-five per cent of the people in the United States are afflicted with these two diseases and their effects; such as a sour Stomach, Sick Headache, Habitual Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, Heart-burn, Water-brash, gnawing and burning pains at coming up of food after eating, low spirits, &c. Go to your Druggists, Lemmon & Murray, Ebensburg, or to P. M. Woleslagle & Son, Wilmore, and get a 75 cent Bottle of August FLOWER or a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Try it. Two doses will relieve you.

A SAD DEATH .- From Sunday's issue of Tierney, Esq., a man named John McCune the Altcons Globe we copy the following was called on several times in succession in particulars of the shocking death of Mr. Alex. Mills, son of Capt. David Mills, a answer the charge of bigamy, and finally former much esteemed citizen of this place, but now and for many years past a resident office of postmaster:

The many friends of Alex, Mills were startled and pained to learn yesterday morning that he had died very suddenly about six o'clock. He was in excellent health the day previous and exhibited no symptoms of the near approach of the dread hour of death. The circumstance of his decease seemed to demand an investigation, hence Coroner Humes summoned a jury, consisting of Messrs. J. M. Stonebraker, John Hickey, Capt. Robert Johnson, Major R. J. Crozier, William Lytle and T. A. Durbin, and held an inquest, the jury sitting at the St. Charles hotel at ten o'clock, adjourning at twelve until two, and finally concluding its investigations at half-past four. The result was a verdict as follows: "The deceased came to his death from the effects of an overdose of laudanum administered by his own hands, and the jury is also of the opinion that the life of the deceased might by a bean eaven but for laudanum administered by his own hands, and the jury is also of the opinion that the life of the deceased might have been saved but for the negligence of the persons in whose charge he was found." The verdict was signed by all the jurymen except T. A. Durbin, Esq., who refused because he claimed that there was no negligence on the part of any person, as shown by the evidence. From the best information obtainable the following are the last of the obtainable the following are the facts of the case; Mr. Mills was, until within the past ten days, employed as a bar-tender at the St. Charles hotel. During the ten days mentioned he in-dulged to a perhaps too great extent in the use of intoxicating liquors, thereby prostrating his nervous system and producing a melancholy state of mind. Some time during Friday he went to the drug store of Mr. George A. Beck-ley, on the corner of Eleventh avenue and Fourteenth street, and purchased one and a ball ounces of laudanum and a small vial o perfomery. As he was apparently perfectly sober at the time he entered the drug store, Mr. Beckley, of course, soid him the fatal drug without any hesitation, as he had no reason to suspect that it would be put to any improper use. Besides, it is further stated that Alex. had used the drug many times before purely as a means of relief from a condition to which he was at intervals subject. About mid-day he called at the Brant House and requested Mr. Will Schenk to write two letters for him, one to his father and another to a lady friend. Will replied by saying that his brother John had better do the writing, as he and Alex. were more intimately acquainted, but John not being present Alex. commenced to write himself, but made only one or two letters on the paper and then abandoned the idea of writing, saythg and then abandoned the idea of writing, saying he guessed he had "to-much on," and he would put it off until to-morrow; that it would be the last time either of them would hear from him. Subsequently, it seems, Alex, crossed to the East side and wandered up Ninth avenue, stopping at a house kept by Mrs. Speakman. He asked permission to go up stairs and lie down to sleep. Permission was granted him and he at once retired, requesting the person who at once retired, requesting the person who showed him to the room to lock the door and call him at eight o'clock in the evening. At that hour the room was entered and an effort made to awaken him, but without success. From that time until after midnight the room was visited by different persons, both inmates of the house and others, but all efforts to arouse fallen proved of no avail. Between twelve and failen proved of no avail. Between twelve and one o'clock a physician was sent for, but did not come. Some time after one o'clock word was sent to the St. Charles and on advice of Mr. Fixbarris the messenger started on the hunt of another physician, but failed to obtain one. A haif hour later persons infinately acquainted with deceased succeeded in removing him to his room at the St. Charles hotel. After lying down again he appeared to be all right, apparently resting easily and having no pain. His room was visited from time to time during the morning hours and he seemed to be sleep-ing. Between the hours of five and six o'clock his room was again entered and it was found that life was extinct. The bottle which con-tained the laudanum was found behind a trunk in the room which he occupied at Mrs. Speak-man's and the vial of perfumery mentioned before was found to his cost markst. Those man's and the vint of perfumery mentales before was found in his cost pocket. These facts, together with the testimony of Drs. Ross, Row and Christy, settled the conviction in the minds of the jurymen as to the cause of his sudden taking off. There can be no doubt that from Pittsburgh to Indianapolis, where through express trains are in waiting in the Union Depot to take passengers to all points in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, and the Northwest. The only line running through trains partially and who sincerely regretted the sudgen living and who sincerely regretted the sudgen living and who sincerely regretted the sudgen death of generous-hearted, noble-minded Alex.
Mills. In the evening, on the Mail train, his remains were taken to Gallitzin, where his parents reside for interment. The funeral will take place to-morrow morning.

> ... THE CATHOLIC WORLD, -"The Prussien Chancellor" is the title of the leading article in The CATHOLIC WORLD for May; and certainly there is no more interesting political character in these days than Prince Bismarck. His recently-announced retirement only adds zest to the ly-announced retirement only adds zest to the eager curiosity with which one reads this brilliant and powerful sketch of a man who may be truly said to have changed the face of the world, and whose career is far from being end-ed. Herein is condensed the history of a strange, ever, a startling, career, in which there are lights to relieve the shadows, as the writer has not forgotten to note. The article is a sequel to "The Russian Chancellor," which appeared in the March number, and attracted such wide in the March number, and attracted such wide and deserved attention.

