It is an insult to the boasted intelligence of their readers when Republican editors assert that the withdrawal of the troops from Columbia and New Orleans was a betraval of Southern Republicans, or, in without the colored vote Republicanism in the South would have neither "a local habment of Hampton in South Carolina, or that of Nicholls in Louisiana, foreshadow Tuz difference between the Emperor the "betrayal" of the colored people? It will not be pretended that they could re-establish slavery in their own States, even if they desired to do so. Nor can it be said right of suffrage from the colored man. In his late speech to the colored people of Charleston, Hampton assured them that twelve years ago, just when the civil war to vote, and that he stood now precisely where he did then. In addition to this, he told them that while in Washington not long since five or six prominent Republicans, men in high position, actually consulted him as to how the vote of the colored man could be restricted. "My answer was," he said, "that we do not want the vote of the colored man taken away or restricted, for, aside from the friendship we bear the race, their right to vote gives us thirty more votes in Congress, and when peace comes

THE RUSSIAN SQUADRON.

Some of the members of the diplomatic corps are conjecturing as to Russia's real repose in keeping such a large naval quadron in American waters, when there is certain to be numberless conflicts between the Russian and Turkish navies near at home. It is generally thought that within a very short time a blockade of the Turkish ports will be declared, and the vessels of other nations warned not to carry munitions of war destined for the Turkish government. When this is done then the ecret of the large Russian naval squadron will be made to appear, and it will be found Hartranft for a copy of the general laws races and parties will vote together for the they are here for the purpose of intercepting the shipment of American arms to Turkey. Russia having all the arms she needs will not have to purchase, as Turkey doing, of American manufacturers. American naval officers are quite outspoken in their belief that the powerful iron clads Turkey will be more than a match for the navy of her opponent, Rusia.

PENDING APPOINTMENTS.

Mr. Hayes manifests little disposition to hasten action in the case of some of the important Federal appointments which have been hanging fire now for several weeks, and although pressed on all sides to settle the conflicts now going on between the numerous applicants, he does not yield in the least, but continues to postpone action.

MINISTER TO PARIS.

Ex-Gov. Noyes, of Ohio, who presented Hayes's name to the Cincinnati convention behalf of the Ohio delegation, is here, and had an interview with his "Boss," and is said that Noyes is a prominent supplicant for Minister Washburne's position at Paris. Noyes predicts that within three weeks all signs of disaffection will have died in the Republican party, and "the President" be heartily commended for his wise course towards South Carolina and Louisiana. And yet Mr. Noves, when here last summer, was not favoring Mr. Hayes at all. He went all the way up to Maine to court Jimmy Blaine, and on his return here, just prior to the Cincinnati convention, ridiculed the idea of llayes receiving the nomination for President. # Mining Perils.

FEARFUL ADVENTURE IN A COAL MINE.

A despatch from Scranton says that in calculating the cost of coal there is one important item which is never taken into con sideration by capitalist or consumer, and that is the loss of life and limb incurred in the work of digging "dusky diamonds" and preparing them for market, A glance at the list of deaths and accidents published monthly in the local papers is sufficient to send a thrill of horror through the stoutest heart ; but familiarity soon makes us partially indifferent to such matters, and it is only when some thrilling calamity occurs, such as the Avondale and West Pittsburg disaster, that we are fairly aroused to the perils incident to the work of mining. The people of the metropolis know but little of these things unless when they see an occasional account of some extraordinary catastrophe published, and even then they can but faintly realize the mishaps that befall

THE SHADOW OF THE GUILLOTINE. There is a good deal of nueasiness among the Bureau officers of the Treasury Department in consequence of the removal of Solicitor Talbot and the appointment of G, Wiley Wells, ex-carpet bag representative from Mississippi. This change, it is thought, indicates a determination on the part of Secretary Sherman to put the guillotine at work among the other heads, and as no person can tell whom the next victim will be, there is considerable alarm among the faithful. The Secretary has gone outside of the office in selecting persons to fill the vacancies, thereby ignoring civil service rules entirely. ANDERSON.
