Some Curious Squirrels -The St.

A Budget of Home-Made Christmas Cifts.

Who is it that every year invents. the thousand and one new and pretty things which hang on Christmas trees, and stuff the toes of Christmas stockings? Who is it that has so wise and watchful an eye for the capacities of little people, and the tastes of bigger ones, providing for each, planning for tiny purses with almost nothing in them, as well as for fat wallets stuffed with bank bills, and suggesting something which can be made accepted and enjoyed by everybody large and small all the wide world over? Wno can it be that possesses this inexhaustible fertility of invention and kindness of heart? No ordinary human being, you may be sure. Not Father Santa Claus! He has enough to do with distributing the presents after they are made; besides, fancy-work is not in a man's line,-not even a saint's! But what so likely as that he should have a mate, and that it is to her we are indebted for all this? What an immense work basket Mother Santa Claus' must be! What a glancing thimble and swift needle and thread ! Can't you imagine her throwing aside her seissors and spool bag to help the dear saint "tackle up" and load the sledge? And who knows but she sits behind as he drives over the roofs of the universe on the blessed eve, and holds the reins while Santa Claus dispenses to favored chimneys the innumerable pretty things which he and she have chuckled over together months before the rest of as knew any. thing about them?

This is not a fact. It can't be proved in any way, for none of, us knows anything about the Santa Clauses or their abode. There is no telegraphing. or writing to the selectmen of their town to inquire about them; they haven't even a post-office address. But admitting it to be a fiction, it is surely a pleasant one; so, as the children say, "Let's pray that it is true," and proceed to see what Mother Santa Claus has in her basket for us this year. We will first pull out some easy things for the benefit of little beginners who are not yet up to all the tricks of the needle; then some a little harder for the more advanced class; and, at bottom of all, big girls not afraid to dive will find plenty of elaborate designs suited to their taste and

The pieces should be held a little apart. Cut one end of the third piece into some ornamental shape, give it firmly to the back of one of the others, in and suspend it from the wall by a hole bored in the top. It will be found a useful thing to hold letters or pamphlets. A clever boy could make this much handsomer by cutting a pattern over the front, or an initial, or monogram, or name in the middle. The wood should be oiled or shellacked. SHOE CASES.

These cases are meant to take the place of paper when shoes are to be wrapped up to go in a trunk They are made of brown crash, bound with red worsted braid. One end is pointed so as to turn over and batton down, or the top has strings over the braid to tie the mouth up. There should be three or four made at a time, as each holds but one pair of shoes; and you will find that mamma or your unmarried aunts will like them very much.

A NEW KIND OF CHRISTMAS PIE.

Nothing can be droller than to hang up one's stockings, and nothing prettier or more full of meaning than a Christmas tree. But for some of you who may like to make a novelty in these time honored ways, we will just mention that it is good fun to make a Schnykill county, Pa.

The cutting should be done beforehand and hidden by the twirls of paper; but the carver can pretend to use his knife and fork, and the spooning out of the packages will insure a merry time for all at table. And one more suggestion. Little articles, wrapped in white paper, can be put inside cakes, baked and iced, and thus furnish another amusing surprise for the "pie" or the Christmas tree. - St. Nicholas.

Louis Republican says: "An odd squirrel was exposed for sale, with others sent to the St. Louis market, the oddity consisting in the fact that the animal was jet black below, while of the color of the ordinary fox squirrel upon the back and the upper half of the sides and tail. Mr. Bates, the taxidermist, an experienced naturalist, recognized the squirrel, not as a cross between the black and fox squirrels, as was supposed, but as a distinct variety found occasionally in Illinois, though, so far as known, a rarity in any local- WHOLESALE AND RETAIL ity. He has one single specimen in his collection. It was first classified as a distinct variety by the naturalist Prince Paul, of Wurtemberg, who visited this country some years ago, and whose reputation as a scientist is deservedly high. The animal is named the 'black bellied squirrel,' sciurus mel linagasper. If the black bellied squirrel was not so exceptional as was at first supposed, though, a squirrel shown by Mr. Bates certainly was. A few Sheet Iron Wares days ago an item appeared in the Alton newspapers to the effect that some sportsmen in the vicinity had shot a white squirrel, and this exquisite animal Mr. Bates has just stuffed and mounted. It is a large fox squirrel m everything except its color, which is as white as snow, flowing tail and all. The specimen is that of a perfect albino, and is something beautiful. A somewhat similar squirrel, and even more of an oddity in the collection, is a large fox squirrel, killed some time ago, the under part of which is of the ordinary color, while the back is a pure white. This specimen, though not so beautiful, is quite as much of an oddity as the JUJUBE PASTE - Girls who chew jujube paste ought to be able to tell where it comes from. The Semi-Tropical of Florida says: "The jujube tree is worthy of attention of all lovers of fancy trees and shrubs. It is both useful and ornamental, and cannot be surpassed for beauty. From the 1st of April until late in November or until frost, it is covered with a dense, deep green foliage, interspersed with its tiny ornamental fruit in all stages of growth. The fruit is speckled and reddish when ripe.