"Up the Nile" ends happily, and "The Letters of a Young Irishwoman," which have elicited such varied and contradictory comment from critics, are at last announced to end in the next number. "Six Sunny Months" continue as brightly and pleasantly as ever. "Nanette" is a really skillfully-constructed story, with a subtle, sarcastic tinge, showing, as it were, between the lines. Short as it is (and none the worse for its shortness), it brings vividly before us a strong and true picture of those, to us. us a strong and true picture of those, to us impossible days of Louis XV. in France. "The Lepers of Tracade" is a painfully interesting article. It is startling to find lepers at our doors, so to say, in these days. Another article painful though pleasing interest is that on the French clergy during the late war in France.
The story of the heroism and self-sacrificing devotion of these noble men, who were the last to think them-elves noble, draws tears from the eyes. And when we say men, we should include women; for the Sisters of Charity and other sisters shared the glory that all the world concedes to the clergy and religious of France during the awful catastrophe that fell upon their country. "De Vere's Mary Tudor" con-tinues, and ends the examination of a really great and much neglected drams. "The Testi-mony of the Catacombs" is full of learning and instruction, brought to the level of any ordinary intelligence.

To lovers of poetry the gem of the number will be the latest instalment of Mr. I. W. Parson's admirable translation of Dante. THE CATHOLIC WORLD is happy in being the medium of an English rendering of his thoughts that the great poet could not himself but ad-mire. Two May Carols from Aubrey de Vere. together with a very graceful poem entitled "May Flowers," and a beautiful sonnet, complete the poetical contributions to the present number. There is other matter of general in-terest in which is included an unusually large and "spic," number of literary criticisms.

TROUBLESOME CHRONIC DISEASES .--There are multitudes of Chronic diseases which beset and affilet hundreds of our readers, which in a vast majority of cases, are easily within the reach of cure. The class embraces so many maladies that it were te-dious as well as useless to name most of them -Dropsy, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Old and Stabborn Ulcers and Fever Sores; Neuralgia, Head-aches, Contracted Limbs, all, or most of which are, by proper treatment, curable. Consumption, Skin Diseases, Liver Complaint, Chronic Diarrhoa, Piles and Fistula make up another class, equally remediable under the improved methods of medicine, which deep research into its hidden powers have brought to light. Dr. Keyser of 120 Penn Avenue, Pittsburgh, has investigated these diseases as well as other obscure chronic affections, which has enabled him to promise a cure whenever a cure is at all possible; his office is easily reached, and persons desiring to consult him, can take the morning cars, in most cases, and return home the same day. Dr. Keyser is the proprietor of Dr. Keyser's Lang Care, the great remedy for Consumption, now sold in pint bottles, at $1 each.

MILLS.—Died. in Altoons, on Saturday, April 21, 1877, ALEXANDER MILES, aged 29 years, 10 months and 21 days.

21, 18.7. ALEXANDER MILLS, aged 29 years, 10 months and 21 days.

The subject of the above notice was a son of Capt. David Mills, of Gallitzin; a veteran soldier of the Mexican war, who served under Scott from the taking of Vera Cruz to the surrender of the capitol and the close of the war, ever at his post in the liftervening battles of Cerra Gorda, Jallapa and Chepuitenec.

When the stars and stripes were hauled down from Fort Sumpter, the Captain's bosom heaved with indignation, and when the call was made by his country for support, the Captain was once more ready for the tented field. He raised a company of mountainers, and taking with him his only sons, Albert and Alexander, he hurried to the front, where they engaged in many a hard-fought battle. Since the close of the war the Captain has filled the office of postmaster at Gallitzin, where "Aleck" was the idol of the household, welcomed and highly respected by all his acquaintances for his noble qualities of mind and heart. The report current on Saturday morning of his sudden demise was therefore received by all with sincere sorrow and heartfelt sympathy. His remains were burled in the cemetery on Tunnelhill on Monday last, and were followed to the grave by the largest concourse of people that ever attended a funeral in this vicinity. He was burlied with the bonors of war by a delegation of the Latta Guard, of Altoons, and many of his comrade soldiers in this place.

Whatever faults a sinful and cortunt world comrade soldiers in this place.

Whatever faults a sinful and corrupt world would wish to heap upon the character of the deceased whilst living, we now ask the charity of its silence. "Let the dead past bury its dead," and let his virtues only be remembered. The heartfelt sympathy of the entire community is tendered to the bereaved parents, who weep bitter tears for their son.

F. J. P. Gallitzin, April 24, 1877.

KANE Died, in Carroll township, on Satur-ley, April 21, 1877. Mrs. ELIZABETH, wite of BARLES KANE, aged 38 years, 10 months and The illness of the deceased was of a character such as to defy the skill and judgment of her physicians, and can scarcely be said to be classi-led under any known form of disease. In the death of this estimable lady her husband and family meet with an irreparable loss and the community is bereft of one of the most exemplary and charitable of its members, while last and worst, seven children are left orphans and motherless. Of the virtues and goodness of the deceased it is scarcely necessary to speak, as her many kind and neighborly acts will long be remembered by all who enjoyed her acquaintance. Removed as she was from earth after a brief illness and in the very prime and vigor of womantood, and summoned as she was from a pleasant and happy home and from the presence of a fond husband and loving children, it is hard under the circumstances to utter a word of consolation which would easily utter a word of consolation which would really console the stricken ones who are left to her early and much lamented death. Yet it i the sincere expression of the entire communi-ty that those who mourn for a faithful wife and a true mother have the heartfelt sympathy of all who knew her in life. Peace to her soul and comfort to the wifeless and motherless stricken ones, is the sincere prayer of all.

J. C. E. prayer of all.
