In this connection we repeat what we said last week, that the nomination by the Democrats of William J. Baer, of Somerset, is the strongest one that could be made. In that event General Campbell's Congressional career would terminate on the 4th of next March.

The pending in-opinion of himself, expressed some days vestigation can only bring out some particulars ago in his remarks on the army bill, when for he said here were just two demagagues in the House-himself and Ben Butler.

The Democratic party of this S ate enters upon the present campaign under the leadership of a man who has never been defeated in a political contest in which he was a candidate. Mr. Dill has four times been a candidate for the suffrages of the people, and although on each occasion he was confronted by a decided Republican majority, he never failed to overcome it. In 1889 he first became a candidate for the lower branch of the Legislature in the disto a composed of the counties of Lycoming, Union and Snyder, which was Republican and was entitled to three members .-Geary's majority in the district over Packer was 364, but Mr. Dill was elected by a majority of 73, both his Democratic colleagues being defeated. At the next election (1870), he was chosen to the State Senate from the same coun ics by a majority of 1,119. In 1873 he was a candidate for re election in the district composed of the counties of Northumberland, Perry, Snyder and Union, and was elected by 23 votes, the same commies at the election one year before having given Hastranft a majority over Buckalew of 1,413. In 1876, the last time he ran for the Senate, his district embraced Northumberland, Union and Suyder, and his majority was 399, Hayes having a majurity over Tilden at the same election in the same counties of 484. The Democracy of the State will, therefore, march in solid that it will lead on to victory. There is vast amount of cheek to exhibit himself in magic in his name.

It warms his son, Don, that their will be a lion in his path ready to dispute his right of return to the United States Senate. The defeat of the Cameron clan in its Lancaster stronghold is significant, and its effect on other Republican counties in selecting candidates for the Legislature will be looked for with more than usual interest. This is the first time in the politics of the State that a member of the Louse of Cameron has ever submitted his claims to recognition and support to a direct vote of the Republican party, and it will now have full discretion Agnew's election may be regarded as reain deciding whether it will continue to ex- sonably certain, ist under the domination of the most cormanhood by crushing Cameronism under Secretary of Internal Affans : the Republican party of Pennsylvan and a factority.
