He was afterwards arrested for some of his doings, but several gentlemen paid his fine and saved him from going to prison. THE PROBLETION COUNTY CONVEN-TION. - No political convention ever met in this or any other county and transacted its business with the same lightning speed as the Prohibition convention which convened at the Court House, in this place, on Monvery numerous, probably not much more than a Baker's or Barker's dozen, but they were all of one heart and one mind. No rivalry interfered in the choice of a chairman nor was the appointment of a committee pecessary to decide and report upon warmly contested seats. Take it all in all it was the nappiest of conventions, with no one to mo-lest or make it afraid. In just about ten minutes after the President, Ransom E. Smith, took the chair, the work was done, and three-fourths of the county ticket to be voted for was nominated, as follows: Prothonotary, V. S. Barker, Ebensburg : Poor House Director, E. P. Baker, Susquehanna township; Coroner, Thomas L. Jones, Ebensburg. No nomination was made for District Attorney, and as a consequence the erroneous impression will go abroad that among the members of the bar of Cambria county Francis Murphy has not a single follower. In order to give the voters of the county a fair chance at the election, a Greenback party is now in order, and as our patriotic and enterprising fellow citizen, Chaplain Wm. T. Davis, has unlimited faith in Treasury notes as the substance of things heped for, and the evidence of things not seen, we trust he will at once throw himself into the breach and supply a pressing party need. Following are the resolutions adopted by our Prohibition friends on Monday last : WHEREAS. The friends of God, humanity and WHEREAS, The friends of God, humanity and temperance in Cambria county, finding in the present political parties no disposition to battle against the greatest evil of modern times, and by the repeal of the act calculated to protect the people against the Favages of their worst foe (intoxicating drinks), and by striking down the sacred rights of the people to say whether license to sell liquor should or should not be granted in our midst, removes from us any hope of redress through their instrumentality; therefore Resolved. That we see no relief from the ter-Prohibitory laws.

Resolved, That, in view of the foregoing facts.

Resolved, That, in view of the long and a server our connection with our former political parties, and form ourselves into a distinct Prohibition party, for the purpose of contentrating all our influence, both moral and political, against the unboly traffic in intoxicating drinks.

A BRAUTIFUL MONUMENT .-- The finest monument that has ever yet been erected in Lloyd's cemetery is the one that was a few days ago placed over the grave of Mrs. Mary J. Lowman, wife of Dr. John Lowman, of Johnstown. The lettering and finish of this exquisite monument, designed and executed as it was by Messrs. Keim & Ascher, art sculptors, of Johnstown, Pa., is decidedly unique, and altogether it is one of the most elegant in design and complete it workmans ship that has ever been erected in any of our cemeteries -so handsome and perfect indeed that to see it will well repay a visit to the cemetery near this place. The firm that has had the honor of producing this beautiful monument fearlessly defy competition in vestern Pennsylvania, and have offered a large reward, which no one has yet had the temerity to accept, for any work that will at all compare with what they have done and can do in their line. JOHNSTON-GLASS,-Married, at the Cath olic church in this place, on Tuesday morning, Oct. 9, 1877, by Rev. Father Boyle, R. L. Johns-Ton, Esq., and Mrs. Mary Jane Glass, both of ron, Esq., and orre. Ebensburg. No cards.

That it is never too late to do good will be free. ly admitted by our much esteemed legal 'riend and his fair bride, who, judging from the fact that they were married at 5½ o'clock in the morn-ing, seem to be just as thoroughly impressed with the idea that it is never too early to week, a con-clusion which they found about fifty persons, more or less, willing to endorse by getting out of bed an hour or more before daylight in order to witness the ceremony. Well, no matter, early or late, it was well done, and in the doing one of the late, it was well done, and in the doing one of the kindest of men get one of the best of wives, and our worthy postmaster, Major Thompson, and that excellent haly, Mrs. Winnie Moore, who performed the part of attendants on the happy occasion, could not but have felt that they were bearing witness to the administration of a sacrament which bound for life in the sliken bonds of matrimony as worthy a couple as ever pledged each other their sacred troths—he the embodiment of henor and the possessor of a heart as warm and of henor and the possessor of a heart as warm and generous as ever heat in human breast, and she not only the counterpart of himself in these particulars, but as true a lasty, as proficient a house-keeper and as faithful a sponse as ever blessed mortal man with her lore or favored with her hand. The happy couple started at once for hand. The happy couple started at once for Philadelphia on a wedding tour, from whence they will return to find themselves the reciplents of a serenade which will be to some extent expressive of the good will and good wishes of the community in which they have so long resided and to whom they have so greatly metared themselves. Long may they live and while life lasts may they he as happy as happy can be. After that heaven, we hope, for both of them.

MULVEHILL-GONTZ .- Married, on Thurs. day evening. Oct. 4.1877, at the pasteral residence, Ebensburg, by Rev. Father Royle, Mr. Francis MULVEHILL and Miss JENNIE GONTE, both of this

The happy couple in the first dawn of their new found joy failed not to remember the printer, who in return takes pleasure in congratulating them on the final realisation of their long cherished hopes, which, we sincerely trust, have brought to each of them a peace and contentment which will abide with them for many long years yet to come. The newly made husband, it is no offence we hope to say, has long plodded life's weary way slone and unattended by God's best gift to man, a good wife, but now that he has at last entered the matrimonial fold, there is no one we are sure who will rimonial fold, there is no one we are sure who will not join with us in wishing that he and his fair bride, who is well fitted to make his house a home indeed, may never have cause to rearet the all-important step they have just taken. In short, may peace and plenty be their portion in this life and a blissful eternity their reward in the life to come. So mote it be,
