-Rev. John N. McGonigle, recently of this place, met with a grand reception on Friday evening last, on the occasion of his permanent removal to Parker, Pa., for the purpose of assuming pastoral charge of the Presbyterian church in that city. The rereption took place at the parsonage, and as we learn from the Parker Dility, was an exceedingly pleasant and well managed affair, music, sociability and choice refreshments being the leading attractions of the occasion. After all was over at the house the entire party repaired to the church, where the choir sang a voluntary, which was followed by a neat speech—and the presentation of a purse containing $200 to the Rev. gentleman, who responded in fitting terms, the whole conpronounced by Rev. Lyttle.

-We congratulate Mr. Samuel A. Shoemaker, of Carroll township, on having secured a comfortable "posish" under the government, as clerk, we telieve, to his brotherin-law, Major Charles Wingard, who for many years has been a paymaster in the army, with his headquarters until recently in San Francisco, from whence he was transferred to Washington city, a severe injury he met with some time since having incapacitated him for the more ardnous outpost duties. The position secured by Mr. Shoemaker is said to be worth $1,200 per year, with boarding, clothing and a horse or two for his own exclusive use thrown in This is certainly a "fat take" for these woful hard times, and we know of none more deserving or more likely to merit the gift of long continuance than our friend Samuel, who, we are sure, will do full justice to his "Uncle Samuel" in the position assigned him. -The many friends in this locality of Rev. Father Christy, who won the title of "fighting chaplain" by having so faithfully and unselfishly served his country and his comrades during the late civil war, and who was born and reared in this county and resided for several years in Ebensburg, will be sorry to learn that he is lying very dangerously ill at his home in Columbus, Ohio, with little or no hope for his recovery. The old army disease with which he so long and patiently suffered while in our midst seems to be getting in its work at last, and if death has not already intervened the probabilities are that he will not long survive. At least such is our information, though we trust that a change for the better will speedily take place. His sister, Mrs. W. J. Bonuer, and other relatives from this county, have gone to what there is reason to fear is in reality his death-bed, though we are sure that no one who knows and appreciates him for his greatness of heart and his eloquence of tongue will fail to offer up a prayer for his estoration once more to rebust health.

-- While a young man named Frank Fagan, son of Mrs. Jeremiah Fagan, of the West Ward, was riding a colt belonging to Mr. Isaac Crawford, by whom he is employed, on last Sunday afternoon, and while near the residence of Mr. Morgan Hughes, on the stone pike, immediately west of town, he suddenly became aware of the fact that the saddle was turning under him, whereupon he threw his arms around the horse's neck in order to prevent himself from falling, when the animal took fright and ran up against a tree, the result of which was that young Fagan was pecipitated to the ground, fracturing his right leg between the knee and ankle and also splitting the bone in two places. When he fell his foot remained fast in the stirrup, but it is not true, as the Tri-bune has it, that he was dragged by the colt, the fact being that the girth broke and the saddle came off as a consequence. The injured lad was picked up by his mother, who ives near the scene, and a gentleman named James, by whom he was carried home, where his injuries were promptly attended to and he is now doing as well as could be

THE RAILROAD IN BRAZIL AND MESSRS. Henry Louier and Wm. Vannatt, the four P. & T. Collins. - The Philadelphia Times convicts sentenced in our county court on of Friday last furnishes the subjoined statement in reference to the preparatory steps taken by the Messrs. Collins for commencing work on their extensive railroad contract in Brazil. We will state here that the distance from Para, at the mouth of the Amazon, to the mouth of the Madeira, is about 900 miles, and the distance up that river to where the road will begin is about 480 miles, making almost 1,400 miles from the entrance of the Amazon into the Atlantic to the rapids or falls of the Madeira, around which the proposed railway of 180 miles will be constructed. The Times says:

Since the $6,000,000 contract for the construction of the Madeirs and Mamore railroad, a tion of the Madeira and Mamore railroad, a line which is to be one hundred and eighty miles long, running ground the rapids of the Madeira river, and thus opening, by way of that river and the Amazon, into which it emp-ties, a channel for trade with Bolivia, was awarded, about a month ago, to Messrs, P. & T. Collins, of this city, that firm has been almost constantly besieged by applicants for some-thing to do in the projected work, and has been obliged to furn away, on an average, about one obliged to turn away, on an average, about one hundred of them every day. The selection of the clerical and laboring forces is finished, and the Messrs, Collins have chartered the steam-ship Mercedita, by which to send down to the Falls of St. Anthony, which marks the northern end of the Madeira rapids, their employes and sufficient supplies for three months. The Mer-cedita is of 1,000 tons burthen and owned by Americans in New York. She is to arrive here from that city and begin loading on next Thurs-

In addition to six hundred tons of railroad iron and two hundred tons of toolsand general merchandise, including provisions for the em-ployes, the vessel is to take out an engineer corps of fifty-one men; fifty mechanics, mostly Philadelphians; one hundred axemen, or pio-neers, who are to erect the accessary buildings and clear the way for the progress of construc-tion, and who are from nearly all sections of the country, and one hundred colored men. selected which these are needed-making ties and assist-

