James Stewart and James Mock, indicted for the same offence, were tried on Tuesday last, and found guilty on the fourth count of the indictment. Several other parties against whom similar indictments were pending failed to appear for trial. -A besom of destruction, so to speak, pass-ed over Fairfield township, Westmoreland county, last week. At least we judge so from the fact that a grist mill owned by Mrs. Wm. Graham was burned to the ground on Wednesday night, involving a loss of $9,000 with no insurance, and this was followed on the night following by the burning of John H. Smith's barn, and on Friday night by the destruction of Richard Snodgrass' barn and Graham Snodgrass' dwelling house-all of which were worth about $9,000 more, the only insurance being $1,000 on the Snodgrass barn. The fires all occurred within four miles of each other, but how they originated we have failed to learn, although it seems evident enough that they were the work of incendiaries.

ROMANTIC LAWSUIT .- A correspondent of the Philadelphia Times, writing from McConnelisburg, Pa., gives the following particulars of a somewhat romantic lawsuit recently disposed of by the Fulson county court, and in which an old and respected citizen of this place figured as plaintiff In the year 1827 John Leighty and Lydia Walters, then residing in the vicinity of Dunconstille, were married, and about three months thereafter William Leighty, their son claimant, was born. Soon after the birth William, for some unaccountable reason in Leighty deserted his wife and took up with another woman, residing afterwards for some considerable time in the counties of Huntingdon, Cambria and Bedford; from the latter county he moved to Fulton in the year 1857, taking with him his allowed wife and some three hundred acres, upon which he resided until the year 1563, when he died interface, leaving his proteined wife and three children surviving him. George W. Leighty and his mother. Catharine, administered upon his estate. The real estate of decedent was taken by George W. Leighty under proceedings in parti-tion, and by him sold in 1865 to John F. Deshong, the Jetendant in the case. The defendant claims that there was no legal marriage of John L lighty and Lydia Walters, but that John Leighty and Catharine, his now surviving widow, were legally married about the year 1839, although Lydia Walters or Lydia Leighty did not die until 1838. Hoth parties to the suit were represented by able and learned counses. as was clearly manifest at the trial. After he as was clearly manifest at the trial. After be-ing out about six hours the Jury returned a verillet for defendant. The plaintill filed a motion for a new trial. William Leighty, the claimant, has also instituted proceedings claimant, has also instituted proceeding against Catharine Leighty, surviving a limints trator, for the recovery of the sum of $2,144.40, balance remaining in her hands as administrator of the estate of John Leighty, deceased. An auditor has been appointed to take testi-mony and report the facts in the case, which, in all probability, will only be settled by a Jury trial. The claimant, a resident of Ebensburg, Pennsylvania, is fifty years of age and loss a wife and nine children. He is an industrious, hard-worklog man, a wagon-maker by trade, and in moderate circumstances. He had not seen his father for about twenty years prior to the death of the old gentleman, and, it is claimed, was kept in ignorance of the value of his father's estate until about nine months ago, when he at once instituted proceedings to re-cover the whole estate that his father possesses at the time of his death, as the legal and sole BALLOU'S MAGAZINE FOR NOVEMBER. -The November number of Ballou's Magazine is a marvel of beauty and interest. The first article is an illustrated subject on Chinese Life and Character, by the authors of 'The Gold Hunters," and then follows some ten or fifteen stories of great interest, and several pieces of poetry of much merit. The "Child of the Wilderness" is continued and increases in interest as it approaches completion. The humorous department, prepared by M, Quad, the great wit and genius of Michigan, is unusually brilliant and at-tractive, and will be read with interest by all lovers of the good things of this country. This Magazine is one of the best and cheapest publications of the kind in the country, and it is only 15 cents a single copy, or $1.50 per year, postpaid. Among the number were three prominent gentlemen from Wilmore, name y, George Rorabaugh, John Wright and George Pringle. At 9 o'clock precisely John A. Jones and Owen Rowland were chosen as captains, and at 1 o clock the five bands were in place, all parties present taking a hand SATURDAY, NOV. 3d, 1877, at I o'clock, P. M., the following real estate ALL the right, title and interest of Christian Kunkle, of, in and ice a lot of ground situate in the Second ward of Johnstown borough. Cambria county, Pa., fronting on Wa-hington street on the north, adjoining lot of George Peak on the west, lot of John Shiffhaur on the east, and an alley on the south, having thereon creeted a two story plank house and a plank stable now in the tecapancy of Christian Kunkle. Taken in execution and to be sold at the suit of Andrew Gick, et al.

Also, all the right, little and interest of Frank McCullough, of, in and to a lot of groond sinante in the Third ward, borough of Johnstown, Cambria county, Pa., fronting on Broad Street, adjoining lot of Bart Kearney on the east and lot of Charles Cartwright on the west, running back to Pearl street, having thereon erected two two s ory frame houses, now in the occupancy of Frank McCullough and others. Taken in execution and to were in place, all parties present taking a hand and doing their work faithfully and efficiently, especially the two captains and the three gentlemen from Wilmore; and in five hours thereafter the entire frame was put together, including the first section of rafters. Then came the final cere-mony of shouldering the contractor. John Howell, the two captains named above, the three carpen-ters, Geo. A. O'Hara. Sam'i J. Flyce and Augus-tins Borker, and the same of the land of the contractor. tine Borkey and the owner of the barn, and conveying them all to the supper.

The size of the structure is so by 55 feet, framed on the roof stool model and containing 464 mor-tises, 100 braces, and about 70 000 leet of lumber, The foundation, which consists of 100 perches of stone wall was built by that unrivalled mechanic, Thomas Davis, the entire work being completed by that gentleman and his son in a period of nineteen days.

On the 3d of July, 1857, my old barn, 80 by 44 feet, recently lestroyed by fire, was raised by the contractor, John Howell, the captains on that erts, and the carpenters employed Wm. Howell, Robert Reese and Abram Reese. It is a somewhat singular coincidence that all the parties em-ployed in building the old barn, more than twenyears ago are still alive and in the enjoyment

BUCK-WALTERS, - Married, at St. Benc. dict's church, Carrolltown, on Tuesday last, by the Rec. Father Prior, Mr. I BLESTINE BUCK old-est son of Hon. John Buck, and Miss Many War-TERS, daughter of Augustine Walters, Esq., all of that place. No cards, Our young friend "Les" very sensibly subscribed and paid in advance for the FREENAN before assuming the duties and entering upon the felici-tles of married life, and as this is prest conclusive evidence of his thou, htfulness and affection for the fair young creature who has just bestowed upon him her heart and hand, and who is in every way fitted to make him a good and faithful wife, we cannot but think that so auspicious a be-ginning is only the forerunner of a long and hap-py continuance, full of peace and prosperity to both husband and wife, and that when the end comes it will find them, as we sincerely hope, abundantly prepared to exchange the flecting joys of time for the never-ending joys of eternity. So mote it be,
