they purloined them. —A young man named Samuel Bridges, of Cambria borough, was accidentally shot on Monday evening last, and the probabilities are that he will not recover. He was walking down the Cambria side of the Conemaugh river when a bullet, which had been fired at a wild duck by a young man on the opposite shore, glanced from the water, and entering his right side, between the third and fourth ribs, evidently passed through his right lung and finally ledged in his chest, hear the spinal column. The Johnstown Tribune, from which we glean the above facts, says that young Bridges was shot in the right hand eleven months ago by a ball from a pistol accidentally discharged by one of his companions.

-The Johnstown Tribune gives the figures to show that up to last Tuesday 95,052 pounds of chestnuts had been shipped from the Rail Road station at that place to Pitts burgh, Chicago and other points. Estimating the nuts at 50 pounds to the bushel, the amount shipped would be 1,900 bushels, with a fair prospect of being increased to three thousand bushels before the close of the season. One storekeeper in Geistown, a neighboring village, has sent away 500 bushels, and expects to ship as many more. Joe Weiser, of this place, has shipped 160 bushels, and the cry is still they come. The total amount of chestnuts shipped from Ebensburg has been about 250 bushels. This will long be remembered as the greatest chestnut year ever known.

The fire originated from a defective flue, the primary cause of so many conflagrations, but what the loss amounts to or whether there was any insurance on the property we are not able to state.

The lightning accompanying the heavy clap of thunder which startled our citizens on Sunday afternoon last, played and havoc in a house on Sixteenth avenue, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets, occupied by Mr. Thomas Henshey and owned by Mr. Frank McGirk. A LONG HUNT FOR HOOP POLES. - On Monday of last week a man named John Butterfield, who had been engaged for some time in the lime-burning business in Indiana county, but who more recently was emtownship, in getting out hoop poles, hired a little roan mare, buggy and harness from Messrs. L. & S. W. Davis, liverymen of this place, with the avowed intention of going to Laurel Hill to hint hoop poles, and promis-ing to return not later than Wednesday vening of the same week. Failing to put n an appearance here at the appointed time, Messrs. Davis began to get upensy about their missing property, and consequently on the following day Capt, S. M. Davis went to see Mr. Roed, when he learned that Butterfield had proceeded only a few miles on his alleged journey when his brother got into the buggy with him and the two proceeded in an entirely different direction from the one indicated. The Captain also ascertained that the Butterfields, when at home, resided in Everett, Bedford county, and that John had worked for a time at Mausfield, Ohio, and subsequently at Brockville, in this State. Returning home he telegraphed to all those points, and soon had toe satisfaction of receiving a reply from one of his military friends over there that the parties in question had made their appearance in Bedford on Wednesday afternoon, where they had hired another horse from a gentleman named Cessua, and were then on their way to Camberland, Md., having disposed in some way of the buggy and harness. Acting on this clue, Captain Davis left here on Saturday morning for Bedford, where he was not long in finding his harness and ascertaining that the buggy was at a point some fifteen miles distant from that place, where he has probably ere this regained possession of it. Meantime Mr. Cessna, having heard of the escaped of the hoop polers from this vicinity, started in quest of the guilty pair, whom he succeeded in overtaking and arresting with the aid of Constable White, of Cumberland, not far from Morgantownship, West Vir ginia. The stolen animals were not, however, in their possession at the time, they having been left at Tunnelton, about seventy miles west of Cumberland, from whence they have no doubt ere this been brought back to Bedford, parties having been sent after them for trial purpose. The two pris-oners are now in jail at the latter place, but whether they will be tried there first and here afterwards, or here first and there after-it struck an old lady on the shoulder, but without serious injury to her. A poblion of the panied by Father Edmund and his venerable assistant, "Bishop" Glasser, repaired to the residence of the bride's parents, where a sumptuous feast was in waiting, and to which all present did ample justice. That our young friend has chosen wisely and well in selecting one so fair and amiable for his better half no one will deny, and that it is a match eminently fit to have been made will be as freely admitted by all. May their lives be long, their happiness uninterrupted, and their share of this world's bleasings and benedictions all that their hearts could desire.

We had the pleasars of a visit on Friday last from two of your leading citizens, ex-Sheriff Blair and Judge Themas, who came well prepared with a good supply of provender, sarsaparilla, mineral water, and sleh, and fully equipped for catching cels catfish, etc., which they proceeded to do at Mellon's dam in company with Mr. Jacob Thomas and Dr. Fillsberry Kline, who are considered great experts at the business. After spending several hours and catching a goody number of fish, all but the Doctor returned to the residence of Mr. Jacob Thomas greatly elated with their success and well disposed to court the droway god for the balance of the night. I have said that all but the good natured disciple of Escapius returned to Mr. Thomas' domici, and he it is proper to say, was liberally supplied with mineral water, etc., and left behind to set the outlines for a big haul. After attending to this duty the Doctor concluded it would be a good idea to take a short map, and with this object in view proceeded to an old shingle shop near at hand and not far from the residence of Mr. Nagle, where he lay down on a lot of shavings, but had not been there very long when some huge white spectre caught him by the seat of his unmentionables and sought to dishedge him from his next. Yelling at the boot on succeded in arouning Mr. Nagle, who hastened to his rescue and was not long in d scovering that the dispenser of pills and paregoric had taken possession of the old sow's b Carrolltown, Oct. 20, 1871.—6t.