The Mercedita is to take out also three bundred and fifty tons of coal, which will last her that is the reaches Para, on her return from the Falls of St. Anthony. Yesterday the Messra. Collins sent by a small steamer going to Brazil for coffee, three hundred and fifty tons of coal, to be left at Para and taken in by the Mercedita. for her homeward trip. Coal in Brazil costs $15 per too, but as it can be bought here for $2.50, and the freight on it to Para being only $5, the Messrs. Collins, by their arrangement, save $7.50 per ton. The Mercedita will sail on the 24th or 25th of this month, and her voyage is to last sixty days. She is to bring back to Philadelphia collee, rubber and other articles from Brazil, and sugar from the Island of St. Thomas. Each month until the railroad is completed a steamer will leave this city, taking to the scene steamer will leave this city, taking to the scene of operations supplies like those to go down by the Mercedita, and will bring back South American products. The second steamer is to start on the 15th of January, and Mr. Thomas Collins, one of the contracting firm, will go with ber. At the Falls of St. Anthony is a little town of about one hundred inhabitants, and there the headquarters of the new works are to be established in a commodious building, which is to be creeted and neatly fitted up as soon as possible after the arrival of the little army of constructors. The work of building the road will begin at the Falls and proceed up the river. At the headquarters will be stationed the superintendents, engineers, clerks, Brazilian customy officers and others, together with the of-ficers of a regiment of soldiers which is to be provided by Dom Pedro for the protection of the workmen in the event of interference by natives or others.

IMPORTANT DECREE.—The following is the full and corrected decree of the District in the matter of integrity like unto Casar's wife, Court of the United States, in the proceedings in bankruptcy against Wm. M. Lloyd to which we briefly referred two weeks ago. This decree has been appealed from by Lloyd, and has yet to be argued before the U.S. Circuit Court at Pittsburgh and a final decision rendered. Following is the decree:

Now, December 12, 1877, the Court having Now, becomeer is, is in the Court having computed the aggregate indebtedness of all amounts provable against the bankrupt, and the number of creditors and the number of petitioning creditors; and having computed the amount and value of debts held by the petitioning creditors, it is ascertained that the to tal amount of provable debts is $896,312.25; that the entire number of creditors having provable debts of over $250 in amount is seven hundred and eight; and of these three hundred have and eight; and of these three hundred have joined in the petition, and that they hold prov-able debts over two hundred and fifty dollars in value, to the amount of $316.193.29. One-fourth in number or one hundred and seventy-seven creditors holding one-third of the in-debtedness, or $2.8.70.75, are sufficient to constitute a legal quorum.

It is, therefore, adjudged and decided that a legal quorum of one-fourth in number of creditors, holding provable debts over two hundred and fifty dollars in value, to the amount of one-third of the affgregate indebtedness, provable against the bankrupt, have joined in the petition for his adjudication.

Exceptions tenth, eleventh, twelfth, twentysecond and twenty-third of the exceptions filed July 8, 1876, to the Register's original report, fluding a querum, are overruled. The other exceptions to said report, were disposed of in opinion filed February 21, 1877. Per curiam.

Winter makes very slow advance upon us this year, the good people of our section are busy preparing for the stege, and are determined that the fate of Plevna shall not overtake them, nor hunger even intrude itself into our midst, as is fully attested by the dying squeats of corn-fed porkers and the daily traffic in the raw material observable on our streets, as well as by numerous large strings of luszious sausages and vis-ious of huge buckwheat cakes. In fact, every-body appears to be burchering, but one of the toughest stories in the butchering line heard above suspicion, I give you the "facts" as re-lated to me. My fat and good natured informant avers that a gentleman living no: a thousand miles from the residence of Hon. J. J. Thomas called upon some of his neighbors last week to assist him in butchering. Some seven or eight willing hands, or rather seven or eight willing men with ready sands, responded to the call, and in a brief time the big porker was shot.

The aim not being fatal, a second and third shot was fired, when finally his hogship dropped. The hired man then proceeded to stab him four or five times, and all hands made ready for the scraping, when, lo and behold! Mr. Hog got up and started for a tayine in the neighborhood. The goodly company tollowed him and again the pooker was felled by a blow from an axe. To make sure of the work this time a second blow was given, and the party made ready to drag the hog to the scaiding tub. Before the rope could be attached to his swineship's leg. however, he managed to get on his feet once more and this time headed for the pig sty where he was once more overhauled and stunned by several well-directed blows, after which he was dragged off by the united efforts of the bired man, boy and neighbors, and finally scaled to death. Yours, &c. VERITY.

HYMENEAL. MILLS-TIBBOTT .- Married, at the Congre gational church in this place, on Thursday evening, Dec. 13, 1877, by Rev. T. R. Jones, Mr. DEAR FREEMAN-Instances of internal improvement are so rare in this locality that it is with pleasure I note the removal of our enterprising neighbors, the Gates Brothers, to their log job, which they now have under full headway, baving completed all the buildings necessary for an extensive log county well advantal for JOB MILLS, of Columbus, Ohio, and Miss Mary Tinbort, of Ebensburg. This is the first wedding, we believe, that has ever occurred in a Protestant church in this place, and as it is a new departure well worthy of commendation, the happy couple not only deservelto be congratulated on the joyful event ary for an extensive log camp, well adapted for winter operations. They have already employ-ed some twenty five hands, including Henry itself, but are well worthy of the highest praise for having set an example that should hence-forth be imitated by all who wish to assume the cares and enjoy the felicities of married life. Apart from all this, however, the thanks and good wishes of the editor and his family, as rather a rarity in lumber camps. Messrs, G. has also supplied their narder with the best the market affords and having secured the services of Mr. S. S. Rice as chief cook, their table will well as of the employes of the office, are du doubtiess be fit for a prince to dine at, while their bedding and other arrangements are equally admirable. Henry Shomo will take and bereby tendered to the wedded pair for a large and luscious cake, to which ample justice was done by all concerned. May peace and contentment abide with them for many long years to come, and when at last they are summoned from time to elernity, may they be fully prepared to exchange the fleeting joys of earth for the never-ending felicities of a better yers; and what they do not know about cutting and brighter world. So motest be
